CHICAGO HAS BOMBITIS

Missiles Cause Great Rumpus

Raided and Suspects Held Following 'Threats' on Mayor's Home

Thompson Sees Joke, But War Declared to Rid City of Crime

By J. P. GALLAGHER
Chicago Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—It is dangerous to drop into Chicago even a glimpse of newspaper reading would convince him that every man in the city must be skulking from pillar to post with a bomb in his hand ready to throw it at the first person who tosses a bomb at him. And if he went to his bed and fiend it unguarded by a gun he probably would carry a machine gun to his room and stay there all night prepared to throw bombs in self-defense.

If one reads in the headlines about bombs, bombs. If the reader reads below the headlines he is apt to believe that the home of every prominent person in Chicago is under guard against these infernal engines. Naturally, he would think the natives are not at all alarmed, but they are sorely disturbed.

They know the bombs that cause all the rumpus and why?" they say, "one another. But there is no other forthcoming.

BOMBS LAST WEDNESDAY

The bombings began last Wednesday night, when explosive missiles were thrown at the homes of City Treasurer Fitzmorris and Dr. W. H. Thompson, personal and political friends of Mayor Thompson. Some damage was done in each instance, but no one was hurt.

Chicago, used to reading daily stories in the local papers about bombings, have learned to attribute the reasons for their being thrown, which are:

Attempts by officials who have incurred the enmity by prosecuting gangsters.

Labor disturbances, especially the organization of new "unions" for the purpose of shakedown.

Quarrels among gamblers.

Feuds between gamblers and their official protectors.

Disputes over gambling paraphernalia.

Disputes over the payment of graft for beer-running and other privileges.

Misunderstanding between vice lords and their political friends.

REWARD OFFERED

Following the explosions at the homes of Controller Fitzmorris and Dr. Thompson, the newspapers supporting the administration, made much ado about it, as the others did not. The mayor himself promptly declared war on gunmen and "racketeers" and offered $1000 reward to the police to run down the guilty ones. One newspaper offered $1000 reward for the arrest and conviction of the culprits. Not to be outdone, the Chief of Police, Morgan Collins, however, were made under circumstances following asserted threats were made to bomb the Mayor's home in the Barry Apartments, 3100 Lake Shore Drive. That brought action with a great show of machine guns, police rounded up a score or more of undesirables in two rooming houses and announced the "bomb plot" had been raided.

Detectives visited a saloon in the same flat (apartment where beer

JACK FROST NIPS CROP IN FLORIDA

Low Marks of 18 and 20 Deg. Reported in Region Around Miami

MIAMI (Fla.) Jan. 29. (AP)—With unofficial temperatures of 18 and 20 deg. reported from several points in the Everglades last night, South Florida today was checking up damage to tender crops. No such low marks had been anticipated, though frost was predicted.

Broward county, north of here, was unofficially reported to have suffered truck-crop losses from 30 per cent upward.

No citrus damage was reported.

The Pennsylvania Sugar Company plantation near Miami, largest truck growers in South Florida, declined to estimate damage, but it was said unofficially that destruction of their more tender crops was very heavy.

The 18-deg. minimum was recorded there.

Temperatures within the city proper dropped to the freezing point, with thin ice in all but the central downtown district.

NEW YORK CLEANS UP FOR ANOTHER STORM

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—With 12,000 snow shovelers and all available apparatus, 756 pieces, at work clearing away the two and one-half inches of snow that had fallen here on Saturday and this morning, New York City's street-cleaning department reported today that rapid progress had been made. At the snow removal bureau it was announced that the work was being rushed as a result of a forecast of more snow tomorrow.

Two deaths were attributed to the storm. Maurice Diesmer died from heart disease when he started to clean snow from in front of his home. The body of John Johnson, a negro, was found in a pile of snow in a vacant lot. According to the medical examiner the man had been frozen to death.

Vibrating Reed Guides Planes on Air Routes

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—New means of guiding airplanes in fixed paths by use of radio beacons has been devised, engineers of the American Transport Company announced today. A small vibrating reed mounted on a dial, similar to a small pressure gauge, is used as the guide, they said. The reed, sensitive to radio signals, vibrates on a neutral line when the plane is on the correct course, and to the right or left of the line if it swerves.

Experiments were carried on over the National Air Transport line between New York and Chicago.

Two in Rail Car Frozen to Death

LARAMIE (Wyo.) Jan. 29. (AP)—The frozen bodies of a white man and a negro were found in a refrigerator car in the Union Pacific yards here today.

The one was identified by a life-insurance policy in the pocket of the coat, payable to Mrs. Nellie R. Wimmer, Oelwein, Iowa. The policy had been taken out by Herbert W. Wimmer, 29 years of age.

CHINESE HEADS UNIVERSITY

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—Ch'en Yu-Gwan of Nanking, China, has been elected president of the University of Nanking, succeeding Dr. Arthur J. Bowen, the China Union Universities announced today.

Steamer Sends Appeal for Aid

NORFOLK (Va.) Jan. 29. (AP)—Wireless reports received here tonight say the Norwegian steamer Arica is "out of command" and her steering "chains" are broken.

She is unable to make any progress and asks immediate assistance. The Arica formerly was the Norwegian steamer Jessie, her name having been changed only recently.

MARINE UNIT ADVANCES

Seizure of Villages Forces Sandino Into Region Devoid of Food

Majority of Followers Quit After Disastrous Air Raid at El Chipote

MANAGUA (Nicaragua) Jan. 29. (AP) Marine Corps reinforcements advancing from the town of Leon to the Department of Nueva Segovia today reported they were making rapid progress and meeting no opposition. They entered Nueva Segovia today.

The good condition of the marines made the march with pack trains comparatively easy. The columns will reach Ocotal in a few days and use the town as a base and regimental headquarters.

An airplane patrol returning this afternoon from a flight over the Quilali region reported everything quiet with no signs of the presence of the rebels. Maj. Archibald Young, in command of the Marine Corps column which took El Chipote Mountain, is well garrisoned there and reported to the aviators there had been no activity in that section by the forces of Augustino Sandino.

DEFEAT DECISIVE

While no definite details had been received regarding results of the attack at El Chipote when Maj. Ross E. Rowell, with a squadron of aviators made the fiercest aerial attack on Sandino since the arrival of marine forces, reports from several districts in Nueva Segovia say that Sandino was badly defeated and his followers retired in disorder.

So bad was Sandino's defeat that a majority of his followers deserted him, according to statements made by Nicaraguans arriving from Condega, Department of Estell. Small groups of Sandino's men are traveling southward, anxious to get away from Nueva Segovia, it is said.

BEING STARVED OUT

One band recently passed through Condega coming from San Juan de Limay, another group arrived at Guagaica immediately disbanding in Yaluca and Guayucula.

A prominent Nicaraguan from Nueva Segovia stated that Col. Mason Gulick's plan of seizing the larger villages, thereby depriving Sandino of food supplies, had forced the rebel general toward El Chipote, a barren and desolate mountain region, where there was no food. This resulted in the breaking up of his large force.

Marines who have arrived in Nicaragua during the last two weeks are beginning to reach the Nueva Segovia section and are replacing marines who have been on duty there the last seven months.

Irish Discover Plot Aimed at James McNeill

LONDON, Jan. 25. (AP)—The Daily Mail says the Irish Free State government has discovered a plot against James McNeill, successor to Timothy Healy as Governor-General of the Free State, and consequently when he crosses to Ireland from England, where he has acted as High Commissioner from the Free State since 1923, he will be accompanied by an armed guard.

Provisional arrangements had been made for McNeill to go to Ireland tomorrow, but it is not known tonight just when he will depart.

The paper recalls recent extremist activities such as the attack on Warden Grace of Mountjoy prison and the assistance given by two armed men to a prisoner who escaped from the Dublin Military Hospital.

Detective Sean Harling was going home last night on a dark street when eight shots were fired at him by two men. One of the men fell dead from a bullet in the head.

Donnellan Off on Chile Flight

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. (AP) — Blazing the trail for commercial aviation, between the United States and South American countries, Capt. Joseph Donnellan, formerly with the British Royal Flying Corps, hopped off today in his plane I Will, on his good-will tour of South and Central American countries.

The 16,000-mile trip to Santiago, Chile, and return will be made in hops of approximately 500 miles or more daily, during daylight hours.

Backers of the flight hope to demonstrate the safety and feasibility of an air line by the use of a small plane at comparatively little cost. A rifle, six days' food rations, water, parachute, maps, consular letters, ninety-nine gallons of gasoline, and seven quarts of oil comprised the load of the small Curtiss-motored monoplane.

Hugh Jennings Dangerously Ill

SCRANTON (Pa.) Jan. 29. (AP)—Hugh A. Jennings, one-time manager of the Detroit Tigers and later assistant manager of the New York Giants, is dangerously ill at his home here, it was announced in a bulletin issued by four physicians tonight. He is suffering from meningitis.

He has been unconscious since late today.

DOUGLAS A. FISKE DIES

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 29. (AP)—Douglas A. Fiske, 61 years of age, chairman of the board of the Northwestern Terminal Company, died Saturday night in Tucson, Ariz. He was president of the Morris Plan Company, and director of the Wells-Dickey Company, First Minneapolis Trust Company and the Minneapolis Steel and Machinery Company.

ADDED BIBLE PROOF FOUND

Evidence Discovered of Mention of Jesus Made in Original Account by Josephus

[Copyright, 1928, by New York Times.]

PARIS, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Among Cardinal Mazarin's collection of Hebrew manuscripts which are kept in the French National Library, which is itself an extension of the Cardinal's old palace, Dr. Robert Eisler of Vienna asserts he has found new evidence that in the original versions of Josephus's history dealing with the fall of Jerusalem, reference was made to Jesus Christ as a historic character.

Dr. Eisler's account of his find was read at last week's meeting of the French Academy of Inscriptions and was placed on record.

For several years Dr. Eisler has been engaged in investigating an old Slavonic translation of Josephus's history, and in an eighth-century Hebrew text he found an indication of the documents in which now, he asserts, he has discovered the passage, the existence of which has been debated ever since the sixteenth century.

WHAT HE FOUND

One reason, Dr. Eisler says, why it may have been overlooked, is that it occurs in the chapter which tells the story of the mad Emperor Caligula, and not in the chapter on Tiberius and Pilate. The passage tells how the Jews stubbornly refused to obey Caligula's order that his statue be worshiped throughout the whole world, and in the Paris manuscript this sentence follows:

"In these days there were great quarrels and many fights in Judea between the Pharisees and the lawless ones of our nation who inclined toward Jesus, the son of Pandera the Nazarene."

Here there appears to be something omitted. Then this follows:

"Elizer, who did many outrages in Israel until the Pharisees got the better of him."

Dr. Eisler holds that the discovery of this manuscript proves that other passages about Jesus, which were considered offensive, were obliterated by the medieval church or, in some cases, perhaps, by the Jews themselves, for fear of getting into trouble should such manuscripts be found in their possession.

ERASE HINTED

If the followers of Jesus are mentioned as having been given trouble under Caligula, it is self-evident, says Dr. Eisler, that the previous passage about the appearance and death of Jesus under Tiberius and Pilate must have been contained in a previous chapter and been completely destroyed.

In the twelfth century evidence of such erasure was recorded by Abbot Robert of Chick Lade, and in 1541 Cardinal Baronius, the famous Catholic historian, found to his horror, as he says, that erasures had occurred in the Jewish manuscripts of Josephus.

NORTHERN COUNTIES DRENCHED

Clear Sky Predicted for Today Following Rain as Far South as Tehachapi

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—The drenching San Francisco got Saturday night came from the rim of the severe storm that centered off the Oregon coast, some 400 miles west of Marshfield, according to the Weather Bureau.

The fact that the center of the storm is moving northeastward will mean clearing skies for Central and Northern California tomorrow, the forecaster said, except for precipitation along the north coast.

The rainfall in inches reported at 5 p.m. today was as follows:

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—The Coast Guard Patrol boat CG 107 has been reported missing since Saturday, it was learned today.

The CG 107, understood to have been last reported operating off Cape May, N. J., is said to be of the seventy-five-foot type, carrying a crew of eight.

FRENCH PAIR GREETED IN MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29. (AP)—The French aviators, Dieduonne Costes and Joseph Lebrix, successfully accomplished another leg in their flight from Paris to New York by way of the South Atlantic and Central America when they landed at Valbuena Field at 2:26 o'clock this afternoon. President Calles and members of his Cabinet and American Ambassador Morrow with his staff greeted the flyers in the presence of a large and enthusiastic crowd.

The French flyers landed opposite the presidential group, which included President Calles, Ambassador Morrow, the French legation staff, and members of the Mexican Cabinet.

Seated on top of the back of the rear seat of an automobile, the flyers began a triumphal parade from the flying field into the capital. The procession moved along several miles of business and residential streets to the French legation, cheered all the way by crowds shouting "viva France! Viva heroes! Viva the great French aviators!"

The flyers were showered with confetti, flowers and colored tape.

Costes and Lebrix plan to make a nonstop flight to New Orleans when they leave here. They have no intention of attempting a New York-to-Paris flight, they said, but hope some day to fly from Paris to New York and from France to Japan.

When they take off for the United States they may have some champagne aboard, according to Lebrix. Reminded that they "might have to drink it in the air," Lebrix said with a grin: "Well, that won't be hard to do."

"I know he gets lonesome

—but there are no neighbor's children to play with."

"That's so. Then why not get him a pet of some kind? Think he'd like to romp around with a puppy?"

"Yes—yes, he'd enjoy that! But where could I get a nice friendly dog?"

"Well, I'd try the want ads first. You know, The Times has a regular department for pets."

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Jan. 29. [To the Editor of The Times:] Somebody at the Havana conference Saturday brought up the question of revolutions, what, when, and how to treat 'em. The delegates want to vote to make revolutions unlawful. That is, while they are in. But when they are out, have them declared legal again.

It's rather embarrassing for all the delegates are there by grace of a revolution at some time. Even Mr. Hughes. But he settled the argument in his usual tactful way by announcing, "We are not here to deal in revolutions. What kind of a conference do you think this is?"

Meeting Debates War Code

Pan-American Congress Will Define Nations' Rights of Intervention

Maritime Neutrality Law to Be Formulated for Ships of Belligerents

HAVANA, Jan. 29. (AP)—Two of the most vital subjects facing the Pan-American Congress—definition of the fundamental basis of international law, including the right of intervention of states in the internal affairs of others, and the laws defining the rights and duties of wartime maritime neutrality—will come up for discussion in committee next Tuesday.

Dr. Gustavo Guerrero of Salvador, chairman of the committee on public international law, announced at that time his committee will hear reports prepared on the two subjects by Dr. Victor Maurtua of Havana and Dr. Juan Jose Amesaga of Uruguay, respectively.

Dr. Amesaga's report, it is understood, moves that the recommendations prepared on the subject of maritime neutrality by the Rio de Janeiro jurists' conference last April be adopted without amendment.

URGES LEEWAY

Mr. Maurtua, on the other hand, it is said, will urge that the jurists' recommendations be modified to the extent that the Rio de Janeiro conclusions on the subject he treats be made the subject of a declaration of principles instead of being incorporated in a convention. Also, instead of unqualifiedly condemning intervention in the internal affairs of another state, Mr. Maurtua is said to deplore this action as a general rule, coupled with the recognition that occasions may rise when intervention can be justified.

The provisions in the draft treaty recommended for maritime neutrality are sweeping and designed to alter profoundly conditions on the high seas during war time, besides being aimed at rendering the prosecution of hostilities as difficult as possible.

NEUTRALITY DUTY

The first article says that other states in case of hostilities "shall consider it a duty to remain neutral," although ready to offer good offices. While the right of search on high seas is sanctioned, the proviso is included that ships cannot be attacked unless after being stopped they fail to observe instructions given. Submarines are specifically mentioned as included in this article.

The draft says that only state acts of assistance to belligerents shall be a violation of neutrality, leaving to private individuals freedom in their commercial activities.

It specifies, however, that neutral states are obliged to refuse belligerents credits or loans and are forbidden to deliver to the belligerents, directly or indirectly, war materials. Despite this last provision a further article states that a neutral state is "not bound . . . to prevent in its ports or waters the export or transit of war material."

ETIQUETTE FOR MARS

Numerous and detailed provisions are included in the draft concerning the activities allowed to belligerent ships in neutral waters. They may not use these as bases of naval operations nor remain in a neutral harbor more than twenty-four hours; not more than three belligerent warships may crowd into one neutral harbor at one time, nor may a man-of-war weigh anchor from a non-belligerent port less than twenty-four hours after an enemy has left it.

The Pan-American Union in Washington would be charged under the draft convention with the appointment "in agreement with the governments interested . . . of commissions to observe how the belligerents conform to the laws and usages of war."

AFFAIRS IN MEXICO CALL MORROW BACK

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—American Ambassador Morrow arrived here this morning from Havana at 11:10 after having been tossed about thirty-six hours on the Gulf of Mexico. He said he felt excellent and looked the part.

Lindbergh Lives to Tell Story

Darkness Threatens as He Flies Over Wild Seacoast Long Time Overdue

Col. Charles A. Lindbergh reached Maracay, Venezuela, several hours overdue last night, having required eleven hours for a trip of 650 miles, from Bogota, Colombia, which ordinarily he could make in seven hours or less. A battle with thick clouds over the mountains, heavy headwinds over trackless plains and fog near his destination is described by Col. Lindbergh in the following narrative of his flight, written for publication in The Times exclusively in Southern California.

By Col. Charles A. Lindbergh

[Copyright, 1928, in United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Central and South America, Europe and the British Dominions, by the New York Times Company. All rights reserved.]

MARACAY (Venezuela) Jan. 29. (Exclusive) — I left Bogota at 6:40 a.m. and headed directly for Caracas. The sky was clear at Bogota, but many of the mountains were covered with clouds.

I did not find it necessary to detour for the first 125 miles. During this time there were numerous places where a landing would have been possible, although the fields were rather small for such high altitudes.

The sky became more and more overcast and shortly I found it necessary to reverse my course, as the path which I was following at approximately 10,500 feet narrowed and ended against the mountainside.

I spiraled around for about twenty minutes before finding a clear spot above the ridge which I barely passed over at 12,000 feet.

ANOTHER DETOUR

At this point the mountainous country ended. The cloud level lowered to about 8000 feet, and as far as I could see the ground was covered with cumulus clouds up to about 7000 feet. Near to the mountains there was a hole through which I descended to 4000 feet and again renewed my course for Caracas.

I had to detour again within a few miles, due to a local storm which lowered visibility practically to the ground.

When I again took up my course I was over the open plains or llanos where a landing might be made at practically any point I wished.

The altitude of the plains was about 1000 feet above sea level. They were covered with thousands of cattle.

At this point I was flying at a very low altitude, sometimes fifty feet from the ground. It immediately became apparent that I was bucking an unusually strong head wind, flying probably between forty and fifty miles an hour.

ANTELOPES SEEN

At short intervals the llanos were crossed by small streams which often formed shallow lakes.

I noticed that in addition to the cattle there apparently were numerous heads of hogs around the water. Due to the peculiar appearance of the animals, I circled and passed about ten feet above them.

They turned out to be peccaries, and as I passed they dashed into the water and swam very quickly to the opposite bank. As I was completing the circle two antelopes bounded out of the grass and attempted to outdistance my plane.

The entire llano for 200 or 300 miles along my course and as far as I could see was covered with these animals.

It was very seldom, in fact, that I could not see a herd of peccaries or a dozen or more antelope, in addition to wild birds of a larger and different variety than I have previously seen in the tropics. A number of these were brilliant red, some of the larger ones a pink color, which I believed to be flamingoes, and still others were a brilliant green.

HUNTS FOR OPENING

There were no landmarks by which I could locate my position even approximately for 400 miles after I had left the mountains. Then a range of mountains appeared indistinctly on the western horizon, giving me a very approximate location of my position.

It would be necessary to cross the mountain before reaching Caracas, but as I approached closer to the city the range was covered with low

CHURCH IDEALIZES SPORTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—Symbolic of a relationship of sports to religion, a sports bay dedicated to the athletes of the world was assigned formally at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine today at an impressive ceremony conducted by Rt. Rev. William T. Manning, Bishop of the Episcopal diocese of New York. Dwight F. Davis, Secretary of War, was one of the speakers.

The $150,000 fund for the erection of the bay in the nave of the cathedral was presented to Bishop Manning by Julian S. Myrick, chairman of the sports and games committee, who explained that the money was obtained through leaders of sport, both through individual contributions and benefit matches and competitions.

In accepting the bay, Bishop Manning said in part: "Here in this sacred building which will be America's greatest house of worship we are giving recognition publicly and gladly to the place which belongs to sport in human life. This sports bay will stand as a noble and most striking symbol of the fact that sports and games have their true and important place in life and that they are pleasing and acceptable to God."

Secretary Davis stressed the development of fair play and of team work in sport and said that the outstanding feature of the World War was this same sort of team work.

"This bay will stand as a source of inspiration to our future generations," said Secretary Davis. "The time has passed when religion was universal and sport localised. Now sport has grown and expanded until it, too, has a universal appeal and with this acceleration of activity comes the need for the greater spiritual guidance. Today the prominent figures in sport have had thrust upon them responsibility heretofore unknown. They stand to our children in the roles of heroes. Theirs must be the example in order that the fire of idealism may never be dimmed. The influence of a sportsman like Charles Lindbergh upon our youth will be of untold benefit."

BOMBINGS STIR CHICAGO MAYOR

Thompson Orders Raid After He Gets Threat

Much Noise, Little Damage, Results So Far

ts served) and arrested ten persons, half of whom have criminal records.

Next the raiders, with machine and shotguns very much in evidence, went to the Cedar Hotel, where they seized some nitroglycerin, percussion caps, fuses, hammers and drills. Further search of the hotel resulted in the arrest of Charles Rogers for having a revolver, Allen Monan, an ex-convict, and Hazel Freeman, a piano player at a cabaret, and several other "suspects."

Police asserted tonight that the saloon raided today was the principal headquarters of a "bombing trust" and that arrangements to have a home blown up could be made there as easily as one would order a steak. Stench bombs, used chiefly in theaters, beauty shops and restaurants that ignored orders to "come across," could be had for as low as $1, and a bomber would place these bombs for as low as $35.

Black-powder bombs and nitroglycerine bombs, used to destroy homes, garages, factories and other "unfair" places, were placed and exploded for from $85 to $1,000, depending upon the nature of the work. If people were to be killed or maimed, the top price was demanded. If the home of a negro was to be bombed, the bombers frequently would do the job gratis, just for practice and the fun of the thing.

At the apartment-house where Mayor Thompson lives tenants were inclined to treat the asserted "bomb threats" as a practical joke. Mrs. Thompson herself (the Mayor lives almost exclusively at the Sherman Hotel) said she was not disturbed.

"Maybe it's just more talk than anything else," she said. "Everything has been dead quiet here today. I think most everybody has forgotten all about the incident."

Asked about the bombings, Mr. Fitzmorris said: "I do not know who would do a thing like that. I have absolutely no theory—the thing is a mystery to me. I will say that I have absolutely no affiliations with any gambling faction or gambling place. There are, of course, some gamblers who harbor a grudge against me since the days I was Chief of Police. But I don't know who would harbor a grudge deep enough to inspire a dastardly act like this one."

MEANT FOR ANOTHER

"I don't believe the bomb was intended for me at all," was the assertion of Dr. Reid. "I have my own opinion as to who it was meant for. I can't imagine why anyone should wish to perpetrate a thing of that sort against me."

Dr. Reid's theory was that the lethal missile was meant for his neighbor, John F. Allen, whose home had been bombed before. But Mr. Allen doesn't think so. He, it seems, had taken precautions against that.

"I moved to my present address after I had been bombed once," said Mr. Allen, "and I kept my address secret. My name isn't even in the telephone book. Nobody who might have wanted to bomb me could have known where I am living."

The bombings served to disturb seriously a program of Mayor Thompson to proclaim Chicago a crimeless city—well, anyway, almost crimeless.

Having won a point in his battle with King George by succeeding in removing from the office of superintendent of schools William McAndrew (through expiration of McAndrew's term) the Mayor had determined to look into this crime business.

JURY DISCUSSES CRIME

So Chicago as a crime center came before a jury of 250 lawyers, judges and business leaders at a meeting held the 19th inst. Their verdict was that Chicago was not guilty of any crime. It might be of interest to add here that a few hours before the aforementioned meeting was called, a triple slaying was discovered in Chicago Heights. The bodies of three men riddled with bullets were found by a roadside. The deaths were accepted as mysteries charged to "Scarface Al" Capone's lieutenants. However, as one wag said at the time: "Murder is not a crime in Chicago; it's a pastime." The meeting went on as though nothing had happened.

GUINEA PIG JURY TESTS APPLES

Vitamin Expert Making Study of Food Value in Cold Storage Fruit

LONDON, Jan. 29. (AP)—A jury of guinea pigs is investigating the vitamin properties of apples which have been sent from many parts of the world to the Lister Institute.

The apple ration of each guinea pig will be reduced to the minimum required to provide a certain amount of vitamines, and any difference will be noted in the value of apples which have been in cold storage and those which have not.

The experiments are under the direction of Dr. S. S. Zilva, vitamin expert, and are conducted for the empire marketing board.

Silas H. Strawn, president of the American Bar Association and organizer of the meeting, announced at the close of eight addresses by officials and others said to be in a position to know the facts, that the time had come for Chicagoans to be optimistic about their city, stop critical carping at officialdom and get busy to support those in office who are believed to be doing their duty.

There was one dissenting voice, however, in the verdict. That came from T. E. Donnelley, chairman of the Citizens' Committee, who said he could not believe that crime had lessened materially in Chicago, despite statistics, and that a long, hard fight must be begun against organized crime or else the criminals would run the country.

MEETING WATCHED

"I know from secret sources that criminals in Chicago tonight are watching this meeting," he said, "and wondering whether this is a beginning of a rating of citizens. If it ends in talk, praising this or that person, saying we are better than we are, we will be missing the greatest opportunity."

In rebuttal, Mr. Strawn said: "I do not believe crime here is greater than it is in any other city. In thirty-six years in Chicago I have never been held up, robbed or 'racketeered.' If a man attends to his own business in Chicago and leads a normal, decent life he is unlikely to get into difficulties."

So, as far as Big Bill's war was concerned, that settled it. There was no crime in Chicago, consequently there was no necessity to fight criminals. Mr. Thompson figuratively hung up his sword and sighed a sigh of relief.

And then the bombs were tossed. The war is on.

Women to Meet for Armament

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—On the heels of the women's conference which two weeks ago met in Washington in search of some means for preserving international peace other than by competitive armaments, and which voted national support of Secretary Kellogg's arbitration treaty proposals, a second women's conference will assemble here February 1 to 3 to support a program of arming for national defense.

The Women's Patriotic Conference on National Defense comprises thirty-four women's societies, among them the American Legion Auxiliary, the Daughters of the American Revolution, and a number of other ladies' auxiliaries of war-veteran societies. Their general subject of discussion will be the $740,000,000 naval construction program and the universal draft bill as a peace measure.

Countess to be Victim's Bride

[Copyright, 1928, by New York Times]

LONDON, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Countess De Janse, the tragic Countess of the sensational shooting affair at the Gare Du Nord in Paris last spring, will, according to the Evening News, shortly marry Raymond De Trafford, whom she shot.

The wedding, it is stated, will take place quietly in Paris.

HAVANA PLANS CURB ON MARS

Pan-American Congress Will Adopt Resolutions

Right of Intervention May Be Recognized

idge and myself that I had better return at once, more especially as I had left important matters here needing my attention," he said.

"I feel sure the Pan-American Congress at Havana will result in great benefit to international relations between all the American nations. At no previous conference have the nations been represented by such notable men, capable of seeing all questions in a fair light.

"In addition to disentangling many questions demanding international attention, I feel sure the conferences will result in greatly improved international understanding through just and considerate studying of all points of view bearing on the questions. The atmosphere of the Congress is decidedly friendly and this augurs well for the future of the nations of the American continents, for whom the time has come to work together for the general good of all."

Mr. Morrow praised the work being done by Charles Evans Hughes at the conference. The Ambassador would not say how long he would be here or affirm for a certainty whether he would return to Havana before the closing of the congress. It was understood this would depend on the rapidity with which Mr. Morrow handles the questions calling his return to Mexico City.

The American delegation to the congress was represented today as confident that the fundamental views of the Washington government concerning the scope and attributes of the Pan-American Union would be found acceptable by the majority of the other missions here and would not oblige the United States to change the conciliatory attitude it has maintained so far.

ATTITUDE INTIMATED

The American delegation was reported as having intimated to other delegations here that it could not agree under any conditions that the Pan-American Union be endowed with political powers, although it was ready to concur in any changes of administration of the body which appeared desirable to other American republics.

The presentation of this American attitude aroused no resentment among delegations here, especially since identical views are held by most of the major missions, which so far have expressed themselves publicly already. The United States, therefore, is viewed here as not even being obliged to place itself in conflict with other delegations on the matter since it can allow other representatives to open the question and it probably will limit itself to granting the weight of its approval to those favoring retention of a nonpolitical union.

READY TO AGREE

It was emphasized, however, that in the same spirit in which the American delegation accepted the Mexican proposal for special representation in Washington of American governments to the Pan-American Union, so it would concur in any other internal rearrangements of the union which appear advisable to a majority of the other constituent countries. While entertaining its own views on what constitutes the most efficient organization of the union, the American government is understood to believe that Pan-American good will can best be served by not opposing the wishes of the majority.

It was accordingly intimated today that the American delegation would not oppose indefinitely, if other countries desired them, the further Mexican proposals regarding the Pan-American Union, namely, the yearly rotation in alphabetical order of the offices of chairman of the governing board and of director-general to the countries represented.

DISAPPROVAL EXPRESSED

Disbelief in the wisdom of the new proposals, however, probably would be registered by the American delegation, it was said today, if their approval appeared likely. The Americans, it is asserted authoritatively, regarded the maintenance of a permanent director as essential to the continuity of the Pan-American Union's work. Delegates have said that should the director-generalship be a yearly rotated post, then it would be necessary to assign to him some permanent assistant who, under another name, would become the effective director-general. Many other delegates strongly oppose the annual rotation of the office.

The Nicaraguan proposal that the director-general be assisted by twenty-one secretaries, each one a director of the affairs of one particular republic, met with little enthusiasm in American circles since the danger of overbureaucratizing the union was pointed out. In addition, it was said, since the expense of the union is assessed on the basis of the population in each country, the United States would come to bear by far the greatest share of the additional cost of the new proposal.

Owing to these views, many delegations today looked on the Cuban proposal to endow the governing board of the union with conciliatory powers among nations in case of international disputes as virtually defeated despite the fact that the Cuban suggestion follows a plan outlined by the conference of jurists in Rio de Janeiro last April.

EUGENE B. BRADEN PASSES IN BAY CITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29. (AP)—Eugene Burford Braden, 68 years of age, chairman of the advisory board of the American Smelting and Refining Company and nationally known as a mining expert, died here today. Braden was appointed assayer in charge of the United States assay office at Helena, Mont., in 1894, but left the Federal service in 1899 when he was appointed Spokane (Wash.) agent for the American company. He came here in 1905 to take charge of the company's operations in California.

Milton's machine landed in a mudhole, but he and the autoists escaped injury.

ITALY GRADES HER EXILES

"Aristocracy" Among Prisoners Sentenced to Lipari; Others Scattered Over Neighboring Islands

BY VINCENT SHEEAN

PARIS, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—The most important of the island Siberias of Fascist Italy is the Isle of Lipari, where 400 politicians and journalists are exiled. Another hundred or more are scattered over the neighboring islands of Filicudi, Alicudi and Salina.

At the western end of Sicily, on the isles of Marettimo, Levanto and Favignana; south of Sicily, on Lampedusa, Linosa and Pautelleria; southwest of Sardinia, on San Antioco and San Pietro; north of Palermo, on the Isle of Ustica, and the Gulf of Gaeta, on the isles of Santo Stefano, Ventotene, Ponza and Palmarola, are the remainder of the unlucky ones.

In addition, the new Province of Muoro in Cardinia now has a colony of its own, made up of exiles from the region of Trieste and from the Tyrol. Those from Trieste are Slav nationalists who object to Italian rule, and those from the Tyrol are Germans who object to the rigid nationalization program of the Fascist government.

Lipari is the home, at present, of the aristocracy of the prisoners, who for reasons of popularity or influence must be better treated than those sent, for instance, to Ustica. There were about twenty priests on Lipari at one time, and there remain twelve, it is said. There are also a number of members of Parliament and political writers originally sympathetic to the Fascist movement, but who have turned against it. Such are the Republican Nationalist, Alfredo Morea, and Misuri and Vicini, members of Parliament.

Morea generally is said to have been exiled because of the enmity of a powerful Fascist general. Morea forced this general to resign in 1924 following the Matteotti case, by publishing authenticated letters from the general to his subordinates, in which they were commanded to have recourse to crimes of violence.

At Ustica are kept the most important of the Communist, anarchist and extreme Socialist leaders. Among these are Bordiga, head of the Italian Communist party; Cilia and Leonetti, best known of the Communist writers.

RELENTLESS REGIME

The isle of Ustica gets not only the most dangerous of the exiles, but has the most relentless of regimes. At Ustica the Black Shirts are supreme and ordinary police rule does not operate.

Gen. Bencivenga, member of Parliament and a war hero, was sent to Ustica a few weeks ago. He had been in disagreement with Mussolini. Another Italian celebrity on that tiny isle is the Socialist Deputy Todeschini, who criticised Count Volpi, Minister of Finance, in regard to his interest in the public utilities of Venice.

The Pelagian Archipelago (isles of Lampedusa, Linosa and Pautelleria) has received a number of Fascists. Among these are many from the De Vecchi group in Turin. They were friends and subordinates of Count De Vecchi now governor of Italian Somaliland, when he was Fascist dictator of Piedmont.

PATRIOTIC SLAYINGS

Some of the De Vecchi circle boast of four or five patriotic killings each, like the famous Dumini, who testified he had assassinated nine men for his country.

Another Fascist celebrity who now cools his heels in the Pelagian isles is Ugo Clerici, once director of Mussolini's private information service, who was put out of sight last fall on a charge of attempting to sell compromising documents to a foreign power.

In the isles of Santo Stefano, Ventotene, Jonza and Palmarola are kept persons accused of taking drugs and committing social offenses. Those do not figure on the official records as political prisoners.

Finally, at Marettimo, Levanto and Favignana are kept about fifty persons whose political crimes are not clearly defined. They are men of wealth. Among them is a multimillionaire, Commendatore Grandi of Turin, part of whose fortune has been confiscated.

SUNDAY-LAW RAID TRAPS LEGISLATOR

Maryland Legislation to Be Tested in Trial of Trio Attending Show

BALTIMORE, Jan. 29. (AP)—Accompanied by the hoots and jeers of nearly 2000 prospective patrons to a Sunday moving-picture show, police tonight arrested three persons, one of them a member of the Maryland Legislature, in Baltimore's attempt to test the Sunday blue law.

John G. Callan, a member of the House of Delegates in the State Legislature from Baltimore, who is president of the Liberty Defense League; a second member of the league, and a moving-picture operator were arrested and released for a hearing tomorrow.

The crowd had gathered in the theater and sponsors of the show attempted to outwit the letter of the law, which prohibits the selling of tickets, by selling programs for the show when police halted the performance.

The fight for Sunday pictures in Baltimore long has been a bone of contention in the Maryland Legislature—with Baltimore's entire delegation of thirty-six House members behind having the State blue law repealed—blocked in their attempts by delegates from the rural counties.

Callan, who told police in advance of the show, said he intends to appeal the case to the highest court in the State, in the hope that that body will declare the present law antiquated and not in conformity with modern customs and wishes of the voters.

LINDBERGH HAS FIGHT FOR LIFE

I followed the southern side of the mountain for more than two hours before finding an opening in the clouds.

When I reached the Caribbean I located my position as El Hapallo, slightly over 100 miles from Caracas.

It was then 4 o'clock. I was nearly 200 miles from the field of Maracay and sunset would come at approximately 6 o'clock.

It was doubtful whether or not I could land at Maracay if the mountains only a little south had been completely covered by clouds.

I flew the entire distance with wide-open throttle in order to arrive before dark, and at several times it appeared probable that a landing at some other point would be necessary.

FINALLY LANDS

The tide was high, making landing on the sea very difficult, and there were few possibilities of finding a field inland.

As I approached Caracas the coast was more rugged and the sand beach disappearing.

The railroad from Laguaira to Caracas was fog-covered, but by going a little farther along the coast and back-tracking I was able to reach the city and continue to Maracay, landing at sunset.

The greater part of my route from Gogota to Caracas was over territory which would be most advantageous for the establishment of air lines due to the numerous emergency fields.

The field at Maracay was crowded, but one of the best disciplined I have seen at any time.

Immediately after landing I was greeted by President Gomez, who presented me with the Order of the Commander of the Bust of the Liberator, which is an honor that I deeply appreciate.

FLYER APOLOGIZES TO WAITING PRESIDENT

MARACAY FLYING FIELD (Venezuela) Jan 29. (AP)—Through Charge D'Affaires Engert of the United States Legation, Col. Lindbergh on arrival here behind time because of fog, apologized to President Gomez for having kept him waiting at the flying field.

The President answered that his only wish was for the aviator to arrive safely, as he had done, in order that he might embrace him, as he did when he gave him a decoration.

An anxious crowd had waited at the field, fifty miles from the Venezuelan capital, more than two hours when he was reported over Higuerote, some distance west of Caracas. He next was seen over La Guaira, the port of Caracas, and followed the concrete road from the capital to the field.

Col. Lindbergh told the President his delay was caused by a fog after passing the town of Ortiz. He said he was lost until he found the coast again at Higuerote. He lost 100 miles in wasted travel. The trip from Bogota, approximately 650 miles in a direct line, required more than eleven hours.

Berkeley Co-ed Killed in Crash

OAKLAND, Jan. 29. (AP) — Lucile Jones, 18-year-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. Burton Jones of Vallejo, was killed, and Donald Cave, also of Vallejo, student at University of California, was injured slightly early today when the automobile in which they were riding near the city limits crashed down a 100-foot embankment.

The couple had been to a dance in Berkeley and were returning home. Cave said the road was slippery from rain and the view obscured by fog. He was thrown clear of the machine, but the girl fell directly in its path and it turned over on her. She was dead on arrival at a hospital. She was a student at a preparatory school in Berkeley.

Fire Destroys College Hall

VILLANOVA (Pa.) Jan. 29. (AP)—College Hall, one of the largest buildings of Villanova College, was destroyed, and the monastery adjoining was damaged tonight by fire that for a time threatened the destruction of the entire group of college buildings. Father Daniel Driscoll, procurator of the Order of St. Augustine, under the jurisdiction of which the college is conducted, estimated the loss at more than $2,000,000.

On the first and second floors of College Hall, a large four-story structure of gray granite, were nearly all the classrooms for the 1400 students at the institution. The two upper floors were used as dormitories and housed about 250 students. Most of the laboratories of the college also were in the building and much valuable equipment was destroyed.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR FARMERS

Washington Issues Annual Agricultural Report

Market Situation Expected to Equal This Winter's

Early Relief for California Grape Growers Seen

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—The agricultural industry as a whole "may anticipate a domestic market situation for the 1928 production at least equal to that of the present winter, with the possibility of some improvement," the Department of Agriculture said today in its annual farm outlook report.

After analyzing the demand for major crops, the foreign and domestic market, credit, labor and equipment, the report summarized the condition of the country as a whole with the statement that "some improvement is expected if farmers avoid expansion of production and continue their efforts to balance production with demand."

A better balance prevailed in 1927 between the different lines of agricultural products than in any other recent year, with the exception of feed crops in relation to live stock, the reports said, adding that expansion, particularly in cash crops is to be guarded against in order to further stabilize the industry and increase the 1928 income.

"Foreign demand for the agricultural products of 1928 probably will be no better than it was for those of 1927," the report said. "The purchasing power of foreign consumers seems likely to be no greater than during the present season and foreign competition likely is to be greater.

CREDITS SITUATION

"The agricultural credit situation in most sections of the country is improved somewhat over that of a year ago. The credit supply in financial centers continues abundant and rates on commercial loans and investments have shown further decline.

"Farm labor probably will be available in a slightly larger supply, at least during the first half of 1928. Farm wages and the prices of farm machinery are not likely to change and building materials when purchased in quantities probably will be lower than last year."

Summaries of the 1928 outlook for major crops and live stock follow:

"The world wheat crop probably again will be large if average or better than average yields are procured. Unless there is heavy winter killing in hard winter wheat areas any material increase in the acreage of hard red spring wheat in the United States will tend further to increase the world supply for market next fall and winter, and probably reduce returns to growers as compared to 1926 or 1927. The outlook for durum wheat is quite uncertain, but increased competition is in prospect.

OTHER GRAIN CROPS

"Oats are likely to meet a less favorable market in the next crop year since present prices are largely due to below-average yields for two years.

"Barley is unlikely to bring as high prices in 1928 as in 1927 when there was a shortage of feed grains in Europe.

"The continued increase in the numbers of hay-consuming animals, coupled with the unusually large carry-over in sight from the large 1927 crop, indicates that, even should the 1928 crop be below average, supplies of hay in 1928-29 probably will exceed no live-stock requirements.

"Corn acreage for the entire country in 1928 probably will show little change from last year if normal weather prevails at planting time. With average yields a 1928 crop about equal to 1927 may be expected and with the more normal geographic distribution of the crop prices are more likely to approach the average for the 1926 crop than those which have prevailed to date for the 1927 crop.

CATTLE AND COTTON

"Beef cattle for slaughter and as stockers and feeders seem reasonably certain to meet a market in 1928 that will average higher than in 1927, although the peak prices of that year may not be equalled. Market supplies of cattle in 1928 probably will be 6 to 10 per cent smaller than in 1927.

"When American cotton growers begin to market the 1928 crop it is probable that they will meet the relatively favorable condition of a smaller carryover than last year, and a demand situation about the same as for the 1927 crop. The danger of damage from boll weevil still exists in spite of the extremely low temperature in January and still looms as a material factor in determining yield per acre. Cotton growers have in their own control the determination of acreage and to the extent to which they increase their acreage over that planted in 1927 they will tend to reduce the total return from the 1928 crop.

"Hog prices seem likely to show some strengthening, but no very material change, beyond the usual seasonal fluctuations until next fall and winter when market supplies probably will be affected by the curtailed production resulting from the present unsatisfactory price.

"With wool stocks in this country light, and with a strong foreign market, the outlook for wool growers appears favorable, sheep numbers continue to increase and prospects indicate a lamb crop for 1928 somewhat larger than a year ago. Demand for lamb is not likely to improve sufficiently to offset the prospective increase in production.

DAIRY AND POULTRY

"Mohair producers have an immediate outlook much better than last year, but looking further ahead they should be careful not to expand production more rapidly than domestic requirements.

"The dairy industry appears to be in fully as strong a position as a year ago, with indications of only moderate expansion in production. Domestic demand likely is to be maintained during the coming year and consumption likely is to continue to increase faster than production so that the increasing foreign supplies will be further drawn upon to supplement domestic production.

"Poultry producers have favorable prospects of a higher level of prices for both dressed and live poultry at least during the first half of the year because of lighter supplies in storage and prospective favorable demand. The low storage holdings of eggs and the favorable outcome of the 1927 storage season with the number of layers practically unchanged should result in higher egg prices during the coming year.

FEED, GRAINS AND HAY

"About the same quantity of feed grains is available for the rest of the season as a year ago, stocks of legume and other hays are unusually large, but there is a slightly smaller supply of by-product feeds. Prices of by-product feeds and feed grains therefore probably will continue higher than a year ago but hay prices much lower.

"Present acreages of feed crops and hay exceed the needs of present aggregate live stock numbers. Adjustments of this unbalanced situation should be in the direction of fewer acres of feed crops rather than more live stock.

"Potato growers in all the northeastern and north central States appear to be planning substantial increases in their acreages. If these intentions are carried out and western growers do not decrease their acreages more than they now plan there is little probability of returns from potatoes equal to those procured during the last three years.

VEGETABLES AND FRUITS

"Cabbage acreage should be moderately reduced to restore the prices to a better level. There is no justification for continuing the present upward trend in acreage.

"Onion acreage in late or main-crop States, if reduced 10 per cent below the 1927 acreage would, with average yields, result in restoring the more favorable price level of that season. In the intermediate shipping States growers hardly would be justified in increasing their acreage above that planted in 1927.

"The bean crop of 1927 apparently is fully equal to domestic demands and the same acreage with an average yield would give a larger crop.

"Fruit production has reached a point where it is difficult to market these crops at satisfactory prices in years, when weather conditions are favorable for good yields. In view of the very heavy losses experienced when an excessive acreage of fruit trees is planted it is hoped that future plantings will be influenced more by the long-time prospects for the fruits in question and less by temporary conditions.

COAST GRAPE CROP

"Grape production likely is to continue heavy for several years. Early relief for recent unsatisfactory marketing conditions likely is to be accomplished in California only by an immediate appreciable reduction in acreage.

"In eastern and midwestern areas, increases in acreages do not seem justified.

"Strawberry growers face a market outlook slightly less favorable than that of a year ago. With average yields, the crop this year will be one of the largest on record.

"Cantaloupe acreage needs to be reduced sharply in the [illegible] ley of California, and [illegible] areas if last year's [illegible] prices are to be [illegible] ance of 1927 acreage is [illegible] shipping States, and [illegible] in late shipping States [illegible] able.

...ssed to be absolutely dry per... and to believe in the Eight... Amendment and the strict liv...ing up to the spirit of the law," said Mrs. Roosevelt, "but I disagree with those who consider this question the question of vital importance today, and I also think that there is a great deal of muddled thinking, especially among certain groups of women, as to the manner in which to obtain temperance and enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment."

Replying, Mrs. Nicholson said she regrets seeing Mrs. Roosevelt, whom she described as "one of the leading advocates," following the "reactionary Republicans in dragging in the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments."

"We favor broadly law enforcement with special emphasis on the Eighteenth Amendment because its violation is just now peculiarly flagrant," Mrs. Nicholson continued.

"Gov. Smith is opposed to the Eighteenth Amendment," she said, "and no denunciation by his adherents of asserted violations of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments will make respectable his contempt for the Eighteenth.

"The State and Federal courts will deal with violations of the Fourteenth and Fifteenth amendments. We shall deal with Gov. Smith and those who, like him, oppose national prohibition. We are convinced a dry President is desirable and that the wets have no monopoly in nominating candidates for the White House."

COMPLETE MERGER OF CANADA AND UNITED STATES PROPOSED

KETCHIKAN (Alaska), Jan. 29. (AP) The recent move in the British Columbia Parliament with a view toward the annexation of that part of Alaska known as the Panhandle, tonight drew a suggestion that the United States and Canada be united.

The Ketchikan Chronicle sent the following telegram to the Speaker of the British Columbia Provincial Parliament:

"Anent the motion of H. F. Kergin, Liberal member of that Province, to ask the Dominion to open negotiations with the United States with the view of Canada's acquiring the so-called Panhandle of Alaska, we, although as yet not officially represented in your august assembly, respectfully submit to its consideration the substitute motion to the effect that steps be taken toward the complete union of all of Canada and the United States.

"We are, geographically, racially and temperamentally, one people. Let us go all the way toward a complete union, which, in the course of human events, is ultimately inevitable."

Traffic Police to Quit Autos

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 29. (AP)—California's traffic officers by summer will all be back on motorcycles for patrol duty, except at night, under a program being urged by Frank G. Snook, chief of the Division of Motor Vehicles and head of the highway patrol forces.

Snook some time ago asked traffic captains to request their men to abandon automobiles in favor of motorcycles, and while the return has been general in the south it has been somewhat slower in the north due to unfavorable weather conditions.

Return to motorcycles is urged by Snook in the interests of greater efficiency and safety to the public. Officers pursuing speeders in automobiles are as great a traffic menace as are the speeders, Snook holds. On crowded highways motorcycles also can be handled easier than cars and therefore are more efficient, he adds.

At night and during bad weather the officers will not be held to motorcycles, because of reasons of common safety of the patrolmen.

COOLIDGE FACES HARDEST FIGHT

Soon to Match Foes Who Try to Discredit Him

Contest to Start When Ship Measure Comes Up

President Expected to Use Veto Rights Freely

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (Exclusive) President Coolidge now faces the most desperate fight with the Senate and the House he has ever undertaken. Since he has ceased to be a candidate for President he faces the incorrigibility of Insurgent Republicans and Democrats, who seek to discredit his administration as it goes out of office.

The contest will be reached in a few days and the first measure will come up next week, when the Senate votes on the Jones merchant marine bill, which calls for a unanimous vote of the entire Shipping Board before any vessels now operated by the United States Shipping Board can be sold. This would mean that one adverse vote would block all such sales and keep the government operating merchant vessels at a loss forever at the cost of all taxpayers of the nation.

It is believed that the administration forces can block such a measure in the House but the Senate, by a coalition of Democrats and insurgent Republicans, is almost certain now to pass this measure next week. This is but one struggle that the President must face with this session of Congress. There are three others equally as important to the average provider of Federal taxes from his own pocketbook.

VETO WOULD BLOCK BILL

In their importance they are tax reduction, tariff revision and flood control. In these the President likely is to yield to Congress in only one of the three major matters aside from the merchant marine. If the Senate and House both insist that the United States alone bear the burden of Mississippi watershed flood protection and permanent maintenance of river levees and flood diversions he may accept that as the will of the country on the argument that the Mississippi River and its tributaries drain more than half the States of the country and the lower Mississippi States should not be forced to bear added financial burdens in addition to the tremendous flood damage of last year's disaster.

But on merchant marine, tax reduction and farm relief the President is waiting to veto any measure that indicates a disregard of the policies recommended by him. He has insisted from the start that the government should get out of merchant marine operation and ownership as soon as possible. He is handicapped in his appointments on the Shipping Board by regional and party restrictions and if the Jones bill now before the Senate should become law no further elimination of Federal operation or ownership of the rapidly depreciating merchant fleet could be made without a unanimous vote of the entire membership of the Shipping Board. Republican Floor Leader Tilson, Chairman Woods of the Congressional Committee of the Republican party and a member of the powerful House Committee on Appropriations, will seek to defeat any move in the House to force the Jones bill onto the President for veto but if that should fail the President will promptly veto it and the measure could not pass either House by a two-thirds rule.

REVISION OF TARIFF

The same situation prevails largely with the proposed reduction in Federal income tax laws. The House already has passed a measure to reduce the taxes much more than the Treasury of the United States estimates an actual surplus. The Senate Finance Committee will hold the bill up as passed by the House until March 15 or later when the first returns of income taxes for the current year of 1927 are made. Efforts then will be made to reduce these reductions made by the House to well within the actual surplus shown by the Treasury after the March 15 returns are available.

Senator McMaster, an insurgent Republican of South Dakota, and Senator Simmons of North Carolina, leader of the southern Democrats, have announced they will attempt to place as an amendment on the Senate tax reduction bill to revise the tariff in some respects and add greatly to the tariff on corn, wheat, vegetable oils and other agricultural products. The measure to revise the tariff passed the Senate but was tabled by the House. If such an attempt as now planned to hitch tariff tinkering onto tax reduction should also pass the House there is no doubt in the minds of the Republican leaders that President Coolidge will veto it promptly. Again neither House could pass it for lack of a two-thirds vote.

The same is true of any farm relief legislation. No compromise measure eliminating the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen bill is probable and Congress may pass a measure much the same as the one already vetoed by President Coolidge in the last Congress. Again the House and Senate would be deadlocked for there are not enough votes in either body to pass such a bill by a two-thirds vote in both bodies and it takes that to override the wishes of the Chief Executive when he exercises his power of executive veto.

And there President Coolidge has the advantage. Every member of the House comes up this year for re-election as well as one-third of the entire membership of the Senate. And the President will not have to face the voters in 1928. Also most of the principal appropriations already are provided for by both the House and Senate.

DEMOCRATS IN BREAK OVER SHIP QUESTION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—A break in the Democratic ranks supporting the Jones shipping bill developed tonight when Senator Edwards, Democrat of New Jersey, announced his opposition to the measure on the ground that it "means not only a government-owned merchant marine, but also the paralyzing of private shipping initiative both as regards ship construction and ship operation." The Senate is expected to vote on the measure tomorrow.

"No private interests in this land," he said, "could have possibly made the farce of our merchant marine that the government has. I do not believe the lower House will accept any such Socialistic measure as the Jones bill, but if it does President Coolidge will surely veto it and I shall be happy to support him unflinchingly in his veto."

Another Democrat, Senator Copeland of New York, has been fighting the measure, but otherwise members of the minority party are reported to be generally in favor of it, along with a group of western Republicans led by Senator Jones of Washington, its author.

PARACHUTE JUMPER SAVED FROM SHARKS

MELBOURNE (Australia) Jan. 29. (AP)—Lieut. H. Quiller, noted parachute jumper who dropped from an airplane into the sea at Bondy Beach, Sydney, and then drifted out to sea, was rescued after floundering for more than an hour in shark-infested waters. Quiller was giving an exhibition before 12,000 spectators yesterday when his mishap occurred. A surf boat hurried out to rescue him, but could not locate him and it was feared for a time that he was lost. News of his rescue did not reach here until today.

GASOLINE TAX RETURNS HUGE

Three-Cent Levy in Quarter Nets $7,566,919

Year's Fuel Use More Than 1,000,000,000 Gallons

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 29. (AP)—California's gasoline taxes netted $24,443,137.25 during 1927 for highway construction, maintenance and reconstruction, the State Board of Equalization reported today. Returns for the last three months of the year, the first full quarter the 3-cent charge was effective, totaled $7,566,919.10. At the same time the equalization board estimated the 1928 revenues will aggregate more than $32,000,000.

Of the total just announced for the quarter $2,522,306.37 will be for new highways under the Breed bill. The 1927 revenue represented an increase of $6,506,040.93 over the 1926 income.

The tax announced by the equalization board represents the net amount collected, the oil companies being allowed a 1 per cent reduction for shrinkage.

TAX DISTRIBUTION

The tax just assessed will be apportioned to the State and counties late in May or early in June, after the tax for the first quarter of the present year is collected. One-third the total for the two quarters will go to the State for new construction under the terms of the Breed bill, one-third to the State for maintenance and construction and the balance to the counties, on the basis of their automobile registration, for highway upkeep.

The gasoline gallonage assessed by the board during the recent quarter represented an increase of 21,726,090 gallons over the 1926 quarter, a gain of 9.3 per cent. The quarterly total was 254,778,421 gallons, bringing the year's total of motor fuel consumed to 1,017,681,662 gallons. This is a gain of 12.3 per cent over the gallonage assessed for 1926.

CONSUMPTION GAINING

As the taxable gasoline assessed in 1926 represented a gain of 11 per cent over 1925, the equalization board reports gasoline consumption in California is continuing to gain at an ever-increasing rate.

The six months from April to September were the best months of the year, due to the fact that Californians took motor week-end and outing trips.

ALUMNI BEWAIL COLLEGE DECAY

Taft and Hadley Lament Yale's Deterioration

Lesser Interests Crowd Out Art of Letters

Over-Organization Declared Bane of College

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—The trend of collegiate activities today is viewed critically, if not with alarm, by such eminent Yale alumni as Chief Justice Taft and Dr. Arthur Twining Hadley.

Yale certainly is not what it used to be and the inference is plain that it used to be better than it is. The comments of Chief Justice Taft, Dr. Hadley and others upon extra-curriculum activities are featured in a supplement issued here by the Yale Daily News in celebration of its semicentennial anniversary.

Taft, who was graduated in 1878, says that in his undergraduate days the outstanding campus figures were the valedictorian and the salutatorian and that the winning of the oratorical prize was considered the greatest honor.

SCHOLARSHIP WANES

"The truth seems to be," he adds, "that the old importance of scholarship, measured by marks and industry, or of literary and oratorical excellence, measured by judgment of the faculty, has waned.

"Irregular genius and originality are desired and cherished while solid qualities developed by intellectual disciplines and achievement are thought humdrum. Yet I venture to think that the men who really establish themselves in public life and in their communities as men of a sense of responsibility, of substance, success and usefulness are still more likely to be found among the high-standing men and the men who devote themselves in college to study and real intellectual work, than among those who have been the athletes, the managers, the popular men or the so-called literary geniuses."

"OVERORGANIZED"

Dr. Hadley, '76, president-emeritus of Yale, says there was less organized rivalry in his days "when the competition for honors in writing was at its height." The winner of a first composition prize in sophomore year "became a man of mark."

"Today," he said, "we see organization everywhere, not only things of serious concern like the dramatic and musical clubs or the various college publications, but in work and play of every kind. I think the sharpest contrast of the Yale of today and the Yale of fifty years ago lies in this organization of every kind of human activity, play as well as work.

"It has somehow got beyond the point where it develops the individual and is beginning to suppress his individuality. The student goes to a football game and does not cheer when he wants to and because he wants to. He has to have organized cheer leaders because it is necessary to support the team. It is actually carried on to the detriment of self-reliance. Whether in this respect the Yale of today has gone too far, I leave it for the Yale of tomorrow to decide."

Prof. Chauncey Brewster Tinker says, in referring to the student's interest in work, that it is something far more significant and pervasive than an undergraduate's way of wasting his time. "The whole university is infected with it and if it flourishes," he says, referring to the evil of extra-curriculum activity, "it is because it is protective growth."

INFANT OFFICER IN REGIMENT

Prince Tonislav Enrolled in Crack Unit of Jugo-Slav Army

BELGRADE (Jugo-Slavia) Jan. 29. (AP)—By royal decree, the infant Prince Tonislav has been enrolled in the Second Battalion of the Sixth Regiment of the national army, known as "King Alexander's First Regiment." The War Ministry has ordered the baby to be saluted as an officer whenever and wherever he is met, and the Thirteenth Regiment of Infantry henceforth will bear the name "Prince Tonislav."

OLD FRIENDS JOURNEY TO IBANEZ BIER

Historic Valencia Banner to Be Novelist's Shroud Despite Scorn Shown

MENTONE (France) Jan. 29. (AP)—Vicente Blasco Ibanez, in his last will, refuses to allow his body to be taken to Spain. But Spain, or at least representatives of the section around his birthplace, Valencia, are coming to France to the funeral of the great novelist who died here yesterday.

"Dead or alive," says the will, "as long as the present regime exists in Spain I do not want to return there. My transfer to my home would be gloried in by my enemies."

Thousands of telegrams have been received here from Spain, most of them from the region of Valencia, saying that numerous delegations bearing ten splendid wreaths of flowers have started for Mentone.

A silk standard, a duplicate of the banner of El Cid Campeador, captured by citizens of Valencia from the Moors, will be the Spanish author's winding sheet. A delegation bearing the shroud is due in Mentone tomorrow.

At least 1000 persons viewed the body today.

The new consolidated company will be known as the Keith-Albee-Orpheum Corporation, incorporated in Delaware.

E. F. Albee, president of the B. F. Keith Corporation, will be president of the new company, Marcus Heiman, president of the Orpheum Circuit, will be executive vice-president, and John J. Murdock of the Keith organization also will serve as a vice-president.

BAR BODY ACTS TO END STRIKES

Lawyers Form Plan to Bridge Capital-Labor Gap

National Industrial Council Would Handle Rows

Public Hearing Will Be Held to Discuss Project

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—A platform intended to serve to bridge the gap between capital and labor, and so prevent wasteful interruption of industry, has been formulated by the committee on commerce of the American Bar Association after years of study.

This platform, in the form of a declaration of policy concerning the prevention and disposition of industrial controversies, will be offered for discussion and consideration at public hearings to be held by a subcommittee on commerce on February 16 and 18.

The hearings will be held in the New York Bar Association headquarters. Invitations have been sent to employers' associations, chambers of commerce and similar organizations, and to prominent individuals throughout the country, asking them to appear before the committee and present their views.

PEACEFUL ADJUSTMENT

Such peaceful adjustment and prevention would be promoted, under the terms of the declaration, by encouraging the making of voluntary contracts by organizations of employers and organizations of working men, for the adjustment of their relations through negotiation and arbitration, legal machinery being set up to enforce the contracts.

The declaration also provides for the establishment of a national industrial council to handle industrial disputes.

"From our contacts with business men of vision and grasp of affairs, as well as with the representatives of labor," a statement from the Bar Association's committee on commerce reads, "we have reason to believe that a declaration of policy along these lines offers a platform upon which business, management, organized labor and the public generally may be brought together."

SAYS BAR SHOULD ASSIST

The statement says that the committee for a number of years has been considering what legislation, if any, the association could present to Congress in aid of adjustment of industrial controversy.

"It is convinced," it continues, "that the time has come when the American Bar must make a distinctive contribution in this field of American law. The committee is conscious of the fact that before there can be law there must be policy. In order to find and establish a distinctively American policy in this important field, the committee has tried to ascertain the points upon which agreement might be reached and to adopt those points of agreement as a basis for a constructive recommendation."

W. O. JONES, LINCOLN EDITOR, DIES IN CHURCH

LINCOLN (Neb.) Jan. 29. (AP)—Will Owen Jones, 66 years of age, editor of the Nebraska State Journal, died suddenly of heart disease today while seated in the First Plymouth Congregational Church. Mr. Jones had been connected with the Journal for more than forty years. He leaves his widow and a daughter. He was one of a group of editors who last summer made a tour of Europe studying post-war conditions in a trip sponsored by the Carnegie Peace Foundation.

ERRORS LISTED IN INSANITY LAW

CINCINNATI, Jan. 29. (AP)—Errors in legal procedure are responsible for many miscarriages of justice under pleas of not guilty on grounds of insanity, Dr. Charles E. Kiely, professor of neurology of the University of Cincinnati, said in an address here tonight.

Dr. Kiely was a member of the commission that returned finding of sanity in the recent case of George Remus, former "king of bootleggers." Although the jury in Remus's trial for the slaying of his wife acquitted him on the ground of insanity, Remus is in a State asylum at Lima, O.

"Perhaps the greatest source of trouble," said Dr. Kiely, "is that the law gives the legal decision as to the existence of insanity, in other words the medical diagnosis, to a jury of laymen, an obvious error, which apparently is irremediable without an amendment to the existing constitution."

Calling present-day trials "contests between prosecutors and the defense counsel," Dr. Kiely said that because of the current procedure specialists receive only one side of the testimony and consequently cannot escape bias.

He described the hypothetical question to be the worst feature of the present trials in which insanity is pleaded.

For legal purposes the courts still are using definitions of insanity written in 1834, and a newer source of confusion results from the use by medical experts of facts too new and unsubstantiated to be ethical in so important a matter as a trial for murder, he said.

GERMANS MAKE LITHUANIA PACT

Arbitration Agreement Will Be Signed Soon

Waldemaras Promises to End Oppressive Rules

Kovno Government Seeks Large Loan in Berlin

[Copyright, 1928, by the Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Carrying out his own suggestion that a net of arbitration agreements should be stretched over the world to protect it from wars, Foreign Minister Stresemann has perfected an arbitration agreement with Premier Waldemaras of Lithuania. Slight difficulties in wording the agreement arose but the authorities are confident they will be able to sign it at Wilhelmstrasse.

Germany realizes fully Lithuania's weakness between Poland and Russia and the still greater weakness of Premier Waldemaras's position, who is able to hold power only because of a strong police force, which ruthlessly arrests his opponents. The Lithuanian police control even the secret clubs of schoolboys. Yesterday again the papers reported the arrest of ten 14-year-old boys charged with Communistic agitation and similar action is going on in other small Lithuanian towns.

Nevertheless Germany yielded to the Lithuanian dictator's plea for an agreement because it hopes an arbitration pact will reduce the nervousness in this chronically hectic district, but mostly because it is seeking the help of Germans in Memel and Lithuania proper. Premier Waldemaras admitted that the Lithuanian government of the former German province of Memel overstepped its power in deporting newspaper men, closing up newspaper offices and prohibiting the publication of reports of the Memel Diet, where the population was voicing its indignation over the unfair treatment to which it was subjected. Premier Waldemaras guaranteed personally to supervise the abolition of oppressive rules.

For this he hopes to obtain a large loan from Germany. He asserts that $30,000,000 would turn Lithuania into a going concern. Bankers called in for advice expressed their willingness to study Lithuania's assets after it signs the trade agreement with Germany. Details of the trade agreement will be worked out by special conferences in Berlin and Kovno.

GUARD PAMPHLET OUT

Publication Relates Experience of Troops in Disasters

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 29. (AP)—Publication of a pamphlet, "Employment of Troops of the California National Guard in Disaster," as a guide to the public, is announced by Adjt.-Gen. Mittelstaedt.

The pamphlet is based upon the experience of the Guard and Federal troops in disaster operation and recognizes the fact that organized aid is needed in nearly all disasters.

Gen. Mittelstaedt says that for many years the people of the United States have looked to the military forces for their first assistance in disaster. Early reports of catastrophies always show the military forces are on the scene furnishing protection and relief. These forces are particularly well fitted to render such service, he adds, since their training is designed to enable them to perform in time of excitement and little comfort amid scenes of destruction and death.

California, he points out, has ninety-two units located in thirty-two cities from Chico on the north to San Diego on the south which are always available in times of stress.

SNOWSTORM HALTS S-4 SALVAGE WORK

BOSTON, Jan. 29. (AP) — Salvage work on the sunken submarine S-4 off Provincetown was halted today by a heavy snowstorm, which blew in from the West in a fresh gale, the Boston navy yard was informed by radio. A message from Capt. Ernest J. King, who is in command of the salvage fleet, said that during the night the Bushnell submarine tender had lost one of her small boats when it sank after breaking loose from its fastenings.

ONE DEAD, SIX INJURED IN OHIO FACTORY FIRE

SALEM (O.) Jan. 29. (AP)—Peter Reinetz, 50 years of age, day watchman at the plant of the National Sanitary Company, was burned to death and six city and volunteer firemen were injured today when fire destroyed the plant, causing damage estimated at $500,000.

FORECASTS SMOKY PERIOD

Weather Bureau's Frost Service to Orchard Men Extended to Warn Housewives

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—The Weather Bureau's frost-forecasting service in the Pacific Coast fruit belt, which enables orchardists to light their oil heaters and save their crops, is being extended to "smoke" forecasting for the benefit of near-by cities.

With the demonstration in recent years of the amazing accuracy of the frost-forecasting service, which is maintained jointly by the Weather Bureau and the orchardists, confidence in the artificial heating of orchards has grown until now it is utilized on a tremendous scale.

In the citrus industry alone, which brings California $100,000,000 a year, 2,500,000 oil heaters are used to protect about 50,000 acres of orange and lemon trees. Although these heaters have been greatly improved in the last few years, they give off clouds of soot which, drifting into cities, cause anguish to housewives and financial loss to merchants.

SUBSTITUTE LACKING

Although thousands of suggestions have been made and numerous patents obtained, the records in the office of J. B. Kincer, chief of the division of agricultural meteorology of the Weather Bureau, show no satisfactory substitute for the oil heaters.

So the new smoke-forecasting service has been undertaken to make the best of what appears to be a necessary evil.

The frost and smoke forecasts are issued late in the day whenever dangerous temperatures are indicated and are distributed by telephone and radio in ample time to permit the orchardists to light their heaters. Eight experts are employed in this forecasting under the direction of F. D. Young, the meteorologist who began it single handed. They base their calculation on study of the regular daily weather map in conjunction with a hygrometric formula which takes into consideration local humidity and temperature conditions.

HIGH ACCURACY REPORTED

In one season, during which he issued ninety-six forecasts, Young has been within two degrees of accuracy 94 per cent of the time. Many of his warnings predicted low temperatures in terms of fractions—37½ deg., for instance — and sixty-eight of the ninety-six were precisely accurate, while fifteen others were less than 1 deg. away from the actual point at which the mercury stopped descending in the thermometer. His largest error in that year was 5 deg., and that is one incident in his life which he finds it hard to forget.

Most of the cold snaps which threaten the California fruit crop develop when an area of low pressure moves out of Arizona or Southern California and an area of high pressure from Nevada swings in. The frost forecasters remain in this region until the danger passes in February, and then they move north into the deciduous fruit section of Washington and Oregon.

Descendant of Steigel Passes

HARRISBURG (Pa.) Jan. 29. (AP)—Miss Annie L. Boyer, 82 years of age, oldest direct descendant of Baron Steigel of Revolutionary War days, died in a hospital here yesterday after a short illness.

Baron Steigel, a staunch supporter of Washington's army, turned his glass plant into a munitions factory and compiled a manual of arms, part of which is said to be still in use of the United States Army.

CHAMBERLIN LANDS AT RICHMOND FIELD

NEW FORESTS NOW ASSURED

State Movement Provides for Future Generations

Plantings Form Nucleus for Great Plantation System

Official Report Gives Data on Remarkable Progress

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 29. (AP)—California's reforestation movement is rapidly gaining impetus and at present has reached the point where the plantings form a nucleus for a great system of tree plantations, assuring the State of a forest heritage for future generations, M. B. Pratt, State forester, reported to Fred G. Stevenot, director of natural resources.

California, with the extensive reforestation additions in 1927, now has 53,377 acres of timber-growing on cutover and fire-ravaged lands. The year just closed marked the greatest progress in the movement since its inception, Pratt told Stevenot.

Private timber interests in Mendocino and Humboldt counties played a great part in the 1927 program, setting out 7616 acres. Since 1921 these companies have replanted 17,260 acres. The greater part of the plantings in these two counties last year were redwood seedlings, of which 7,322,494 have been set out to date in the northern area.

One hundred and seventy-three acres were added to the replanted area of Los Angeles county, bringing the total to 1573 acres, most of which has been set out in Coulter pine.

The State co-operated in the movement last year to the extent of sending out some 12,500 trees to farmers for woodlot and windbreak planting. These trees were shipped from the State's nursery at Davis.

TILSON TO FIGHT TARIFF REVISION

Republican Leader Asserts Time Ill Advised

Policy Matter of Business, and Not Politics

Flexibility of Laws Should Be Used, He Declares

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—The threat of another Senate move to force a revision of tariff schedules this session was followed today by a declaration from Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican House leader, against any readjustment of import duties at the present time.

Supporting the position of President Coolidge, the House majority leader said that attempted tariff revision four months before the first of the big political conventions "would in all human probability mean the beginning of a task that could not be completed before the Presidential election."

"In addition to reports from the Senate of a move by the Democrats and Republican independents to attach tariff revision legislation to the tax-reduction bill when that measure reaches the floor, Republican leaders also are faced with a demand from the House Republican farm bloc for a revision upward of the import duties on agricultural products.

MOVE CALLED ILL-ADVISED

Administration forces in the House, where tariff legislation must originate, were successful in side-tracking the recent Senate request for a downward revision of "excessive" tariff rates and Tilson, today declared that a move as that suggested by the Senate would be ill-advised at the present.

"A protective tariff has become what we may call the accepted American policy," he said, "so that while rates may well be changed as conditions change the policy itself should not be altered or endangered. Whenever the tariff is revised it should be revised by its friends, so that it may be done along protection lines and on protectionist principles.

"The tariff is in fact a business matter, and any revision of it should be made in as nearly a business manner as possible. It should not be undertaken except under favorable circumstances, because even when carried out under the most favorable conditions there is apt to result some business disturbance.

CONDITIONS CHANGED

"Such revision should be removed as far as possible from the influence of politics, and carried on as nearly as possible on business principles.

"Changes in conditions of production at home and abroad have occurred since the last tariff revision in 1922 that doubtless call for certain readjustments of rates in the next revision, but a partial revision of any one schedule is impracticable under existing conditions. It may be safely taken for granted, however, that all who believe in protection as a principle will favor such readjustment of rates in due time as will accord with changed conditions, so that whether it be the products of our basic industry, agriculture, or some other product of American labor, that shall be reasonably and adequately protected in competition with the product of foreign labor.

"Meanwhile the flexible provisions of the present tariff law should be utilized freely in proper cases. And the relief provided should be granted as expeditiously as possible."

RED'S FLEET OF PLANES COMPLETED

Soviet 'Answer to England' Consists of Sixty Craft Donated to Government

MOSCOW, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—"Our answer to Sir Austen Chamberlain—" a fleet of sixty new airplanes, constructed from private subscriptions—will be handed over to the Red army next month on the occasion of the tenth anniversary of the organization of the soviet military forces. Thirty machines were donated by trades union members.

Intensive effort to develop military aviation resulted from Great Britain breaking off relations last year, which popularly was construed as the British Foreign Secretary's menace to Moscow.

The entire squadron of planes, which were made in Russia, comprises scout, observation, photographing and bombing machines.

Mayor Walker Avers He's Off of Liquor Now

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—Rev. Dr. Christian F. Reisner prefaced his sermon in Chelsea Methodist Church tonight with the statement that he had been permitted by Mayor Walker to announce that the Mayor had abstained entirely from the use of alcoholic beverages since last September.

Dr. Reisner quoted Mayor Walker as saying:

"I no longer drink champagne nor alcohol in any form, nor have I since last September. My health is very much better without it. Then, too, while I enjoyed the exhilarating high spots from alcoholic stimulants, the low spots of the next morning collected a heavy toll. I find it more agreeable as well as healthier to walk on the even pathway with no stimulant."

Matches Cause of Many Deaths

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Figures given out by Chief Medical Examiner Morris show that thirty-five girls and boys under 10 years of age, were burned to death in New York City last year through playing with matches.

Seven men lost their lives as a result of smoking in bed, six children were killed by fireworks and seven boys met death in bonfires.

DESIGNERS TELL OF SUBMARINES

Say Safety Must Be Found Within Vessels

Assert Improvement Margin Narrow One Now

Experts Strive to Make Each Ship Better One

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Greater safety for submarine crews must be found inside, not outside, the submersibles themselves, in the judgment of the government's most experienced submarine designers.

Already, they declare, American undersea boats have inherent factors of safety little realized by the public, which leave only a narrow margin for improvement on the basis of any scientific facts now known.

Fully 90 per cent of the 2500 suggestions for safety devices received since the S-4 went down off Provincetown, Mass., last month, with forty men, have to do with outside assistance and give little or no consideration to the extremely complex calculations which enter into the construction and operation of submarines. Many would add weight to the top of the ship, increasing the danger of capsizing which, although an ever-present likelihood with this type of vessel, has never materialized.

MILITARY WEAPON

Officers familiar with the construction and operation difficulties are concerned primarily with the development of means for the men in a sunken submarine to save themselves and, if possible, their ship. Experience has taught them that this is about the only hope after a diving boat goes down disabled. They are convinced that, with the possible exception of the S-4, in which case the question is still in doubt, no safety devices not already incorporated in the submarines could have reduced the loss of life in the three major disasters in this service in the last ten years.

It is possible, they concede, to make submarines which are much safer ships for the men in them. No step has been found, however, to achieve that near approach to perfection in safety provision without an unjustifiable sacrifice of the submarine's effectiveness as a military weapon, which obviously is the only reason for building it.

As one officer phrases it, "In considering any device for use on submarines, it must be clearly a device of large and general value and not simply one which may possibly, in certain circumstances, prove of value, because in the submarine you can add to one part only at the expense of another."

PLAN BEST VESSELS

Nevertheless the construction experts are not willing to say that it is impracticable to make submarines safer. On the contrary, they strive to make each new ship safer than its predecessor.

The submarine, they point out, is the most congested ship made. Its margin of buoyancy is practically limited to the capacity of its ballast tanks, which are filled to submerge and emptied to rise to the surface, while its margin of stability—the extent to which its own center of gravity is below that of the water displaced by its hull—is only about a third as great as can be provided for surface ships of the same weight. Therefore, each pound added to its weight for any purpose must be compensated for, either by subtraction of a pound somewhere else or by increasing the size of the ship to provide the necessary additional buoyancy. Every increase in size, of course, involves the addition of further weight which itself has to be compensated for.

Despite these and other highly technical considerations, the modern submarine contains many parts which were put there for no other purpose than the protection of the crew. The hull has been strengthened to withstand the sea pressure at a depth of 300 feet, although there is seldom any military reason to dive more than 100 feet. Bulkheads have been installed to divide the ship into water-tight compartments. Outside pipes are installed in the ballast tanks for the use of divers. Reserve tanks of compressed air are carried. A special tank is incorporated to prevent disaster when the conning tower is broken. Soda lime prevents the accumulation of deadly quantities of carbon dioxide gas, and perhaps half a hundred other devices and arrangements, each requiring weight and space, are provided solely for increased safety of operation.

PRAYERBOOK PROTESTORS END SERVICE

Two Thousand Repeat Demonstration at English Church

DARWEN (Eng.) Jan. 29. (AP)—Approximately 2000 persons took part today in a repetition of demonstrations against the alleged Anglo-Catholicism of Rev. Mr. F. B. Lauria, vicar of St. Cuthbert's Church. The vicar was obliged today to summon police who took the names of many disturbers after the religious services at the church had been brought to an untimely end by demonstrators singing the national anthem.

The clergyman left the church under a police guard.

Last Sunday parishioners prevented a "sung eucharist" by singing hymns while the service was in progress. Milder protests had occurred on previous Sundays coincident with rejection of the revised prayerbook by the House of Commons. The demonstration last Sunday, by 400 persons, was at the first Sabbath service after publication of the malines conversations intended to bring about reunion of the Anglican and Catholic churches.

East San Diegan Wins Art Prize

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. (AP)—Showing his "Mill in Winter" Charles Reiffel of East San Diego, Cal., won the grand prize of $500 at the fourth annual Hoosier salon, which opend yesterday with 342 paintings, drawings and architectural designs.

The special sculpture prize offered for the first time for the best creative work made out of India limestone for embodiment in architectural design was won by J. K. Jordon of Bedford, Ind. First award carried with it a prize of $200.

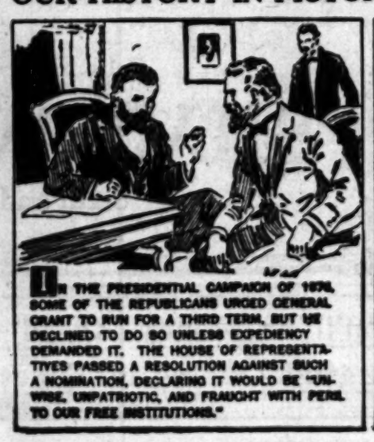
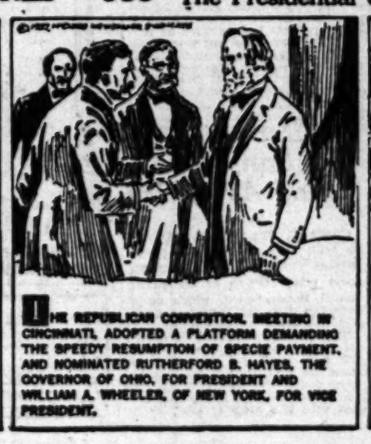
OUR HISTORY IN PICTURES 938 The Presidential Campaign of 1876. by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

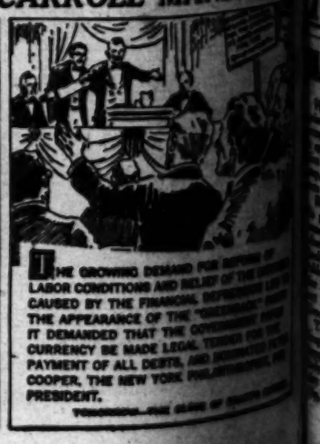


IN THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN OF 1876, SOME OF THE REPUBLICANS URGED GENERAL GRANT TO RUN FOR A THIRD TERM, BUT HE DECLINED TO DO SO UNLESS EXPEDIENCY DEMANDED IT. THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES PASSED A RESOLUTION AGAINST SUCH A NOMINATION, DECLARING IT WOULD BE "UNWISE, UNPATRIOTIC, AND FRAUGHT WITH PERIL TO OUR FREE INSTITUTIONS."



THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION, MEETING IN CINCINNATI, ADOPTED A PLATFORM DEMANDING THE SPEEDY RESUMPTION OF SPECIE PAYMENT, AND NOMINATED RUTHERFORD B. HAYES, THE GOVERNOR OF OHIO, FOR PRESIDENT AND WILLIAM A. WHEELER, OF NEW YORK, FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

THE DEMOCRATS CAME OUT FOR REFORM AND SPECIE PAYMENT. FOR PRESIDENT THEY NOMINATED GOV. SAMUEL J. TILDEN, OF NEW YORK, WHO HAD WON FAME FOR BREAKING UP THE DISHONEST POLITICAL RING OF "BOSS" TWEED.



THE GROWING DEMAND FOR REFORM OF LABOR CONDITIONS AND RELIEF OF THE DISTRESS CAUSED BY THE FINANCIAL DEPRESSION LED TO THE APPEARANCE OF THE "GREENBACK" PARTY. IT DEMANDED THAT THE GOVERNMENT ISSUE CURRENCY BE MADE LEGAL TENDER FOR THE PAYMENT OF ALL DEBTS, AND NOMINATED PETER COOPER, THE NEW YORK PHILANTHROPIST, FOR PRESIDENT.

MONDAY MORNING.

NARCOTIC BODY CALLS MEETING

Education of Public on Use of Drugs Purpose

Federal and State Heads to Aid in Movement

Department of Justice Now Making Survey

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (Exclusive) A call has just been issued by the World Conference on Narcotic Education for the international observance of "Narcotic Week" on February 22-29, 1928.

The purpose of this undertaking is to disseminate information about narcotic drugs, promote the erection of hospitals for drug addicts by State and Federal governments, and develop uniformity of State and Federal laws for the better control of opium and its derivatives.

Those who are expected to cooperate in this general attack on "dope" include heads of national governments, governors of States, executives of Provinces, mayors, legislatures, churches, schools, colleges, moving-picture houses, radio broadcasting stations, editors and local organizations. Narcotic week was instituted last February, and commanded widespread recognition, so the promoters claim, resulting in some State legislation, and several surveys.

Meanwhile, Representative Clyde Kelly (Republican) of Pennsylvania, has introduced house joint resolution No. 78, which provides for an investigation of the entire drug situation, at a cost of $25,000. Representative John J. Cochran (Democrat) of St. Louis, Mo., has gathered a bill calling for $5,000,000 to be used in building a national narcotic hospital.

John W. Snook, warden of the United States prison at Atlanta, has twice recommended to the United States Attorney-General that a separate institution should be provided for the care of drug addicts convicted in United States courts in place of sending them to United States prisons. A. H. Conner, superintendent of United States prisons, favors the erection of one hospital for addicts on the Pacific Coast, and one on the Atlantic Coast. It is understood that the Department of Justice is making a careful study of this subject, and may propose something later.

Flood of Fraud Complaints in Robinson Case

OAKLAND, Jan. 29. (AP)—She attempt of Jesse Robinson, Oakland attorney, to hurry himself into the penitentiary by pleading guilty today to a charge of mortgaging property already mortgaged for a loan of $1700 was made for personal reasons, Dep. Dist.-Atty. Hoyt says.

Under Robinson's present pleading he would be sentenced to a term of from one to ten years, but numerous separate claims of asserted fraud by the lawyer totaling $56,470, have flooded the District Attorney's office.

This, the District Attorney says, will make Robinson liable to a penalty of from one to ten years on fourteen separate charges.

Robinson appeared in Police Court yesterday and waived preliminary hearing on the single charges of defrauding Dr. Charles T. Ehrlich out of $1700 by the double mortgage. He was bound over to the Superior Court for trial.

If additional charges are not placed against Robinson the information in the hands of the District Attorney will be placed before the State Board of Prison Directors and that body may consider the additional charges in fixing Robinson's actual term.

Girl Decoy Used in Hold-up Plot

OAKLAND, Jan. 29. (AP)—A young woman, whose elegant dress was topped off with a fur coat, was used as a decoy yesterday by a daylight burglar to gain entrance to the home of Mrs. Kathlyn Maher, wealthy social worker.

The burglar and his young feminine accomplice were bent on robbing Mrs. Maher of jewelry and other valuables worth $2000, but were frightened away by her resistance and outcry.

The young woman induced Mrs. Maher to come to the door of her home by ringing the caller's bell. She then posed as the representative of a woman's organization. Her accomplice then elbowed his way into the house brushing Mrs. Maher aside. When Mrs. Maher resisted she was struck about the head, but her cries frightened the pair away.

Deaths Due to Inoculation

SYDNEY (N. S. W.) Jan. 29. (AP)—Eleven children have died and six are feared to be dying supposedly as the result of diphtheria inoculation ordered by the Borough Council of Bundaberg.

The serum used was provided by the Commonwealth Health Department and a near panic has developed in the region.

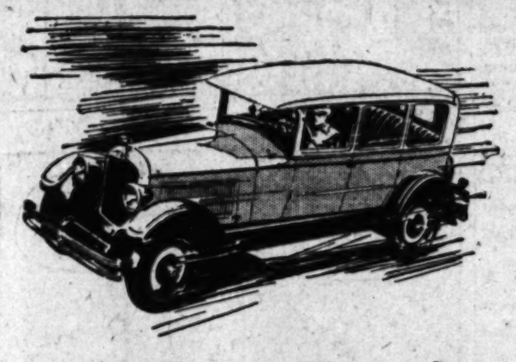
BURMA WRECK DEATH TOTAL NOW FIFTY-TWO

RANGOON (Burma) Jan. 29. (AP)—Of twenty-eight passengers who were injured in the wreck of a Mandalay-Rangoon train which plunged from a bridge 108 miles from here yesterday, twelve have died, bringing the death toll today to fifty-two. Forty bodies were recovered yesterday from the grotesquely piled debris, most of the casualties having occurred in the third-class coaches, chiefly with Indian and Burmese victims.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER



-more than mile-a-minute speed for sixteen days and nights

[25,000 MILES in less than 23,000 consecutive MINUTES]

THE Studebaker Commander established 50 world's records for speed and endurance during 1927. Today it holds every official endurance and speed record for fully equipped stock cars regardless of power or price.

No wonder The Commander has been acclaimed "the greatest achievement of post-war automotive engineering." No other one car in motoring history has ever held so many official records.

Nothing ever went so far so fast as the three Commanders which each traveled 25,000 miles in less than 25,000 consecutive minutes at the Atlantic City Speedway in October. Two roadsters made the run in 22,968 minutes and the sedan in 24,200 minutes. The run was made under the supervision of the American Automobile Association which checked every car and certified to its stock design.

Only a car of the soundest engineering, built of the best steels and alloys by the most expert mechanics, could live to tell this story of achievement. It proves without question that The Commander is able to deliver more brilliant, sustained performance in your own hands—costing you less to own and to operate. Don't let The Commander's low One-Profit price ($1495 f. o. b. factory) cause you to underestimate its fine quality nor its brilliant performance. Because it is built complete by Studebaker in Studebaker plants, The Commander gives you every point of beauty, luxury and ability you would rightly expect in a high priced car.

As a result of advanced design, precision manufacture and the practice of running in every car at the factory, you may drive your Commander 40 miles per hour the day it is delivered.

76 years of honest manufacturing are back of The Commander.

Von Elm Loses to Egan in Singles Match

DEL MONTE (Cal.) Jan. 29. (AP)—Oregon wrested the interstate golf honors from California by the narrow margin of one point at Pebble Beach today. The final score was, Oregon, 3½, California, 2½.

CHANDLER EGAN.

There were many upsets in today's singles matches. Chandler Egan, Oregon, provided one of these by defeating George Von Elm of California, 2 and 1. Egan finished one over par, which was one stroke better than Von Elm's card. A greater surprise was the victory of George Ritchie, California, over Frank Dolp, Oregon star, 3 and 2.

Jack Neville, California, captain, and Dorf Willing, Oregon leader, halved their match on the thirty-sixth. At the thirty-second Neville was 3 up but Willing won the next three holes and they halved the final hole.

PILING THINGS UP WITH THE PROS

Here's George Wilson trying to get through Benny Friedman's line at Wrigley Field yesterday. No. 2 is Frank Kelley, halfback, who has come in to stop the play after Wilson has been tackled by several linemen. No. 20 is George's brother Abe, on deck to see that George is properly chaperoned. No. 5 is Dana Carey, guard on Wilson's Wildcats.

WILSON STARS IN HARD GAME

Field Goal by Reed is Wide in Last Quarter

BY BRAVEN DYER

Four quarters of hard-fought football produced a lot of thrills but no scores at Wrigley Field yesterday afternoon and as a result Benny Friedman's Bulldogs and George Wilson's Wildcats are still tied for the leadership of the Pacific Coast professional grid circuit. Seven thousand fans watched the two teams battle up and down the field and went away with the impression that Wilson's eleven was considerably the better of the two.

GEORGE WILSON

George's hired help were four times within Friedman's 10-yard line and once got the ball right up to the 2-yard stripe, but there was no touchdown forthcoming, principally because of the tremendous defensive strength of Benny's boys.

Wilson himself was the star of the game, dashing through tackle for 10 and 12 yards at a crack, tossing passes accurately and swiftly and getting off several lengthy boots, one of which traveled 78 yards in the air. George's outstanding performance co-

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—Talent which for the most part will form the backbone of the Olympic track and field team this year is lined up in the all-American team selections for 1927, made by Daniel A. Ferris of New York, new secretary - treasurer of the Amateur Athletic Union, and published in the 1928 edition of Spalding's official athletic almanac.

CHARLIE BORAH

The most significant feature of the selections is the replacemen of many of the veteran standbys, former Olympic and national champions by a new crop of youthful stars.

The echoing names of such track and field heroes as Charley Paddock, Loren Murchison, Matt McGrath, Alan Helffrich, Ray Watson and F. Morgan Taylor are absent from the list although not all of them have passed from the competitive picture, by any means. Harold Osborne, the veteran all-around star, remains as the best of the standing broad jumpers but the Illinois schoolmaster is displaced in his two favorite events, the high jump and decathlon, in both of which he holds the Olympic championships.

YOUNGSTERS COME UP

RABBIT PUNCHES

By Paul Lowry

JOE LOHMAN bobs up as the newest cheer leader for Armand Emanuel, the young Jewish heavyweight who has aspirations on Gene Tunney's crown. Joe fought Armand at Hollywood the other night, and suffered knockdowns in both the second and third rounds and a cuffing in the eighth that had him pounding his head to keep the stars away.

Lohman walked over to Emanuel in the dressing rooms after the fight. "I've fought a lot of men in my life," he said, "but you're the first young fellow that ever hit me hard enough to knock me down. You ought to go a long ways in this racket."

That was quite a compliment because Lohman has fought many a champion, and the only man who holds a knockout over him is Gene Tunney, gained, it is said, when Lohman took a bout on a minute's notice in 1924.

But Lohman almost got it the other night. A right cross in the second round crumpled him on the floor, and when he tried to get up at seven he fell back on his haunches, and was barely able to rise at the count of nine.

Armand is managed by his father, who admits that he doesn't know much about the fight game, but is applying simple business rules to the guidance of his son along the long, long fistic trail.

The old gent once had an automobile agency in San Francisco for what is now an orphan car. He dropped $75,000 on that venture, and more recently has been stickling to the realty business.

But what Emanuel senior lacks in knowledge of the manly art of guiding one's son to fistic heights, his friends can supply him in quantity.

One of these is Tim McGrath, who is as well known in San Francisco and the Coast as was the late "Spider" Kelly. From his storehouse of knowledge Tim has told his friend plenty, and when the Emanuels descend on New York they will be loaded for bar.

This descent originally was planned for this month, but departure has been delayed in order that Armand may put a little more competition under his belt. Which is not a bad idea at all because the more experienced Armand is when he hits New York the better off he will be in eastern rings.

Of course, Emanuel is not altogether a greenhorn eastward because he was the best looking of the whole batch of heavyweight Tex Rickard showed in the preliminaries to the Tunney-Dempsey fight at Chicago. However, until he was floored twice by Vijo Doman at Hollywood a month ago and had to get up and fight for his life, eventually knocking his foe out in the same round, he was not ranked as a potential riot in all quarters. That fight made him. It showed he had guts.

Mister Thomas Maloney, who also hails from San Francisco, let me in on the deep secret that Jack Dempsey is copping a sneak on the boys by doing roadwork in private.

"Gosh, how I'd like to knock out that guy Tunney," Mr. Dempsey whispered to Mr. Maloney.

Yes, and a lot of other folks would like to see you do it, Jack Dempsey, but what about those wobbly pins that couldn't carry you as fast forward as Tunney's carried him backward in the seventh round at Chicago?

KILLEFER SIGNS DOWNS

Red Killefer, manager of the Missions, yesterday signed Paul Downs, young catcher of Harry Nelson's Glendora team. Downs is a battery mate of Vincent Garehima, Glendora pitcher, who was recently signed by Killefer. Glendora defeated Reseda, 5 to 3, yesterday, when Jamieson hit a homer with one on in the fourth. Evans and Mann formed the Reseda battery.

ELMER BOESEKE PLAYS STAR ROLE AS MIDWICK FOUR COP POLO TILT FROM FORT BLISS

BY FRANK ROCHE

With long-legged Elmer Boeseke riding high, wide and handsome and playing the star role to perfection, the Midwick Country Club riders won their second straight victory over the Fort Bliss cavalry team, captained by Maj. (Jingle) Wilson, by 13 to 6 score yesterday in a fast polo game staged at the Monterey Park field before a large crowd of Southland mallet fans. Boeseke was a "riding fool" yesterday afternoon. The former Santa Barbara star, now a regular member of the Midwick big four, was in unbeatable form. Boeseke rode the Army players bowlegged, scoring eight goals during the afternoon.

ELMER BOESEKE

Boeseke's performance yesterday was even better than the spectacular one put forth by Eric Pedley last Sunday when the Midwick team copped their first game from the Army players. Elmer proved yesterday that hitters are the heroes in polo as well as in other sports. Boeseke's powerful swats yesterday drove the white pill half the length of the field at times. Every time Elmer walloped the ball the crowd cheered in almost the same way they do when Babe Ruth poles one over the fence.

DOPE UPSET

The Midwick victory yesterday was somewhat of a surprise to the railbirds as the Army players were doped to trim the Purple team on their practice form. They figured, however, without Boeseke. Elmer seemed to do everything right and besides his ponies ran as though they had winged hoofs. Not only that, but the veteran Carleton Burke, who returned to the game yesterday for the first time this season, was also in fine shape. Burke backed up Boeseke on every turn and Elmer

UPLIFTERS IN BRILLIANT POLO VICTORY TO DEDICATE FIELD

Snowy Baker's Uplifters celebrated the opening of their splendid new Beverly Boulevard polo field yesterday, with a sizzling 13-to-5 victory over a low-goal Midwick Country Club polo team. It was the official dedication of the beautiful plant and the Uplifters commemorated it in a fitting manner, out-scoring their opponents who carried a seven-goal handicap and are among the best of Midwick's players. The Uplifters could have won the match without the handicap, the total score favoring them by six goals to five.

It was a close, tensely fought game from start to finish, with both teams a good deal stronger defensively than on the offense. The Uplifters jumped into the lead in the first period with one goal by Baker and Midwick came back to score two in the second. They goaled the little white ball once in the third and the fourth went by scoreless, giving Midwick a 3-to-1 lead in goals with the game half over, although the score was 8 to 3 against them.

The Uplifters came back with a rush in the fifth, scoring three times from the accurate mallets of Robert Millsap, Will Rogers and Scott Hackley. From that time on, they were never headed. Midwick tied them at four-all in the sixth, but the Uplifters rang the bell twice in the seventh to Midwick's once and, holding their opponents scoreless in the final period, finished the match a goal ahead of the team rated seven better.

Both teams were too well co-ordinated and closely knit in team play to allow for much individual brilliance. For the Uplifters, Snowy

TROJANS, BRUINS TO PLAY

After a week of rest, Pacific Coast Conference basketball teams swing into action again this week-end. Some of the quintets had games Saturday, but they were only practice struggles. The Trojans disposed of the College of Pacific five, 36 to 33, minus the services of Capt. Jack Bruner, who is in bed with tonsilitis. The Bruins dropped a 31-to-24 game to Whittier.

Friday and Saturday nights will bring Nibs Price and his California tossers back to Los Angeles for another series. The Bears meet U.C.L.A. and whatever chances the Bruins have of winning the title in the south are pretty much wrapped up in these games. If they can get over the Bears they have a chance against the Trojans later, but if the Bears win Friday and Saturday the Bruins will be well out of the scramble.

Leo Calland takes his Trojans to Palo Alto for one game with Stanford. Unless Bruner is ready to play the Trojans will probably get licked for Stanford has been improving by leaps and bounds.

In the Southern Conference Occidental won her fifth straight game Saturday night by defeating Caltech, 37 to 27. Pomona upset San Diego, 36 to 34, and Redlands made it two straight over La Verne by winning.

San Diego State College Boasts Powerful Track and Field Team for Coming Season

AZTECS REAL THREAT IN SOUTHERN CONFERENCE

(This is the second of a series of articles on track teams of Southern California institutions of learning.)

BY BRAVEN DYER

San Diego State College has not been a member of the Southern California Conference very long but the Aztecs are already beginning to make themselves very prominent in an athletic way. Particularly is this true in football and track. Next fall the southerners are likely to cause a lot of trouble on the gridiron and right now they are looking forward to a big track season.

C. E. Peterson, a quiet-mannered, efficient gentleman, coaches both football and track. Last year his frosh team finished third in the all - conference track meet. This was particularly good, because Peterson's team amassed 35 points through the efforts of four or five star performers, grabbing no less than five first places. What is more encouraging, all of these men are returning this spring, and all of them seem certain to win points as varsity athletes.

C E PETERSON

BROWN IS STAR

First of all there is Linwood Brown, a leather-lunged distance runner. Brown ran away with the mile and two-mile races as a frosh, doing the distances in 4m. 38.2s. and 10m. 16.8s. to establish two new Pea Green records. Recently he won the varsity cross-country gallop. He should be very much in evidence during the next few months and at present there doesn't seem to be any distance runner in the conference capable of beating him in either race. Brown can also run the half in close to two minutes and has turned a 440 in 52s. flat.

Harry Tenwolde, who copped the frosh half-mile last year, is back. His winning time was 2m. 5.4s.

The other big star of the 1928 frosh outfit, is John Brose, a stocky individual, who copped both the discus and shot and took second in the hammer. His winning marks were 132ft. 11in. and 46ft. 1in., the first being a new frosh record.

In addition to these three big guns, Peterson has five men returning who won points in the varsity conference meet. Outstanding of these are Capt. Oliver Worden, Paul Mott and Werner Peterson. Worden won the 440-yard run in 50.4s. last year from a fast field and looks ripe to repeat. Mott was third in the discus with a heave of 128ft. 3in., and the two men who beat him are no longer competing. He was also third in the shot, and has done around 42ft. in this event.

MAY BREAK MARK

Peterson was third in the javelin last year, being beaten out by Anderson and Hoover of Caltech. The two Engineer stars have graduated, and Coach Peterson feels that Peterson stands a fine chance of breaking the conference record in the wand-wafting event. He does around 180ft.

Frank Boydston, third in the high hurdles last year, is back, good for 15.5s. Guy Fox, fourth in the lows, is also returning.

The San Diego team won first place in the relay last season, and all of his men will be running again this spring. They are Worden, Boydstron, Guy Fox and Loris Hoyt. Their winning time last year was 3m. 25.2s.

Worden, Kenny Johnson, Gilbert Perry and Hoyt are the best of the sprinters, capable of close to even time in both races.

M. Fox, from last year's frosh team, does close to 22ft. in the broad jump.

Peterson has very little strength in the high jump or pole vault, but may be able to develop one or two point winners from the material on hand.

With such likely looking first-place winners as Brown, Brose, Worden and Peterson in the fold, plus a fine relay team, the Aztecs are bound to be right up in front when the all-conference meet is run off at Pomona in April. How the southerners will fare in dual meets remains to be seen.

MIDWICK FOUR DEFEATS ARMY

knowing this just rode the ball all over the field.

The Army players led by Maj. Wilson, an international star in military circles, changed their line-up during the second half of the game in an effort to halt Boeseke and the Midwick riders in their mad dash for victory. Maj. Buries went in for Capt. Bridges and Wilson moved up from No. 2 to No. 1 position. Wilson seemed to show a better brand of polo than his other team-mates but he simply could not keep up with the pace that Boeseke and Burke set.

WILSON STARS FOR ARMY

Wilson proved to be the high-goal man for Army. He snagged four goals during the afternoon with some fine riding. Capt. Bridges scored one and the Midwick team spotted the Army one goal. All told the Army gathered in five goals. They did have some hard breaks at times. Wilson and Jones both missed the goal by inches on a number of occasions. At that Boeseke did the same thing on a half-dozen shots.

Boeseke in his mad ride for goals yesterday broke three mallets and he had to dismount several times to get new stirrups for his ponies. Elmer also knocked over the goal posts on two occasions. Elmer made the first goal of the game in the opening period and he also made the last one in the seventh session.

It might be stated right here that the Army team, although outplayed, never stopped trying during the entire game. Wilson, Buries, Jones, Brown and Bridges did some real hard riding. Against any ordinary team of equal strength they would have fared very well. But the Midwick squad yesterday was far from an ordinary outfit. Boeseke's shots would have kept an international team busy at their best.

Carleton Burke also showed yesterday that he still has his old polo eye. Burke rode the ball away from the Midwick goal line with the same speed and skill that has made his name famous in Coast mallet circles. But Burke was not the head man yesterday for that honor went to hard-hitting Boeseke.

The Fort Bliss players will meet another Midwick team next Sunday on the Monterey Park field in the third game of the high-goal series between the two teams.

LATIN AMERICAN RING KING

PAULINO KAYOES ROJAS IN THIRD ROUND OF GO

body open to Paulino's attack. The Basque poured punches with both hands to Rojas's body. Rojas's knees sagged and he fell to the canvas writhing in pain.

FOUL CLAIMED

There were claims of foul heard rather weakly from some of Rojas's supporters, but there wasn't any trace of a low blow so far as ringsiders could see. Rojas recovered in about a minute and rushed over to shake Paulino's hand.

The betting odds highly favored Paulino before the fight and Paulino seemed to be the most popular with the crowd during the bout. Following the struggle Paulino went through a series of gymnastic stunts much to the amusement of the crowd. The end came so suddenly that neither fighter had demonstrated any decisive superiority and it looked like anybody's fight for two rounds.

The crowd, estimated at 30,000, paid approximately $50,000 for seats. The mob was much bigger than the Sunday bull-fight gatherings.

Paulino's share of the purse was $10,000. Rojas gets $7000. The fight was broadcast blow-by-blow through Station CYE. This marks the first time in Mexican history that the radio has been used to transmit fights. Both fighters made short talks in Spanish before the bout. They both declared that they were confident of winning, and expressed greetings to all Latin America.

The main event was shoved in between the second and third preliminaries. Many prominent persons were present at the ringside, including the Chilean Minister to Mexico; Miguel S. Rocaunt. The crowd was the greatest that ever witnessed any sporting event in Mexico.

BULL FIGHTER HONORED

Before the fight, Uscudun dedicated the bout to Rodolfo Gaona, famous bull fighter, who climbed into the ring to shake the Basque's hand. Rojas not to be outdone, bequeathed his end of the bout to a local automobile dealer.

Neither fighter showed any sensational flashes in the opening round. Both resorting to cautious tactics and repeated clinches until Paulino started his assault in the third round, that gave him the victory.

The purse was not paid until noon today, which caused the spread of many rumors to the effect that the fighters would not enter the ring.

Paulino was the favorite at all stages, but the crowd cheered Rojas lustily during the first two rounds when he punished the Basque with hard smashes to the head. Both weighed 194 pounds.

PAULINO WILL BATTLE GODFREY IN GO HERE

Paulino Uscudun, Basque heavyweight, who won the Latin-American championship yesterday at Mexico City when he defeated Quentin Romero Rojas in the third round of a fifteen-round bout will meet George Godfrey, colored heavyweight contender, at Wrigley Field on February 26. The Basque Woodchopper will arrive in Los Angeles next week and immediately start training for the bout with the Black Shadow.

accordance with advance predictions was that in which Rudie Wilhelm, Oregon, defeated Dr. Paul Hunter, California, 3 and 1.

Von Elm failed to duplicate his brilliant performance of yesterday much to the disappointment of the huge gallery of California supporters. Yesterday he was 6 under par at the twenty-seventh and 3 under par at the thirty-fourth. Today he was 2 over par. Von Elm held the lead for ten holes and regained it three times. But Egan finally squared the match on the thirty-first, halved the thirty-second, won the next two and halved the decisive thirty-fifth.

Egan was one over par today, while yesterday he finished 3 under. His iron shots were magnificent and his putting almost as unerring as yesterday.

Casey, Hoffman and Harlow Are Also Named

Frank Wykoff Century King on Scholastic Team

Carr of Yale, Ray Conger of Iowa State, Johnny Gibson of Fordham, Herman Phillips of Butler and Anton Burg of Chicago have stepped to the front.

The shake-up does not extend to the distance runners, however, where Willis Ritola, the Iron-limbed Finnish-American, tops the list. Ritola is awarded four places by Ferris, more than any other athlete on the all-American list. The sturdy Finn retains the leadership in the ten-mile run, two-mile steeplechase and cross-country run in addition to gaining a new position as the best of the six-mile runners.

Ray Conger, Iowa State star, is the one-mile selection only because Lloyd Hahn, recognized king of milers, did not defend his title in the national A.A.U. title meet. Hahn gets into the list at 1000 yards.

HARRIS PICKS TEAMS

The task of making the 1927 selections was handled by Ferris for the first time. He continued the job begun by the late James E. Sullivan and continued for the past thirteen years by Frederick W. Rubien, who retired from office in the A.A.U. last November.

The complete all-American selections together with all-college and all-scholastic choices, follow:

Maroons-Oilers Clash Tonight in Hockey Tilt

Clashing for the first time since that free-for-all battle royal at the rink when hockey players and fans swarmed onto the ice in a fight that drew heavy fines for the principals, the Los Angeles Maroons and Richfield ice hockey squads will get together tonight at the Palais De Glace.

Local fans are on edge in anticipation of some interesting by-play between the veterans of the two squads, heightened by an undercurrent of enmity that dates back three years ago, when the two clubs were bitter rivals in the first organized loop for the west coast.

OBSERVATIONS

WELL, boys and girls, it looks as though we were in for a session of language, mostly adjectives, regarding the Paulino-Godfrey soiree scheduled for Wrigley Field in February. Now that Paulino has proved that he is a prize fighter by knocking out Romero Rojas in three rounds and getting his pocketbook swiped in the Mexico City railroad station, he is coming up here to prove the supremacy of the Spanish Basque type over the charcoal facade typified by Phoebe "Gawge" Godfrey. It promises to be a real fracas for just one reason—if no other. Both pugs regard their Wrigley Field engagement as a sort of a tea dansant, having no more respect for one another than the average husband and his mother-in-law. Under such circumstances, there ought to be a lot of action, which is what the fans crave.

They're all excited up around the Bay region now because Charley Paddock, the celebrated author-lecturer, has cast asparagus at the lily-white amateurism of Helen Wills. Apparently, they don't read Charley's articles very thoroughly up there. They spend the better part of a couple of columns proving that she is within the amateur ruling, which is a waste of breath, as far as Chaley's argument is concerned, because Charley said exactly that. He added, however, that in his estimation anybody who drew pictures or wrote articles and sold 'em, was violating the true amateur spirit regardless of what the rules had to say. Far be it from us to try to arbitrate this argument.

We can't imagine anything that might have given the good citizens of Whittier any more downright delight than the victory of the Poets over the Bruin basketball team on Saturday night. For a long time the Poets and the Bruins have been engaging in a terrific duel on the gridiron and the basketball court. Until this year the Bruins had never trimmed the Poets in football so the rather unexpected victory of the Poet basketeers over the Bruins on their first meeting since U.C.L.A. went into the Coast Conference, was all the more pleasant to the people of Whittier.

There have been a lot of good football players of one kind and another on the Coast but there have been very few who have ever given a better all-around exhibition of "How to play end" than that staged yesterday by Brother Mullen, late of Illinois and now doing his stuff for the Wilson-Bradshaw eleven. He just naturally played football all over the field, downing punts deep in enemy territory time after time and winding up his afternoon's play by snagging a pass on the bulldog 3-yard line, fight out of Benny Friedman's arms.

United Stables Entry Winner

TIA JUANA RACE TRACK, Jan. 20. Crystal Pennant, 4-year-old eastern colt, showed that he will have to be reckoned with in future handicaps over a distance of ground this winter, when he got up to win the Jack Dempsey Handicap, featured offering here this afternoon.

Crystal Pennant, carrying the colors of the United stables, won the mile and a sixteenth affair by a length and a half, getting up in the stretch to overtake the early leaders, Bonnie Omar and Cantankerous. The latter held on well for the place after passing Bonnie Omar in the stretch run with Bonnie getting the show. Wooldridge, Grippemiaud and others followed with Forecaster, which caused a long delay at the start through his bad antics, trailing the field. Time for the race was 1:45 2-5.

First race, six furlongs, claiming, purse $600—Itty Bitt (Baker) won, Jay Zee (Mande) second, Tender Soft (Kreis) third. Time, 1:14 1-5.

Second race, mile and seventy yards, claiming, purse $500—Hotel Dentist (Bonetti) won, Zing (Erskine) second, Fort Wayne (Fisher) third. Time, 1:46 2-5.

Third race, Caledonian course, claiming, purse $600—Colors (H. Philpot) won, Cachemere (P. Fisher) second, Marmaxy (Jemison) third. Time, 1:37.

Fourth race, six furlongs, claiming, purse $800—Mayor Ace (Dedford) won, Shasta Bishop (Kimble) second, Blue Rose (Donohue) third. Time, 1:13 2-5.

Fifth race, mile and one-quarter, claiming, purse $800—Kirtsave (Mandel) won, By Cool (Wendt) second, Watch the Time (Rande) third. Time, 2:07 1-5.

Sixth race, handicap, six furlongs, purse $1000—Pat (Fields) won, Shasta Pine (H. Philpot) second, Shasta Gold (J. Donohue) third. Time, 1:12 1-5.

Seventh race, Jack Dempsey handicap, mile and one-sixteenth, purse $1200—Crystal Pennant (Erskine) won, Cantankerous (Mandel) second, Bonnie Omar (Lindoah) third. Time, 1:45 2-5.

Eighth race, mile, claiming, purse $600—Mode (Luther) won, Dukey Lou (Zatzle) second, Prata Star (Jones) third. Time, 1:41 1-5.

Ninth race, six furlongs, claiming, purse $600—Cancellation (Lindoah) won, Short Price (Pfeil) second, Harry S. Bell (Francisco) third. Time, 1:12 4-5.

Tenth race, mile and three furlongs, claiming, purse $800—Fair Trial (Donohue) won, Pinkaro (Francisco) second, Bandalil (Lindoah) third. Time, 2:25.

HACK WILSON JOINS ROOT AS MEMBER OF HOLDOUT FAMILY

CHICAGO, Jan. 29. (AP)—The hold-out family of the Chicago Cubs was increased to two today when Hack Wilson, home-run hitting outfielder, returned his 1928 contract unsigned. Charlie Root, Cub pitcher, returned his unsigned contract several days ago.

Wilson, like Root, who is the ace of the Cubs' pitching staff, is not satisfied with the salary increase stipulated in the 1928 contract. Both, however, are confident the matter will be adjusted and they will be with the Cubs when training starts at Santa Catalina Island next month.

DIEGEL BURNING UP TWO LOCAL COURSES

Leo Diegel—former Canadian open champ—the longest wooden-shot player in golf, and one of the most distinguished members of the paid-to-play clan—has gone golf wild during the past several days. "The Dieg" has averaged sixty-seven and one-half strokes for his last ten rounds—played at Hillcrest and Lakeside. His worst round—a 73 at Hillcrest last Thursday, is the only thing that is keeping Leo from claiming a real ten-lap record.

Leo picked up a 66 at Lakeside yesterday morning to team with Walter Ahlschlager and defeat Herbert Lubin and Charles Guest, 3 and 2. Ahlschlager, with a 72, was very helpful. Choily (Golfing) Guest, marked up a 69, while Lubin slipped up to a 76. Leo had a 66 at Lakeside Saturday, but the score was erroneously recorded as a 76.

Howard Hughes claimed Diegel for a partner at Lakeside yesterday afternoon and Walter Hagen—rapidly swinging back into the stride that has carried him through the best players in the world—elected to team with Charles Guest in what turned out to be a real exhibition.

Leo was singing the blues in seven different keys after starting 4-5-4-5-5 and he was exactly five holes down to Guest when he picked up a birdie 2 on the sixth. Leo was hot in the morning, but during that final thirteen-hole drive—Leo was smoking—stroking the thirteen, nine shots under 4s—Bobby Jones please note. Guest duplicated his morning 69 and Sir Walter picked up a 71. Howard Hughes used up 77 strokes while witnessing the best shot-making tour of the season.

E. S. (Scotty) Armstrong, George Cornes, Hagen and Hughes staged another Lakeside battle royal yesterday morning. Hagen and Armstrong finished with 70s, Cornes, 73, and Hughes, 72. Hagen and Hughes were partners and Scotty Armstrong ran down a beautiful birdie on the last hole to win the heated fracas, 1 up—which is about all of the Lakeside news for the day, except that work on the new fifteenth hole is progressing rapidly and the unit will be open for play within the next several weeks.

FRESTON NAMED TO HEAD RANCHO CLUB

Herbert Freston, prominent local attorney, has been named to succeed Dr. P. A. Moultin as president of the Rancho Golf Club. Moultin—one of the most popular members of the local fraternity, will assume charge of the growing Royal Palms organization in the near future.

Freston, with J. S. (Jess) Hatler, vice-president; B. K. Wardell, secretary and treasurer, and 8 board of directors composed of A. T. Jerkins, Ray Palmer, Ted Hobgood, F. C. Adams, Paul Jones and E. L. Barette, should have little difficulty operating and directing one of the best golfing and social organizations in the West.

Rancho is in a great spot to upset Los Angeles in the current S.F. G.A. team league. Starting the season minus the efficient services of George Von Elm, Howard Hughes, W. W. Beckwith, I. A. Thorsen and others—Jess Hattler's campaigners started the season by spilling the dope and shattering Lakeside hopes with a 6-to-3 victory, last week.

The powers that ordained eighteen-men teams for the season did not consult Rancho's wishes, but Rancho has put a very representative unit in the field and while Los Angeles appears to have a decided edge in the competition—anything may happen when Maj. William L. Karnes's Beverly team invades Rancho next Wednesday. The Rancho course is in fine shape—the best ever, in fact—and the Rancho golfers are devoting more thought to golf, as concerns the interclub team competition, than many other entries in George Cline's fast-medaling group.

Lakeside will do better against Los Angeles than it did against Rancho and if Rancho can topple Beverly Wednesday—which seems more than plausible—there will be more to the present team competition than even the most optimistic boosters predicted at the start of the season last Wednesday.

BIG FIELD BUSY AT PALOS VERDES

More than 100 golfers competed in the semimonthly cup tournament at Palos Verdes yesterday. The feature was won by J. W. Post, 78-8—70; other scores were as follows: W. K. Crane, 87-16—71; J. M. Wells, 89-18—71; W. A. Bostwick, 74, won the blind bogey feature. Other players finished as follows: Robert Herigrennater, O. J. McLain, O. M. Rent, R. A. Kay, W. Crane, D. Lawyer, E. K. Chambers, F. C. Hamilton.

FAST MATCHES IN TEAMS COMPETITION

La Cumbre and Victoria won lopsided victories in the local golf league yesterday. Riviera, leading all nine points to the former, while Hillcrest started Victoria title-ward with a similar total.

Oakmont and Mountain Meadows staged a great nine-match battle over the Glendale course yesterday while the Girard Country Club golfers defeated Ventura, in an interclub match at Ventura, 6 to 3.

GIRARD, 6; VENTURA, 3

Jack Gaines and Perry Ferguson of Girard won over Walter Archibrite and H. K. Purdue of Ventura, 3 and 1; Aubrey Perdue and Jesse Parmer, Girard, defeated C. D. Estep and P. S. SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Jan. 29. (AP)—Wild Bill Mehlhorn of Pittsburgh, Joe Turness, New York, and Larry Nabholtz, Cleveland, led the field today in practice rounds for the Texas open golf tournament which starts Thursday. All three shot 72's, one over par, and for a time Mehlhorn threatened to break his course record of 69.

MacDonald Smith of New York shot a 73. Willie Hunter of Los Angeles had a 76 and Bobby Cruickshank of Purchase, N. Y., a 79.

DR. PELTZER TO GET HEARING WEDNESDAY

BOSTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—Dr. Otto Peltzer, German middle-distance running marvel, has been asked to meet the foreign relations committee of the National A.A.U. in New York, next Wednesday at a final conference on the question of permitting him to appear in American indoor track competition this winter.

A telegram from Chicago, containing formal application for A.A.U. permission to compete in three meets and possibly a fourth together with specifications of the distances he hoped to run, was received from the German flyer here today by Daniel J. Ferris of New York, secretary-treasurer of the A.A.U.

RIXEY ACCEPTS CUT IN PAY ENVELOPE

CINCINNATI, Jan. 29. (AP)—Eppa Rixey, Cincinnati Reds southpaw pitcher, has signed a contract for the current season at a reduced salary. The announcement today said that Rixey, like most of the Reds' high-salaried players, was given a stiff salary cut but that he agreed to terms without delay.

Pitcher Carl Mays, who also was sent a contract at a reduced rate, has returned the document unsigned.

GROOM POMONA FIELD FOR COMING SEASON

CLAREMONT, Jan. 29. (Exclusive) In preparation for a busy season of meets, Pomona's track and athletic field is being groomed by a staff of workmen under the direction of Coach Bob Strehle. The broad-jumping pit has been completely dug up, the old sand being replaced by new and work has started on the track. New saw-dust will be supplied for the high-jumpers, along with the general renovating of the pit. Strehle has created an unusually strong program for 1928 and wants Alumni Field to be in the best of shape. Starting next Saturday, there will be a meet on the Sagehen field every week-end for practically two months.

FAVORITES BEATEN IN NET EVENT

Kussman, Gove Eliminated From L. A. Open Tourney by Unknowns

Upsets continued to feature in the annual Los Angeles open tennis championships which resumed play yesterday at the Griffith Park playground courts when Arthur Kussman and Frank Gove, former high-ranking Coast juniors and collegians of note, were beaten in the second round of the men's doubles by an unknown quantity in Percy Guilford and Kenneth Bartoah. The defeat was decisive enough, coming in two straight sets at 6-4, 6-4.

But other famous combinations who are bidding for the 1928 city championships were also given no end of trouble before advancing in their climb toward the crown. Sidney B. Woods, the New York school kid, paired with Ben Gorchakoff, sensational collegian, and the due entered the semis after three victories, two of which went the limit of three sets. Herb Carlson and Leonard Dworkin captured the initial set in their match with Woods and Gorchakoff, but dropped the second and third, while Dale Robinson and Lee Osborne fell in the first set, came back strong in the second to win a 6-4 victory and lost the final set and the match in a similar fashion.

Yesterday's results:

MEN'S SINGLES

Quarter finals—Cano and Saunders defeated Bauder and Charnock, 6-4, 4-1; Paige and DeLara defeated Bartosh and Gulliford, 7-5, 6-4; Lower half—Gorchakoff and Woods defeated Osborne and Robinson, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4; Laird and Tisdall defeated Shaw and Isambloth, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

PACIFIC ELECTRICS WIN

The Pacific Electric team was a little too strong for the Temple Merchants and the railroaders took an 8-to-3 win in an independent contest before a large crowd. Adams, Antista and Buck King led the attack with three hits apiece, King drove out the first home run ever made on the Temple grounds. Schneider, who relieved Kelley in the sixth, pitched good ball and shut out the hard-hitting visitors the rest of the game. He also connected for two safeties. Jacobs, on the mound for the railroaders, had thirteen strike-outs to his credit. Score:

COMMERCIAL CLUB BEATEN

The Pacific Electric once again defeated the strong Commercial outfit Saturday by the score of 4 to 2, at Manchester Playground, in a Major Industrial league tilt. The game was replete with sensational fielding, five double plays featuring. The railroaders sewed up the contest in the seventh, when a home run by Tony Antista followed by a base on balls, singles by Ruedy and Bouett and a sacrifice by Rod Murphy netted three runs. The club men were unable to do very much with the stellar pitching of Elmer Phillips. Al Miller also worked a good game for the opponents with the exception of the seventh frame.

STAGE SWIM AT H.A.C.

ZORILLA FACES FILIPINO STAR

Island Flyweight's First California Appearance

Philippine Idol Favored to Trim Panama Battler

Evans and Limbaco Battle in Semifinal Scrap

ALBERTA EVANS

It is the scene of the first appearance of Ignacio Fernandez, idol of his countrymen in California. Fernandez faces the best 126-pounder on the Coast in Santiago Zorilla.

Zorilla is a mile-a-minute hitter — not powerful but plentiful.

He is geared high enough to knock out the rank and file boxers, but against competition Zorilla depends on the paint brush.

The Filipino trade hasn't been stirred so much for a boxing bout since Clever Sencio was starring here.

By coincidence Fernandez has a stablemate named Speedy Dado who has never gotten out of San Francisco. He has been there nearly a year.

Matchmaker Wadhams has had spots for Dado several times. But he is one of the try-and-get-the boys. San Francisco promoters wouldn't let the brown-skinned flash outside the city limits.

To keep Dado in the northern city, promoters gave him 40 per cent of the house week after week. And week after week he packed their arenas with Filipinos.

Fernandez is advertised to the American Filipinos through Manila newspapers, where he knocked out nine straight opponents just before he came to this country.

The gymnasium where Fernandez worked the past week became the rendezvous of the Los Angeles colony. Barney Dempsey has had the biggest box office week of the year.

"That Filipino outdrew my brother, Jack," says Barney. "I hope they use Fernandez every week."

While Fernandez is being made a 10-9 favorite, many of the followers of dope give Zorilla an even chance.

It is pointed out that Zorilla is in far better shape than when he lost a close decision to Joey Sangor—and Fernandez does not rate any higher than Joey.

Frank Churchill doesn't claim he has a champion, but he does say that Fernandez is the greatest crowd pleaser of any fighter in the ring today.

Zorilla has a strong following from the beach districts. He won as he pleased against Kid Ponce and Young Nationalista in his last two fights.

Huerta Evans, star L.A.A.C. boy, faces another Filipino, Trip Limbaco, in the semi-wind-up.

In Evans the Olympic has another Baby Sal Sorio. Don't be surprised if Evans goes on top soon. He's nearly ready to wheel gloves against any 118-pounder in the country.

Zorilla and Fernandez box at 126 pounds.

Billy Blake and Louis Andrews box the special event.

Premier Pilots in Ascot Event

With a 100-mile race carded for Sunday afternoon at Ascot speedway, Harian Fengler believes he has arranged a program that will appeal to all speed fans who like to see the pilots whiz by the stands in a distance event.

Arrangements are being made to start twelve cars in this race, which means that at least four and possibly five of the little Ford racing models will get into real competition with the highly powered Millis and Duesenbergs, which have thoroughly demonstrated their superior adaptability to the sprint events.

The greatest drivers in the world are already in the city with the exception of George Souders, who is expected to return from a business trip to the Middle West in time to pilot the Miller special No. 3, in which he copped the nod over Ralph De Palma in a sensational match race three weeks ago. De Palma, Leon Duray, Cliff Bergere, Fred Frame, Babe Bergere, Fred Frame, Babe Stapp, Stapp, Louie Schneider and Chester Gardner are among the stars who are expected to face Fred Wagner's starting-flag in the speedway cars, while Bill Spence, Dou Moore, Mel Kenealy, Glenn Hiett, Ray Gardener and others will be at the wheels of the Fords.

Trojans Face Hollywooders

Still minus the efficient services of Capt. Jack Bruner, the University of Southern California basketball team will engage the speedy Hollywood A.C. quintet in the Movie City club's gym Wednesday night at 8:15. Bruner is suffering from a bad case of tonsilitis, and will be out indefinitely.

The Trojans walloped the Clubites, 51-17, in a game at the S.C. pavilion a few weeks ago, but the losers were handicapped by the absence of three of their star performers, and now are in shape to put up a much-better game.

OIL AND MINING

TESTS FOR DEEP ZONE INDECISIVE

Results at Two Seal Beach Projects Disappoint

Marland Balked by Water in Selover No. 16 Well

Richfield's Bonner Finished at 6672 Feet Depth

Interest in the oil fields of Long Beach, which shifted from the deep-zone development at Signal Hill to the deep-zone operations at Seal Beach during the past week, was only partially satisfied, the results of the tests of the two Seal Beach deep wells being more or less indefinite. In the Signal Hill field there was no significant development during last week, only one new well being placed on production.

The Marland Oil Company and Richfield were expected to prove the deepest zone yet found at Seal Beach during the past week, and they did, but just what they proved is still to be seen. The Marland's test of its Selover No. 16, with its 600 feet of oil sand, was rendered a blank by the failure of the water shut-off, the cut of the yield during the test amounting to between one-third and one-half of the gross output. The well is now cemented.

The Richfield had better luck with its Bonner well, but got only about 450 barrels a day, which is not much oil considering the extreme depth of the hole, whose bottom is at 6672 feet. The yield was clean oil, testing about 33 deg. gravity, and the Richfield figures that it can double the output of the well by the use of gas compression methods.

At Signal Hill there should be at least half a dozen completions during this week. The Shell Company and the California Petroleum Corporation each has two or three wells ready to complete, and a considerable number of smaller operators have wells that should go on production in the next few days.

The single interesting development at Signal Hill last week was the Dabney-Johnson Syndicate's new well, the Casaneva No. 1, which in addition to being the shallowest of the deep-zone wells yet finished is one of the few that has successfully completed a straight cement job, with a combination oil and water string. The well made 1200 barrels per day, clean oil, initial rate of flow.

Three Projects Now Under Way at Gould Hills

TAFT, Jan. 29. — The Gould Hills area, which recently has been the scene of oilfield development operations now has three wells drilling. The Exeter Oil Company has erected a derrick on Section 1, 29-21, for putting down the fourth new well in the field.

The H. B. Porter well, in Sec. 36, 29-20, is going through a hard gray sand at about 1200 feet, with the bottom being put down rapidly, it was reported.

Alternating shale and sand formations have been encountered at 600 feet in the Herbert Moore well in Sec. 11, 29-20, and the Bombe & Ball well has reached a depth of more than 1400 feet, penetrating a hard shell zone.

SHELL QUITS VAST ESTATE

Nails Down Semitropic Ridge and Surrenders Great Miller & Lux Tract as Oil Search Starts

After more than two years of geological investigations which determined the location of the new J. N. Kerwin prospect well between Lost Hills and Wasco, the Shell Company of California has quitclaimed all but about 5000 acres of the 140,000-acre area in the Buttonwillow-Semitropic district upon which the company held oil prospecting and tentative development rights through an agreement with Miller & Lux, Inc.

Recording of the quit-claim documents will signalize a portentous trend in the oil development program of the East Side, toward launching an intensive drilling campaign along the Semitropic Ridge, where within recent months major oil companies have leased most of the acreage, local operators declare.

Releasing of the bulk of the Miller & Lux acreage covered by the agreement with Shell follows by less than one week the assignment to J. N. Kerwin of more than 3000 acres surrounding the J. N. Kerwin-Shell test well which was spudded in recently on Sec. 21, 26-22, and indications are that drilling of this test marks the beginning of a new offensive of great promise in oil-field development.

The Shell's geological studies have tended to fix the Semitropic Ridge, extending from a point near the Lost Hills oil field southeasterly through Rio Bravo to Fruitvale and with the Union-avenue area south of Bakersfield directly in its line, as a potential oil field, with immense underground gas reserves on either side of it. That this theory is shared by other large companies has been established by the manner in which the ridge has been carpeted with oil development leases during the last few months.

Leases made recently by Shell, Standard, Pacific Eastern Production, General Petroleum, Barnsdall, and other corporations and individual operators cover the bulk of Townships 26-22, 27-23, 26-24, 29-25 and adjacent areas, following the line of the high ridge. The Shell-Kerwin drilling location on Sec. 21, 26-22, is near the northern apex of the tremendous acreage covered by the Shell-Miller & Lux agreement, and the bringing in of a producer there would, it is believed, prove for oil production about 5000 acres taken over from Miller & Lux by lease outright.

Drilling of the Kerwin well will constitute the first conclusive oil test ever made on Semitropic Ridge. To the southward and extending parallel to the high ridge is Buttonwillow Ridge, where the Millham Exploration Company is developing a gas field of tremendous promise, while to the eastward is another area where gas indications have been encountered, together with some oil showings.

The Main Oil Company recently resumed operations on Sec. 26, 27-24, near Wasco, where high gas pressure was encountered in former drilling in oil formations. In Sec. 6, 26-25, a Shafter, W. M. McVey is drilling an oil test well for Shafter and Long Beach interests.

Semitropic Ridge, extending to the Fruitvale area, is the highest ridge on the floor of the lower San Joaquin Valley. Pacific Eastern Production Company leased extensive acreage along the ridge prior to spudding in its Fruitvale test well, which has encountered strong oil showings and it to be given tests for a water shut-off this week.

This company followed the same line of topography in testing its Union-avenue area south of the Bakersfield city limits, where its No. 1 well passed through a number of oil zones above 5000 feet and where its No. 2 well now is being drilled.

An important real estate transaction said to have been identified with the Shell company's release of more than 100,400 acres in the Miller & Lux agreement was the appointment last week of R. H. Anderson as exclusive agent for sale of Miller & Lux lands in the lower valley. The acreage placed under Mr. Anderson's sales jurisdiction includes the big tract involved in the Shell agreement.

Big Jim Mill Treating Ores of French Mine

PATAGONIA (Ariz.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Drifting is in progress on the 350-foot level of the Big Jim mine and much work is being done on the 150-foot level. The mill has been doing considerable custom work, including a large quantity of ore from the Trench mine. The Morning Glory has completed its main shaft, connecting with the 1000-foot tunnel, and has installed electric lighting throughout its main workings. The Homestake is being developed vigorously by Colorado capital.

F. J. Gallagher is cross-cutting from the bottom of the shaft of the January mine, lately taken over by him, and is shipping lead-silver ore. A mill is being constructed on the Tres de Mayo mine, operated by John Nuttall. Ore sampling about $20 a ton is available for stoping in a broad vein, in which has been 250 feet of drifting, down to 350 feet.

In the Rupert property, P. P. O'Neill is following a twenty-inch chloride vein in mineralized matter thirty-five feet wide. Two carloads of lead and silver ore are being shipped weekly from the old Kansas mine at Duquesne.

Work Reported Pushing Ahead at Selman Mine

The Selman mine of the Pacific Lead-Silver Mines Company of Los Angeles, located near Superior, Ariz., is now in course of intensive and systematic development, according to S. A. Ratliff, general manager, who states that the installation of sinking machinery and equipment has just been completed, and that the winze from the channel level is gaining depth rapidly.

A six-drill air compressor and air-hoisting plant are included in this equipment, besides other necessary machinery. The winze is being sunk on a body of ore six feet in width between walls, 125 feet in from the portal of the tunnel, and Manager Ratliff states it is to be sunk to a depth of 1000 feet to begin with, after which drifts and laterals will be sent out from the winze, in ore development and blocking, at intervals of 100 feet.

AMERICA AT HEAD IN OIL PRODUCTION

Output from Start Held 65 Per Cent of Total for World's Fields

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Since the beginning of the industry the United States has produced approximately 65 per cent of the aggregate world production of crude petroleum.

Totals for 1927 showed that this country produced over 70 per cent of the world's output, Mexico more than 8 per cent, and Russia about 6 per cent, according to a bulletin of the American Research Foundation.

"Imports of refined products increased seven-fold from 1920 to 1926, or from 2,916,000 barrels to 20,900,000 barrels," the bulletin states. "Both gasoline imports and exports increased during these years, but the increase for imports was much greater than for exports.

"There was a marked falling off in the proportion of small companies during the last decade from 1917 to 1927 and a large gain of intermediate and large-sized concerns. Seventeen companies had a production of crude petroleum in excess of 10,000,000 barrels each last year. Fifteen of the largest companies during 1927 purchased approximately 50 per cent of all the oil produced in America."

Weil to Speak Before Meeting of Mine Chapter

When the Southern California section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers holds its monthly dinner Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at No. 2200 West Seventh street, A. L. Weil, general counsel for the General Petroleum Corporation will deliver an address on "Something for Nothing."

He will discuss the function of the engineer in certain economic problems, and his remarks will be followed by a general discussion of the subject by several prominent oil men. It is not necessary to be a member of the section to attend its monthly dinners. Anyone who is really interested in the subject is invited to attend.

Ore Strike in Hualipai Mine District Rich

Confirming the telegraphic report that an important discovery of high-grade gold ore had been made in the property of the Kaaba M. & M. Company in the Hualipai mining district of Arizona, W. E. Little, of this city, states that the details of the strike on the 700-foot level of the mine exceeded the expectations of the company.

In a drift from the shaft at this horizon, Mr. Little says, a solid body of ore was uncovered a few days ago, fire tests of which returned values of $195 per ton in its gold content, besides appreciable values in lead and vanadium. It is too early yet, he explains, to make a correct statement as to the size of the deposit, but that it is of generous proportions has already been disclosed by development work.

The company's new 125-ton daily capacity oil flotation mill, which was placed in regular one-shift commission soon after the first of the month, with a high recovery of the assay value of the ore reported, is running satisfactorily, and by mixing the regular feed with high-grade ore from the new strike, a rich concentrate is anticipated.

Eleven New Oil Leases on File in Kern County

WASCO, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Eleven new oil agreements cover 1520 acres in Kern county in four widely separately areas, including the Edison district, Goose Lake properties, Wasco area, and parcels of land in the district midway between Wasco and the Lost Hills field.

Near Wasco, the Standard Oil Company has leased all of Sec. 21, 27-25 from L. A. Gould. Due west of Wasco, in the Goose Lake region, C. W. Wrightsman has acquired an eighty-acre lease covering the east half of the southwest quarter of Sec. 22, 27-23, and in a prospective field due north of that district, J. N. Kerwin has leased from the Inter Eucalyptus Association, 360 acres in Sec. 2 and 12, 26-22.

CRUDE OIL SHIPMENTS DROP LOW

Bulk Petroleum Exports From Harbor Last Week Total 1,612,829 Barrels

While bulk petroleum exports from Los Angeles Harbor last week totaled 1,612,829 barrels, crude oil movements fell to the ridiculously low figure of 75,418 barrels, which went to the Pacific Coast trade. Fuel oil led the list with a total of 916,856 barrels, while gasoline shipments totaled 620,545 barrels.

The Pacific domestic trade took 462,685 barrels, embracing 75,418 barrels of crude, 200,379 barrels of fuel and 186,888 barrels of gas. The Pacific foreign trade took 439,477 barrels, including 383,477 barrels of fuel and 56,000 barrels of gas.

The Atlantic domestic trade took 393,855 barrels, including 154,000 barrels of fuel and 239,652 barrels of gas. The Atlantic foreign trade called for 317,015 barrels, made up of 179,000 barrels of fuel and 138,015 barrels of gas. The shipments were listed as follows:

PACIFIC DOMESTIC

Redfast to San Diego with 22,174 barrels of gas and fuel for Union Oil Company.

F. C. T. Dodd to Seattle with 78,000 barrels of gas for Standard Oil Company.

M. Whittier to Aron with 75,418 barrels of crude for Standard Oil Company.

Redfast to San Diego with 22,174 barrels of gas and fuel for Union Oil Company.

Redfast to San Diego with 46,500 barrels of fuel for Standard Oil Company.

Redfast to Seattle with 22,500 barrels of gas and fuel for Union Oil Company.

PACIFIC FOREIGN

Calawood to Vancouver with 81,000 barrels of fuel for Union Oil Company.

Sonpaa to Melbourne with 50,000 barrels of gas for Anglo-Saxon Petroleum Company.

H. M. Storey to Hobart with 104,000 barrels of fuel for Standard Oil Company.

ATLANTIC DOMESTIC

Switlight to Fall River with 78,000 barrels of fuel for New England Oil Company.

ATLANTIC FOREIGN

San Guenting to Lenford with 98,865 barrels of gas for Anglo-Saxon Petroleum Company.

San Gerardo to Buenos Aires with 161,000 barrels of fuel for Anglo-Mexican Petroleum Company.

Activities of Importance in District Declared to Center at That Place

WICKENBURG (Ariz.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Most of the mining at Maricopa county is in the district surrounding Wickenburg. This includes extensive development of a property taken over by the American Smelting and Refining Company, the operation of a half-dozen companies in the Tonopah-Belmont district, to the southwest, much development in the Constellation section, to the eastward and a large amount of new work around Congress, to the northward, where the United Verde has taken over an extension of the old Congress. The Congress itself is being operated by the Sonora Development Company, which is milling some of the old dumps and tailings.

It is reported that the Black Hawk, which has been operated by J. W. Bandhaur of the Julian interests, has suspended operations. The Monte Cristo, which was held for about a year by Julian, is waiting the result of legal complications in Phoenix.

The Barbara Development Corporation has bonded the Mardis mine, seventeen miles northeast of Wickenburg, with expectation of installing a mill very soon. Statement is made that in the property already has been developed 275,000 tons of $9.50 ore. This same company has been operating in the Mayer section below Prescott.

SALT WATER AND GAS IN TULARE WILDCAT

DELANO, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—The Federal Exploration Company has drilled out the cement in its Kinsella No. 1 well at Tipton in Tulare county. The drillers were met with 500 barrels of salt water and 10,000 cubic feet of gas. The bottom of the hole is 5761 feet and six and one-quarter inch casing was set at 5945 feet.

GARNER ROYALTIES WANTS TO RAISE PRICE

Garner Royalties, Inc., of Long Beach has made application to the Commissioner of Corporations to increase the price of its stock from $10 par to $12.50.

STATE MINERAL OUTPUT DROPS

Decline Mainly Attributed to Petroleum

Decrease in Gold Yield of $200,000 Noted

The value of the mineral production of California for 1927 is conservatively estimated by the statistical division of the State mineralogist to have been approximately $377,205,000. This is, in part, detailed in the tabulation below; but, as there are more than fifty mineral substances on California's commercial list, it is impossible to obtain definite figures on other than the more important items.

The estimated total of $377,205,000 is a decrease of approximately $73,000,000 from the value of the 1926 production which was the highest total on record for any year in this State. The drop is due mainly to petroleum, and in smaller measure to copper, zinc, silver and lead. Although there was an increase of approximately 6,000,000 barrels in the quantity of crude oil, the total value will probably show about $65,000,000 less, owing to a sharp cut in prices effective April 16, 1927.

Receipts of bullion at the mint and smelters show a decrease in gold yield of about $200,000, compared with 1926, the drop being chargeable to the lode mines, as the dredges bettered their output of the previous year. The drop in silver yield is due to smaller shipments of copper, lead, and zinc ores. There was an increased output of about 1500 flasks of quicksilver, and the average price was $117, compared with $87.84 in 1926, quotations closing the year at $128 per flask.

Among the structural, industrial and saline groups there were no notable changes to report, with the possible exception of magnesite which showed a smaller quantity shipped, but with unit prices practically stationary.

Gold, $11,710,000; silver, $890,000; copper, $8,475,000; lead, $172,000; zinc, $518,000; quicksilver, $876,000; antimony, iron, manganese, platinum and tungsten, $850,000; petroleum, $280,000,000; natural gas, $10,000,000; cement, $24,000,000; crushed rock, sand and gravel, $18,100,000; brick and hollow tile, $6,800,000; magnesite, $464,000; granite, $1,250,000; industrial minerals, $4,500,000; salines, $5,000,000.

Mexican State Held Coming Oil Field of World

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29. (Exclusive) The territory of Lower California, still practically untouched by exploration, presents the greatest petroleum possibilities for production in the world today, according to William Marshall, F. R. G. S., one of the greatest English mineralogists, who has just completed an intensive and exhaustive study of the region.

The Lower California fields will undoubtedly be the scene of gigantic petroleum exploitation work within the near future, according to Marshall, and once drilling operations have begun, it will undoubtedly prove to be one of the richest oil sections in the world. It is surprising this work has not already been begun on a larger scale in view of the prospects, he believes, and the fields today are practically virgin.

Lapse of Many Mexican Mine Titles Shown

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 29. (Exclusive) Many Mexican mine titles, some said to be held by Americans, are reported to have lapsed at the end of 1927, and are now, under the Mexican mining law, subject to denouncement.

It is said by the Bureau of Mines that many of the properties were held merely for prospective and speculative purposes, and for that reason the slump in exploitation work is not as great as is generally believed. Low prices of metals, existing in Mexico as well as other parts of the world, hold the industry at a practically stationary point in this republic, comparing about the same with that in other nations.

OIL HUNT PLANNED WITH SEISMOGRAPH

WACO (Tex.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive) Seismograph tests are to be made by the Ryeade Oil Corporation of its big block of leases in Maverick county east of Eagle Pass, where it has two holes which reach down more than a mile. Ryeade has one of the biggest blocks assembled in Southwest Texas, about 200,000 acres. One of the deep wells of the company at a little below 5280 feet, found 28,000,000 cubic feet of gas and seventy-five barrels of oil a day.

GUN IN OIL WAR FIRED HERE

Sale to Royal Dutch Shell of Output from Naval Reserve by Honolulu Company Stirs

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—One of the major skirmishes in the struggle of nations for the world's supply of petroleum has apparently centered in California.

The incident responsible was the sale of production amounting to 3000 barrels of oil a day to the Royal Dutch Shell Company, a British organization, by the Honolulu Consolidated Oil Company of San Francisco. The Honolulu organization has contracted to deliver to Shell for five years the entire output of its wells in United States Naval Oil Reserve No. Two, in the Buena Vista Hills.

This contract, having been brought officially to the attention of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, has occasioned the appointment by him of a commission of three admirals to make inquiry into the propriety of the sale of oil, originally intended for conservation for the United States Navy, to foreign corporations.

The legality of the sale of the Honolulu company's oil to the Shell company is unquestioned. There is no clause in the lease held by the Honolulu company on the government land which limits the company in disposing of the oil it produces from the naval reserve.

It is, rather, the lack of such regulations which Secretary Wilbur seeks to overcome through the investigations of the committee of admirals. In a statement in Washington at the time he announced the appointment of the commission, Secretary Wilbur said the committee will report on the advisability of "remedial legislation" to protect naval oil reserves.

The history of the Honolulu-Shell contract reveals the conflict of modern business and the struggle of a small, independent oil company for its life. For five years the Honolulu sold its products to the Standard Oil Company of California. When that contract expired last May, the Standard did not renew it, on account of overproduction in the industry and the lack of ready markets. The Honolulu company then concluded an agreement with the Shell company, which is an extensive exporter of California oil.

The Honolulu company's operations in the Buena Vista Hills reserve, adjoining the Elk Hills reserve, have been carried on for nearly twenty years. It began operating there three years before it was declared a naval oil reserve in 1912. Many years of litigation followed the creation of the reserve.

This was finally ended in 1920, when the Honolulu and the government reached a compromise under which the company worked the lands in the reserve on a royalty basis, whereby the government received from one-eighth to one-sixth of the value of the oil produced.

The idea behind the creation of the naval oil reserves was originally the conservation of oil lands for the future use of the Navy when other sources of supply might be near the point of exhaustion. This purpose was partially vitiated, however, by development of oil lands surrounding the reserves and lands within the reserves themselves held before the creation of the reserves in fee by individuals and corporations. The owners of lands near the reserves drilled, brought in wells, and began production of oil, draining the petroleum from beneath the lands held by the Navy.

In self-protection the Navy was forced to lease its lands for development and levy royalties on the independent producers who drilled the wells.

The latest action of Secretary Wilbur seeks not only to exact royalties from these independent producers, but to limit them as to the disposition of the oil from the reserves, on the theory that this oil must be prevented from falling into the hands of a foreign power which might use the fuel against the United States in time of war.

The Honolulu-Shell contract may thus prove the point on which America's future oil policy may be defined, and may have far-reaching international ramifications, according to local experts who are familiar with the situation.

TWO COMPLETIONS

Oildale Output Increased 300 Barrels by General

OILDALE, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—The General Petroleum has added two nice producers to its string on the Sill property in the Kern River field. The new production aggregates 300 barrels daily.

The wells are No. 18 and No. 20, the former being 2236 feet deep and the latter 2097. Both are doing 300 barrels.

George F. Getty was somewhat disappointed in his Grady No. 7, which fell short of former production records of other wells and came in with only eighty barrels daily. The well was completed at 2230 feet and plugged back to 2205 feet. The Lightner No. 1, which Getty completed at 2136 feet, is doing 150 barrels.

DRILL TAPS NEW ORE IN OLD ESTATE

Strike of Twelve-Foot Ledge Assaying $15 to Ton Reported

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Discovery of a twelve-foot ledge of $15 ore in the old Mohawk mine is reported by the Operator Company. The ore was tapped by a diamond-drill operating from the 600-foot level of the Laguna shaft, and near the old Mohawk workings which produced phenomenal ore in the early days of Goldfield. More holes are being drilled to test dimensions of the deposit, and in the hope of locating extensions of veins formerly productive of high-grade ore.

A promising gold discovery on the Red Butte claim, about two miles north of Goldfield Consolidated mines, has been made by Ben Bungaglia, a prospector. At a depth of seventy-five feet a two-foot vein of $50 ore is said to be exposed, with a small seam running over $2000 per ton. The ore is said by local engineers to closely resemble that found on the Red Top mine in pioneer days. The Goldpah Mining Company has been formed by California and Nevada people to develop the holdings.

The Burney Development Company of Los Angeles, headed by E. L. Burney, has acquired the Deer group of cinnabar claims near Eureka, and commenced installation of equipment. Two retorts have been ordered, and production of quicksilver is scheduled to start within sixty days. The ore is said to sample 4 to 12 per cent quicksilver, with a large tonnage indicated.

Idaho-Maryland Head Confirms Report of Find

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Discovery of a new vein of fairly rich ore below the 2000-foot level of the Idaho-Maryland mine, near Grass Valley, has been confirmed by Errol MacBoyle, president of the company. The orebody ranges from eight to twelve feet wide, shows some free gold, and is believed by the management to extend through virgin ground to surface. MacBoyle says the discovery apparently means a new productive era of the famous mine, which has produced over $25,000,000.

The Cardinal Development, Inc., headed by E. E. Erich, manager of the Milkmaid and Mad Ox mines near Redding, has taken a lease and bond on the Brown Bear group, at French Gulch. The old mill and plant are being overhauled, new underground work undertaken, and deeper activities planned. The Brown Bear was the main support of the pioneer camp of Deadwood.

WASCO, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—With tests indicating a successful water shut-off, prospects for the Main Oil Company bringing in a highly productive gas well in its recently cleaned-out No. 2 hole near Wasco are reported as being good. The well was cemented last week and will be drilled out in a few days, according to reports from the field.

This well originally was drilled two years ago and came in a blowing gasser of large production, before it was sanded up, as did Main's No. 1 well. Oil Developments and Mining News; Stock and Bond Reports

WORK ON SHAFT HALF COMPLETE

Project at Dardanelles Mine Down 500 Feet

Water Handicap Reported at Katherine Empress

Winze in Sunnyside Opens Up Promising Ore Lead

KINGMAN (Ariz.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Work directed by H. L. McCarn has reached the halfway point in driving a new shaft on the Dardanelles property at Chloride, down to a 500-foot working level. It is proposed to make thorough development of the sulphide zone, only touched by the older workings, from which were shipments of high-grade silver-gold ore.

A strong water influx has delayed deeper working of the Katherine Empress mine, south of the Katherine, and the Yukoya Brothers, its owners, are drifting on the 100-foot level pending installation of pumps. They had planned this work into the vein at 300 feet of depth. On the upper level exploration is in a twelve-foot vein, said to carry good gold values.

Reports from the Sunnyside, at Oatman, tell of departure from the crushed zone in which a winze, now about eighty feet deep, has been sunk from the 535-foot level. The vein matter has changed from vertical to a dip to the north, which is usual in Oatman. Assays across the winze width are reported to run from $24 to $169.

Work is being pushed on timbering the new Black Eagle shaft of the Tom Reed property in Oatman. The mill is running steadily, handling about eighty tons a day of ore, most of it from Western Apex.

Results of importance are expected in the Gold Ore exploration of ground west of the Gold Road property, above Oatman. On the 300-foot level a cross-cut has been advanced about eighty feet and will be pushed through a section in which are many small croppings.

ACTIVITY IN KERN FIELD HOLDING UP

Half of New Projects Started in California Credited to District

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 29. (Exclusive) Kern county last week maintained its record of the previous week when half of the wells begun in California for the seven-day period were located in Kern county fields. Thirteen new oil wells were spudded in.

Two of the new wells are in the Goose Lake area southwest of Wasco, where the attention of petroleum and gas operators has been turned because of recent developments along Semitropic Ridge and down the slopes to the new Milham gas producers. The Southern California Gas Company is the latest concern to begin drilling there.

The well is No. 4-I on Sec. 4, 28-23. The other well in that district is the Doheny-Stone Drilling Company No. 1 on the Kerwin lease, Sec. 21, 26-22. The Milham Exploration Company is preparing to spud in its No. 3 well for gas on Sec. 6, 28-23.

In the McKittrick field Keefe, Morrison, Inc., have begun drilling the No. 8 on Sec. 8, 30-22, and in the Midway field the North American Oil Consolidated is drilling No. 7, Sec. 32, 31-24.

The Shell company has gone to the far end of the Poso Creek field, within about ten miles of Woody, to put down its next test, which is located in Corral Canyon, Sec. 16, 26-32. The Signal Gasoline Company has begun its No. 1 in the Poso field on Sec. 27, 28-27.

The Associated Oil Company has commenced three new holes in the Kern River field. These are Nos. 1, 2, 3 and 4, on Sec. 23, 28-27. Other new Kern River wells are George F. Getty, Inc., No. 3, Sec. 26, 28-27; Petroleum Securities Company No. 11, Sec. 22, 28-27, and the Brownmoor Oil Company No. 2, Sec. 16, 28-27.

While flying from Durban to Johannesburg, South Africa, to attend a race meeting, Oliver Davis, Durban Turf Club secretary, was killed in a crash of his plane.

SAN JOAQUIN OUTPUT TOLD

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Actual 1927 production figures for the oil fields of the San Joaquin Valley have just been compiled by the American Petroleum Institute. They reveal that the valley fields produced 58,791,575 barrels of oil during the year, this being a daily average of 161,072 barrels. Production by fields follows:

Midway-Sunset, 31,670,708 barrels; Elk Hills, 10,078,073; Coalinga, 7,154,-599; Kern River, 6,096,582; McKittrick, 1,855,803; Lost Hills-Belridge, 1,515,300; Wheeler Ridge, 874,734; Mt. Poso, 40,277; Round Mountain, 8700.

During December, 1927, there were 6073 wells on the producing list, which yielded an average of 187,059 barrels of oil daily, or a total for the month of 4,868,806 barrels. Production by fields for December was as follows:

Midway-Sunset, 2,507,360 barrels; Elk Hills, 742,292; Kern River, 721,-300; Coalinga, 581,926; McKittrick, 152,862; Lost Hills-Belridge, 128,761; Wheeler Ridge, 30,662; Mt. Poso, 3451.

During December there were thirty-two rigs completed and thirty-four wells were actively drilling. New wells completed numbered thirty-two and had an initial daily output of 9785 barrels, of which 4475 barrels came from the Kern River field, 776 from Poso Creek, 940 from Midway-Sunset, 312 from Lost Hills-Belridge, 128 from McKittrick and seventy-five from Coalinga.

Mining Revival Forecast for Keeler Field

It is believed that an era of increased mining activities in the mineral belt southeast of Keeler will follow the taking over of the old Santa Rosa mine, near there, by the United States Smelting and Refining Company, and for the heavy operation of which mining machinery is now being shipped in to be used in an active campaign of operation and development.

The mine was discovered and located in 1910, and soon afterward was transferred to the Santa Rosa Mining Company, under whose direction it was operated until 1921, with a production record reported at approximately $700,000 in silver, lead and copper.

The mine was taken over in 1923 by Joe Le Cyr, who has been in charge of operation and ore production until absorbed by the United States Company, and who, it is stated, remains in charge as superintendent under the new regime. The Santa Rosa group covers an area of 378 acres.

Made in 1814 and installed at a silk mill in Taunton, Eng., in 1827, a steam engine that is still supplying power, is to be replaced by an electric motor.

TWO MINES FORM PACT AT OATMAN

Boss Gold and Sunnyside Reported as Joining in Development Program

The Boss Gold Mining Company of Los Angeles, which recently purchased outright the Lucky Bill No. 1 and No. 2 mining claims in the Oatman district of Arizona, adjoining the holdings of the Sunnyside Consolidated Gold Mines Company on the southwest, has entered into a working agreement whereby the southwest cross-cut from the 550-foot level of the Sunnyside is to be extended to the sideline of the Lucky Bill group, from which point it will be continued to a contact with the Lucky Bill ledge.

With the completion of this work, at an estimated cost of $75,000, the Boss Company gains a vertical depth of 550 feet on its vein, and 600 feet of cross-cutting. As the Sunnyside Consolidated, in which discoveries of sensationally rich gold ore have been reported of late, is conducting exploratory work on and from the north cross-cut on the same level, both mining developments can be carried on without interference.

The Lucky Bill ledge, it is stated, is twenty-eight feet in width on the surface, and can be traced a distance of approximately 3000 feet on its strike. Trenching along its course, it is asserted, has revealed encouraging gold values.

Situation at New Projects in Kings Told

DELANO, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—With both projects down more than 6300 feet, the two wells now being drilled in the Kettleman Hills district of Kings county are being pushed ahead through hard sand and hard shale, according to reports from the field. Two other prospect wells in that area are standing idle, one with casing cemented.

The Millham Exploration Company has reached a depth of more than 6400 feet in its No. 1 well in Sec. 3, 22-17, and is drilling ahead in hard shale and sand. General Petroleum Corporation is going ahead at about 6350 feet in a hard brown shale on Sec. 22, 26-18, and has nine-inch pipe set at 5280 feet.

The Associated Oil Company test well in Sec. 12, 23-18 is standing idle at 2043 feet, and the Bolsa Chica Oil Company wildcat on Sec. 30, 28-19, is suspended at 8502 feet, with ten-inch casing set at 2275 feet.

Signal Gasoline to Drill Offset at Poso Creek

OILDALE, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—The Signal Gasoline Company, which recently brought in the Whiston well in Maricopa Flats, is erecting a derrick to drill an offset to the Tribe No. 1 well of the Union Oil Company in the South Poso Creek area. The Signal location is near the northwest corner of Section 27, 27-28.

Continued production tests of the Union well on the Alvin Tribe permit revealed sustained production ranging around 300 barrels a day, making the well one of the most promising new completions in the east side within recent months.

The Miocene Oil Company has rigged up for drilling a well on Sec. 34, 27-28, southeast of the Tribe well and the recently brought in Glide well of the General Petroleum Corporation.

The Shell Company has reached a depth of about 4000 feet in its well in Sec. 9, 28-32, which now is going through a hard sand, according to field reports.

NORTH DAKOTANS WILL HAVE PICNIC

Former residents of North Dakota will get together in Sycamore Grove Park on Saturday for an all-day picnic and reunion. After a basket dinner at noon, there is to be a short program, opening at 2 p.m. Tourists as well as resident Dakotans are invited, President Piannette announces.

PLACER MINING END FORECAST

Exhaustion of California Fields Within Ten Years Predicted

California's gold-dredging industry will end within eight to nine years, according to L. D. Hopfield, field manager of the Natomas Dredging Company. The Oroville field has been worked out, and dredging in the Yuba River and Folsom districts is nearing the end.

Hopfield says that twenty-two dredgers are now in commission in California, with the gold-boats in the Yuba River field, near Marysville, operating to the record depth of eighty-five feet.

INTEREST GAINING IN MINE AREA

Number of Inquiries at Tucson Largest Known in Several Years

TUCSON (Ariz.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—According to A. J. Harshberger, new head of the Chamber of Commerce department of mines, more inquiry concerning mines has been known here lately than for years in the past. A large amount of good has been done to the small mine owner by operation of the local sampling plant, and stimulation of small mining is expected on completion of the customs mill that is being erected at Sahuarita.

The offices of the Central Copper Company are to be moved from the mine, at Dos Cabezas to Tucson, according to announcement made by President T. N. McCauley. Mr. McCauley is president also of the Consolidated National Bank at Tucson and has announced that he soon will erect a $1,000,000 office building. At the mine, Manager John W. Frout, reports the opening of two new ore bodies, one averaging 10 per cent copper and the other about 3 per cent. The operating force includes 125 men.

W. I. Crawford has leased the Leroy mine at Dos Cabezas and is shipping lead-zinc ore to El Paso. Surface equipment has been transferred from the Silver Lily mine to the Empire State lead-silver property on the Ajo road, eight miles from Tucson. F. Albert Morrison of Los Angeles is head of the Paalmo Mining Company, which has started work on a lead-silver mine in the Dragoon Mountains, east of Tucson.

MINE CAMP STIRRED BY ORE STRIKE

Long History Traced of Hollywood Gold Estate in San Diego County

According to William R. MacDonald, director of the Hollywood Gold Mines Company, the recent strike on the 200-foot level of the property in the Banner district of San Diego county has created considerable excitement in the camp.

Old-timers who still live in the district and who were active when gold was the main topic fifty years ago, contend that this discovery was the objective of the Baileys, the first operators in the camp.

These men say that when the rich surface ores were mined it was agreed among four of the largest operators in the district to pool their money and drive a long tunnel to tap the Ready Relief ore shoot at depth. The work was started, but owing to the primitive methods then in use and the rapid decline of the section, the operations were soon halted.

Nearly fifty years later a syndicate of Los Angeles mining men decided to develop this property. A shaft was sunk 213 feet and a drift was started to intercept the vein at depth. When the bore had reached the 700-foot mark the entire face was filled with white quartz, heavily mineralized. The long-looked-for ore body had been found. Six feet sampled $200 a ton in gold, it is reported. Picked samples ran over $1 to the pound.

This discovery was made just two years after the new owners started seeking the rich lode that the old-timers tried to find.

DEEPER WORK REMOTE

Early Sinking on Campbell Zone by Calumet-Arizona Unlikely

BISBEE (Ariz.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive) Calumet and Arizona, according to announcement, has no plans for deeper sinking at the present time. Estimate has been made that fully ten years of work is ahead in development of the great Campbell zone, between 1800 and 2200 feet of depth.

Connection is being completed between the 1900-foot level cross-cut from the Junction shaft and the bottom of the Campbell shaft, at 1800 feet, and upraising is to be started soon from the 2200 level. The job is a slow one and probably will not be completed before next fall. A 2000-level cross-cut now is being driven from the Junction to the Campbell shaft area.

HIGH GRAVITY OIL IN SHELL EDISON WELL

EDISON, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—The Shell Oil Company tapped a reservoir of 36 gravity oil, the highest ever obtained in the East Side wells, in its Jewett No. 1 on Sec. 20, 28-29. The oil was secured from the upper zone. The hole is doing fifty barrels daily.

GERMAN BIRTH RATE DROPS

In the schools of Berlin are only 383,000 children as compared with 730,000 before the World War, and the birth rate is less than half that of fifteen years ago. This was the declaration of the Ober-Burgermaster of Berlin, speaking recently in the Prussian Council of State. He attributed the decrease in the birth rate principally to the insufficient number of houses.

COUNTRY DOGS HURT IN CITY

Country dogs taken to cities of England to become racers are swelling the number of accident victims of the Royal Veterinary College in London. While they may be fleet enough on the track they are too slow for city traffic ways. Breeders say they have no traffic sense whatever, and unless carefully watched will surely get into trouble.

SIBERIA HAS FROZEN MILK

Siberia, as well as America, has frozen milk, according to recent disclosures, but the Asiatic country has the lacteal fluid refrigerated all the year round. For convenience the natives let it freeze around a stick, which serves as a handle to carry it. "Don't break the milk," is an admonition of Irkutsk parents to their children.

BOXING AT LUNCHEON

Boxing matches were served between courses at a luncheon given to a number of sporting men in Paris by a prominent figure in the pugilistic world. The table was in the form of a horseshoe, the center forming a ring. Here, with each course, was given a boxing contest, representing a period in the history of the sport.

Arizona Metal Values of 1927 Show Decline

PHOENIX, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—According to a preliminary estimate of the United States Bureau of Mines, Arizona in 1927 had a production value of $100,027,100 in gold, silver, copper and lead and zinc. There was a material decrease in the quantity of metal produced and also in the product prices. Despite this decrease, dividends were reported of $17,893,401, mainly from the larger copper mines, beside $3,000,000 paid by the Phelps Dodge Corporation, which operates mines also in Mexico and New Mexico.

There was consideration of the profits attending operation of the Ray branch of the Nevada Consolidated Copper Company, which has mines also in Nevada and New Mexico. The restriction in copper production, affects also the gold and silver production, for both these precious metals are carried in material pro portion by the ores of most of the large mines. The gold output for the year is estimated at $4,183,800.

Fox St. Louis Theatre Building

THEATRE REALTY COMPANY

First Mortgage Fee and Leasehold 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Due October 1, 1942

Price 100 and Interest

Dated October 1, 1927. Principal and interest will be payable at the office of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Fiscal Agent, in New York and Chicago. Interest will be payable October 1 and April 1, without deduction for the Federal normal income tax, not in excess of 2% per annum. Bonds will be issued in coupon form in interchangeable denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100, registrable as to principal only.

A letter of Mr. Jack G. Lee, Vice-President of Theatre Realty Company, is summarized as follows:

Location: The Theatre Realty Company, a wholly owned subsidiary (except for Directors' qualifying shares) of the Fox Theatres Corporation, has acquired real estate and leaseholds covering together the property having a frontage of 244 feet on the westerly side of Grand Boulevard and 360 feet on the southerly side of Washington Boulevard in St. Louis, Missouri. The plot embraces approximately 87,600 square feet, of which about 44,300 are owned in fee and the balance under a 99-year lease, having not less than 80 years to run. Upon a portion of these premises is located the six-story Humboldt Building containing stores and professional offices. Upon the balance of the premises, with the exception of a 50 foot strip in the rear of Grand Boulevard, the Theatre Realty Company is erecting the Fox St. Louis Theatre Building. The theatre will contain approximately 5,000 seats.

Security: These Bonds are secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first (closed) mortgage on the land owned in fee, the leasehold estate, the theatre building to be constructed thereon and on the completed Humboldt Building, more fully described in the Indenture, subject only to certain short term leases which affect portions of the Humboldt Building. On the basis of minimum appraisals of the land and theatre building, when completed and equipped, to be constructed thereon and of the Humboldt Building totalling $7,501,000, these Bonds represent less than a sixty-one per cent loan.

The proceeds from the sale of these Bonds have been deposited as a trust fund with the Trustee as depositary. All funds disbursed by the Trustee for construction costs and carrying charges will be paid to the Theatre Realty Company only upon presentation of certificates of the architect and certified to by the supervising architect for the Bankers.

Net Lease: The Fox Theatres Corporation has agreed to lease the property to be covered by the Mortgage for a period beginning with the completion of the building (in any event not later than September 1, 1928) and extending five years beyond the maturity of the Bonds, at an annual net rental to the lessor of $591,500, the lessee to pay in addition as rental, all the ground rents, taxes, assessments, insurance, maintenance and operating cost on account of said property. Such rental payments will constitute an operating charge of the Fox Theatres Corporation. The maximum annual charges for interest on these Bonds will be $295,750 and for principal and interest combined $478,807.

Sinking Fund: The Mortgage provides for a sinking fund beginning April 1, 1931 and ending April 1, 1942, operating through Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Fiscal Agent, to retire Bonds semi-annually at a rate sufficient to redeem $2,458,500 principal amount by April 1, 1942.

Completion Guaranty: If the funds received by the Theatre Realty Company through the sale of these Bonds and deposited with the Trustee as depositary are not sufficient to defray the cost of erection and equipment of the Fox St. Louis Theatre Building and the carrying charges until the completion thereof, the Fox Theatres Corporation has agreed to pay promptly any such deficit.

Earnings: The principal executives of the Fox Theatres Corporation estimate that the annual gross income from the property to be leased, applicable to the payment of the charges under the net lease, will be $1,339,850, and that the net profits, available for depreciation and Federal taxes, accruing to the Fox Theatres Corporation through the operation of the Fox St. Louis Theatre Building after operating expenses, taxes, insurance and rentals (including the annual net rental under the terms of the net lease of $591,500), will be $614,350.

Management: The Fox Theatres Corporation and its subsidiaries, including the Theatre Realty Company, Lessor, are controlled and managed by William Fox and associates, men of long experience in the motion picture business.

Last-Minute News From Petroleum Fields and Marts of Trade

OPERATIONS AT SEACLIFF TOLD

Discovery Well Completed by Pan American

Output Placed at About 800 Barrels Daily

Standard Starts Drilling on Two Projects

The Pan American Petroleum Company's completion of its discovery well in the Seacliff field as the fifth producing well in the field was the principal development of the newest producing district of California during the past week. Hobson-State No. 1 drilled to 3200 feet six months ago, which has been recemented, plugged, bridged, and finally recased, in a succession of experiments to discover the source of the water trouble, began flowing at the rate of about 800 barrels a day, clean oil. Apparently the water trouble was due to defective casing, which was taken out of the hole and replaced.

Pan American and the Chanslor-Canfield Midway Oil Company are both due for new wells at Seacliff this week, and the Miley Oil Company has one that may be completed.

The Standard Oil Company began its first actual drilling last week, and has two wells going down on its Southern Pacific lease, which extends along the railway right of way cutting almost directly through the heart of the field.

The General Petroleum Corporation is putting the finishing touches on its eight-inch pipe line, connecting the Seacliff field with the main trunk line at the Ventura-avenue field. This line is about ten miles long and is the first one for Seacliff. It parallels the State highway nearly all the way.

SCOTCHMAN PAYS MAN'S FINE

Insisting that he was morally responsible, a Scotchman paid the fine of a Irish laborer, charged recently in a London police court with being drunk and disorderly. The Irishman struggled and fought all the way to the police station, and civilians who rendered aid were thanked by the magistrates.

ROMAN RELICS NEAR COLOGNE

Still in excellent condition, a system of concrete pipes, which had been installed by the Romans, has been found near Cologne, Germany. The system was installed about 80 A.D. to supply water from the Eifel Mountains to Colonia Agrippa—the present Cologne.

PIPE LINE INTO SEA FOUGHT

AUSTIN (Tex.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—On the grounds that the laying of sea-loading oil-pipe lines from the Port of Ingleside into the Gulf of Mexico by the Humble Oil and Refining Company would do injury to marine life of the coastal waters because of oil leakage and would throw out of employment large numbers of dock workers who would be employed if the oil was loaded on tank steamships at the docks, formal protest against the construction of floating pipe lines has been made to Atty.-Gen. Claude Pollard by Judge A. J. Bell of San Antonio, representing the complaining interests. Another basis for the protest is that the pipe lines have no permit to cross Corpus Christi Bay and Mustang Island, which the State owns.

Bell said that by extending oil pipe lines into the gulf the tonnage will be taken away from the ports and that if the system is found to be successful at Ingleside it will be installed at Texas City, Houston, Port Arthur, Sabine Pass and other gulf terminals of oil-pipe lines to the detriment of the ports.

According to Bell, the Humble Oil and Refining Company already has assembled the materials and is about ready to start laying two ten-inch pipe lines into the gulf.

Loading berths are to be installed in the waters of the gulf off Mustang Island, Bell said, and the pipe lines would there feed oil into the holds of the ships without a barrel of it ever passing through a Texas port. He said the company now has a pipe line from the McCamey fields to Ingleside, which is handling 60,000 barrels of oil every twenty-four hours, and the plan is to tap this line behind Ingleside and run it up the beach a short distance and then take it out to the waters of the gulf.

GETTING AWAY FROM "ULT" STYLE

Writers' of business letters have been scolded so often for "ult," and "inst." and "prox" and "begging to acknowledge," and so much of modern business is so anxious to establish itself as a profession rather than a career, that it would be almost a miracle of incomprehension if there was not a strong movement away from the old set forms of commercial correspondence.

It is a very desirable movement and a very proper movement; as one of the authorities who has been interviewed says, "the whole art of letter writing lies in being as natural as possible," and set forms are never natural.

At the same time they often have their uses, and, though one may rejoice to see them left behind and newer conventions created to take their places, it is worth remembering that they once meant something, and perhaps attempted to mean a great deal.

At their best "ult." and "inst." and "prox." which are abbreviations of Latin words, were at least a respectful touch of the hat to the old tradition of the clerk as scholar. They are jargon now and we are well rid of them, but they were once good manners and they were meant to please and impress their reader.

Some one who has now been interviewed asks coldly: "Why call a letter 'a favor'?" Why indeed at the present time? But Pepys called a letter from the Duke of York a favor, as he very truly considered it to be, and that usage was polite rather than a commercial form for long after his day. The commercial usage of later days madeall letters "favors" and debased the currency, but the fault was that of trying to be too polite and on too many occasions.

This much-criticised "commercial English" is really an example of the old truth that the good manners of one generation are the bad manners of the next, or the next but one, and it is not quite fair or historical to represent it as nothing more than the wicked outcome of a modern desire to pollute the well of undefiled English.—[From the Manchester Guardian.

WOMEN OF JAPAN WILL VOTE

That suffrage in Japan will be extended to women by 1940, is the prediction made by Prof. Kenzo Takayanagi of the Law School of Tokyo in a recent lecture He based his prognostication on the history of the rapid modernization of Japan's legal system.

CLERK FOOTBALLER-SINGER

T. E. McCracken, who won an Irish amateur international prize for Association football, is a subway ticket agent in London. He is also noted locally as a singer, and appears at concerts and Masonic events two or three times a week. He sings in Italian and English.

CRUSOE ISLAND FRUITFUL

Juan Fernandes Island, on which Alexander Selkirk, the reputed original of Robinson Crusoe, lived for four years, is one of the most fruitful spots in South America, according to a recent survey. Every known plant seems to grow there. One Frenchman who was shipwrecked there forty years ago refuses to leave.

European experts say that it is possible to feed a man sufficiently to maintain life by massaging him with a mixture of fat, protein, sugar and other ingredients.

REVERT MINING GETS OIL TRACT

Perpetual Rights Deeded on Mattole Structure

Preparations Under Way for Drilling First Well

Land Located Near Scene of Previous Ventures

EUREKA, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—The Revert Mining Company, headed by Jerome F. Lyon, of Los Angeles, formerly an executive field officer of the Standard and Union Oil companies, has been deeded perpetual gas and oil rights to 640 acres on the Mattole structure, forty-five miles south of Eureka. Rotary equipment is being installed, and a 130-foot derrick erected.

The acreage held by Revert Mining Company lies between two shallow wells drilled by the North Counties Oil Company. At a depth of 2000 feet the No. 1 well is said to have an estimated flow of 350 barrels, the oil being of paraffin base and 43 deg. gravity. Two adjacent gas wells have produced steadily thirty-six years.

The Mattole structure exists in Southern Humboldt county, is said to be thirty miles long and about three miles wide. It first claimed interest when Leland Stanford made an attempt to drill for oil in California. Geologists say the field is somewhat promising, but that past efforts to develop commercial wells there were handicapped by inadequate equipment.

The company has established a modern camp, erected a warehouse and machine shops, and purchased a fleet of motor trucks and trailers.

DUBLIN HAS MUCH DISTRESS

To relieve the distress caused by the great number of unemployed in the city, Dublin, Ireland, has voted $50,000. A road extension scheme has given work to 325, but neither money nor employment is available to absorb all unemployment. Those with dependents are being given first consideration.

BIBICAL SHIELD IN CHARM

Mahzel, a device taken from the shield of David, and which has been carried by devout Jews for 5500 years, is being commercialised in Europe as a lucky charm. The fad started when it was told that Levine had the sign on his airplane when he flew the Atlantic. Mahzel also appears on the Ark in all synagogues.

TWO WELLS COMPLETED AT ARTESIA

Compton No. 4 on Mann Permit Reported Most Important Project

ARTESIA (N. M.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Two new wells in the Artesia field were added to the list of producers during the week. The most important of the two is Compton No. 4 on the Mann permit, Sec. 4, 18-27, a westward extension of the field. Two sands were found in this test which was drilled to a depth of 2295 feet, in addition to a gas sand estimated to be making 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas.

The first oil sand was encountered from 1975 to 1980 feet and the last from 2260 to 2300 feet. The latter sand was recently shot. The oil coming from the lower formation filled the hole with twenty-five barrels of fluid in twelve hours.

The other well is Levers Carper No. 5 on Sec. 3, 18-28. It was given a shot from 2777 to 2796 feet. Cleaning out operations are still under way and little is known as to its potential production.

One well in Chaves county, the Manhattan Arena No. 1 on Sec. 18, 13-31 has reached an interesting depth and will be closely watched for the next few hundred feet. It is drilling below 2340 feet, after passing two oil showings between 1800 and 1900 feet. The deep test of the Berrendo Oil and Gas Company on Sec. 5, 10-27, is expected to spud within the next few days.

In northern Lea county, the Midwest Oil Company had the misfortune to lose a rig by fire. Workmen are rebuilding the rig over the location on Sec. 9, 19-38.

South of the Artesia field the Ada Nicholas No. 1 of the George F. Getty, Inc., on Sec. 35, 20-29, is nearing the level expected around 1880 feet. There is much speculation as to the probable production of this well. It is generally thought that the chances are better for obtaining big production in the Ada Nichols No. 1, than was found in either of the two wells previously drilled in that area.

In addition to one other test, located last week in the Getty sector, the Snowden McSweeney interests have made a location for a shallow test on Sec. 35, 20-29.

Although born twelve years ago without fingers or thumbs, Caroline Rivett of Bermondsey, Eng., has learned to write and to do fancy lettering and embroidery from her own original designs.

DAILY PRODUCTION OF OIL INCREASES

The American Petroleum Institute estimates that the daily average gross crude-oil production in the United States for the week ended the 21st inst. was 2,380,900 barrels, as compared with 2,373,100 barrels for the preceding week, an increase of 7800 barrels. The daily average production east of California was 1,794,300 barrels, as compared with 1,787,500 barrels, an increase of 6800 barrels.

Redeemable at any time in whole or in part on 30 days' notice at 103½ and accrued interest if redeemed prior to February 1, 1934, with successive reductions in the redemption price of ¼ of 1% on February 1, 1934 and on each February 1 thereafter to and including February 1, 1947, upon and after which date the redemption price shall be the principal amount and accrued interest.

THE EQUITABLE TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, Trustee.

The Indenture will provide for a semi-annual Purchase Fund commencing August 1, 1929, in amount sufficient to redeem 1⅓% of the total principal amount of Debentures of this series which shall have been theretofore issued, to be applied to the purchase of Debentures of this series if obtainable at or below the current redemption price or to the redemption thereof if not so obtainable. In lieu of cash the Company may tender Debentures of this series, at the current redemption price.

Information regarding the Company and this issue of Debentures is set forth in a letter from Mr. Thomas H. McInnerney, President of the Company, copies of which may be had from the undersigned upon request. Mr. McInnerney has summarized in part his letter as follows:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS

National Dairy Products Corporation, since its incorporation in Delaware in December, 1923, has acquired (either directly or through subsidiaries) companies engaged in the milk, ice cream and dairy products business in many cities, including the following:

New York	Sheffield Farms Company, Inc.
"	Breyer Ice Cream Company, Inc.
"	Hydrox Ice Cream Company, Inc.
Chicago	*Hydrox Corporation
"	Chapell Ice Cream Company, Inc.
"	Consolidated Buttermilk Corporation
Philadelphia	Breyer Ice Cream Company
"	Supplee-Wills-Jones Milk Company
Pittsburgh	Rieck-McJunkin Dairy Company
Milwaukee	Luick Ice Cream Company
Newark	The J. T. Castles Ice Cream Company
Kansas City	The Franklin Ice Cream Corporation
Memphis	Clover Farm Dairy Company
Omaha	*Harding Cream Company
Nashville	Nashville Pure Milk Company

73.7% of common stock owned.

The business of the Company and its subsidiaries includes the wholesale and retail distribution of milk, cream, butter and other dairy products, and the manufacture and wholesale distribution of ice cream, beverages, condensed milk, butter, semi-solid buttermilk, dried buttermilk, milk powder, milk sugar, casein, and other milk by-products.

ASSETS

The consolidated balance sheet as at November 30, 1927, prepared from the books of the Company and its subsidiaries by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co. (subject to completion of the examination now in progress), after giving effect to this financing and the transactions incident thereto, shows consolidated net tangible assets of $70,268,564.49, or equivalent to more than $2,000 for each $1,000 Debenture. The market value of the outstanding preferred and common stocks of National Dairy Products Corporation, based on current quotations, amounts to approximately $110,000,000.

SALES AND PROFITS

The combined net sales and net profits from operations of the Company and all its present subsidiaries (including earnings during 1925 and 1926 of an additional business presently to be acquired), after all charges (including ample depreciation) except Federal income taxes and interest on consolidated funded debt and dividends on preferred stocks of subsidiary companies to be retired, and after deducting the proportion of profits applicable to minority common stock holdings of subsidiaries, but before interest on this issue of Debentures, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., have been as follows:

1925	138,121,575.54	12,133,227.59	6.60
1926	143,930,548.41	14,413,595.90	7.84

The corresponding figures for the year ended December 31, 1927, based on the figures as shown by the books to November 30, 1927 (subject to completion of the examination now in progress) and as estimated by the management for the month of December, are as follows:

1927	$152,350,000.00	$14,575,000.00	7.93

The annual average of such net profits for the 4 years ended December 31, 1927 amounted to $12,637,572, or 6.87 times the interest requirements on this issue of Debentures.

PURPOSE AND INDENTURE

These Debentures will be the direct obligations of the Company and will constitute its sole consolidated funded indebtedness presently to be outstanding in the hands of the public, except for certain indebtedness of subsidiaries, funds for the acquisition or retirement of which are to be provided from the proceeds of this issue. The balance of the proceeds will be used to acquire or retire the entire preferred stocks of subsidiaries, to pay in part for certain additional assets, and to increase working capital. Additional Debentures of this series or of other series may be issued subject to certain restrictions to be set forth in the Indenture. Certain terms and provisions of the Indenture may be modified with the consent of the holders of not less than 80% of the outstanding Debentures.

The Company has agreed to make application in due course to list these Debentures on the New York Stock Exchange.

A portion of these Debentures has been reserved for exchange for subsidiary companies' funded debt and preferred stocks and to pay in part for certain additional assets. We offer the balance at

99 and accrued interest, to yield about 5.33%

The National Dairy Products Corporation 6% Collateral Trust Notes, which have been called for redemption on March 28, 1928, at 103½ and accrued interest, will be accepted in payment for these Debentures on a 4½% discount basis computed on the redemption price from date of delivery to date of redemption, provided notice of the amount of such notes to be tendered in payment is received not less than five days prior to the date fixed for delivery and payment for these Debentures.

This offering is made subject to allotment or prior sale and in all respects when, as and if issued, and accepted by us and subject to the approval of Messrs. Sullivan & Cromwell. We reserve the right to reject any and all subscriptions in whole or in part. It is expected that delivery of temporary Debentures or interim receipts will be made on or about February 13, 1928, at the office of Goldman, Sachs & Co., 30 Pine Street, New York, against payment therefor in New York funds.

First Mortgage Hydro-Electric 6½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Series A

To be Dated February 1, 1928 To Mature February 1, 1953

Sinking Fund Calculated to Retire Entire Issue by Maturity

Interest payable February 1 and August 1. Principal and interest payable in United States gold coin at the office of W. A. Harriman & Co., New York City, without deduction for any taxes, present or future, levied by or within the Kingdom of Italy. Redeemable on any interest date, as a whole or in part, on sixty days published notice, except for Sinking Fund, as follows: at 103 up to and including February 1, 1933; thereafter at 102 up to and including February 1, 1938; thereafter at 101 up to and including February 1, 1943; thereafter at 100. Coupon Bonds in the denomination of $1,000, registerable as to principal only. Harris Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago, Illinois, Trustee.

Cav. di Gr. Cr. Attilio Odero and Gr. Uff. Arturo Bocciardo, respectively President and Managing Director of the Company, summarize in part their letter to us, copies of which will be furnished upon request:

GENERAL: Terni-Societa per l'Industria e l'Elettricita, organized in 1884 and well known throughout Europe as "Terni," owns and operates extensive hydro-electric and industrial properties which place it among the foremost Italian business enterprises.

HYDRO-ELECTRIC PROPERTIES: The properties now in operation include four hydro-electric power stations located in the Apennine Mountains about sixty miles northeast of Rome, having a combined generating capacity of 86,200 kw., and reserve equipment with a capacity of 6,800 kw.

To provide adequate reserve facilities for its present business and also to meet the increasing demand for current, the Company is building a new hydro-electric plant which will have an initial generating capacity of 105,000 kw. and in addition, a subsidiary company, Societa Elettrica dell' Alto Nera, which is over 98% owned, has under construction a plant with an initial generating capacity of 9,000 kw. The initial installations of both plants are expected to be completed and in operation on or before September 30, 1928.

SECURITY: These Bonds, in the opinion of counsel, will be a direct obligation of Terni-Societa per l'Industria e l'Elettricita, secured by First Mortgage on the Company's hydro-electric properties described above, including the new work under construction, subject only to the lien securing Lire 48,660,351 ($2,561,071) principal amount of existing funded indebtedness. The Company will covenant with the Trustee to retire such indebtedness by August 10, 1928, and for this purpose will deposit a sufficient sum in lire with Banca Commerciale Italiana, Milan. The Bonds will be further secured by First Mortgage on the hydro-electric plant now being constructed by Societa Elettrica dell' Alto Nera. The engineer who has valued the properties has estimated that it will require at present prices $2,000,000 for the additional work necessary to complete the new plants. Of this amount $1,597,000 will be deposited with Banca Commerciale Italiana Trust Company, New York, for such purpose and the balance is represented by advance payments made by the Company on machinery for these plants.

Additional Bonds not to exceed $13,000,000 may be issued in one or more other series which may vary as to date, interest, rate, denominations, maturities, redemption provisions, etc., under certain restrictions to be provided in the Indenture and summarized in part in the above mentioned letter.

EARNINGS: Consolidated earnings of the Company and subsidiaries for the years ended December 31, 1924 to 1926, after operating expenses of the parent Company, operating expenses and all other charges of subsidiaries and the deduction of earnings of subsidiaries applicable to minority interests, but before interest, income taxes, directors' participations, statutory reserves and depreciation of the parent Company, as certified by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co. (converted into dollars at the approximate average rates of exchange for those periods) have been as follows:

On the basis of earnings for the first six months of 1927, as prepared by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co. without complete verification, the Company estimates that earnings for the entire year 1927 compare favorably to the above were in excess of $2,000,000, or over 2½ times the maximum annual interest charges of about $790,000 on its entire funded debt to be presently outstanding, including these $12,000,000 Series A Bonds.

These Bonds are offered when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of our counsel, Messrs. Sullivan and Cromwell, New York, except as to matters of Italian law which will be passed upon by Att. Roberto Pozzi, Milan. The books of the Company and of its subsidiaries for the years 1924-26 and the first six months of 1927 have been examined by Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co. Except as otherwise stated, conversions from lire into dollars have been made at the rate of 1 lire to $1.06. It is expected that temporary Bonds or interim receipts will be ready for delivery on or about February 15, 1928.

WE RECOMMEND THESE BONDS FOR INVESTMENT

NEWSPAPER OF HAWAII TO SUSPEND

Publication Requiring but Twelve Letters of Alphabet to Print to Discontinue

HONOLULU (T. H.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Kuokoa, one of the most novel newspapers printed in the United States, using just twelve letters of the alphabet, will be discontinued this year.

Printed in the native language of Hawaii since 1861, Kuokoa was with one exception the oldest general newspaper printed in these islands. For many years it had a circulation unequaled by any other newspaper published in Hawaii.

There are just twelve letters necessary to write the musical language of the Hawaiians, which was only a spoken language until the coming of missionaries, who put the island tongue in writing.

The Hawaiians still use their native language in talking to one another, in their songs and ceremonials, but as they all learned to use English as fluently as Hawaiian, the circulation of Kuokoa dropped off.

SERVE ALSO IN PEACE AS IN WARTIME

World War Veterans to Advertise Legion Spirit in Nation-Wide Ceremony

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—California World War veterans will participate in a nation-wide ceremony on February 1, the purpose of which is to call the attention of the American people in a vivid way through the display of billboard posters the real spirit of the American Legion, that of service to America in peace as well as in war.

Seventeen thousand billboards in all parts of the United States will carry the message of the Legion, "In Peace, As in War, We Serve." The poster to be displayed was chosen in a nation-wide competition during the past year by the "Forty and Eight" society, the playboys of the American Legion.

In San Francisco a huge billboard is to be erected in the Civic Center and Mayor James Rolph, Jr., will officiate at the unveiling ceremonies. In Los Angeles Lieut.-Gov. Buron Fitts and John R. Quinn, former State and national commander of the Legion, will participate in the unveiling ceremonies which are under the direction of State Adjutant James K. Fisk of the Legion here.

California Pines Thrive in Africa

LONDON, Jan. 29. (AP)—California pines do exceptionally well in South Africa. A certain species of pine introduced from the Great Bear State has grown so rapidly in its new environment that it has attained a height of 130 feet at eleven years of age.

In an account of a recent tour of South Africa, Map. Strang Steel, M. P., in the Empire Forestry Journal, says the Union government has decided to plant 10,000 acres of trees annually, in its new scheme of afforestation, many of which will be California pines.

In New Zealand the government is continuing experiments which may result in the afforestation of 5,000,000 acres of semiwaste land in the next twenty-five years. If this program should prove possible of execution the Dominion, instead of having to import large quantities of timber, as at present from the Pacific Coast of the United States and elsewhere, may eventually have a fair surplus for export, Maj. Steel predicts.

Johnson to Ask Telephone Quiz

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—A resolution proposing an investigation into the relationship of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and its subsidiaries has been prepared by Senator Johnson, Republican, of California.

If the opportunity arises, he said tonight, he will offer it in the Senate tomorrow.

The resolution, he added, was drawn at the instance of the municipalities of California, and while it would touch principally the make-up of the company in that State, Senator Johnson said the fact that inquiry would be made of the relationship of its various subsidiaries necessarily would carry the investigation outside of the State.

Capper Launches Boom for Curtis

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—The candidacy of Senator Curtis of Kansas for the Republican Presidential nomination was put forward today by Senator Capper of that State in connection with the Kansas Day celebrations to be held tomorrow.

"The Kansas feeling," Senator Capper said, "is that the country needs a westerner for President. Affairs are now shaping themselves to the point where the country may realize and voice that demand when the Republican convention meets in Kansas City next June.

"Kansas is convinced that Senator Charles Curtis would be a logical, popular and altogether fitting candidate for the Republican party to nominate."

LUMBER EXPORTED

PORT ARTHUR (Tex.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Total value of exports of the Sabine district through Port Arthur, Beaumont, Orange and Sabine during the yea. 1927 was $62,490,266. The exports consisted principally of lumber and oil. During the last half year, from July 1 to December 31, the value of exports increased by $3,343,338 over the preceding six months.

RED JAILING OF SKALSKI STIRS POLES

Gigantic Meetings Have Been Called to Protest Sentencing of Priest

WARSAW, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—Gigantic meetings have been called throughout Poland to protest against the condemnation of the Polish Catholic prelate, Bishop Skalski, whom Moscow sentenced to ten years in jail, charging him with espionage and helping suspected Poles to flee from Russian authorities.

Polish papers assert that the priest was sentenced to Solovetski Island, where no man has been able to survive two years. They add that of the 200 Polish Catholic priests living in Russia, seventy are in jail under similar circumstances.

The meetings will demand that the Polish diplomats who are in Moscow at present, postpone the negotiations for a Russo-Polish trade agreement until the Russians agree to exchange Bishop Skalski and and other members of the Polish clergy for Red agitators Poland holds in jail. Poland has 133 Communists under lock, who are to be tried for high treason and espionage at Bialystoke early in February, and it is willing to liberate a few of them in exchange for Bishop Skalski and the others.

Woman Pickled Drinking Vinegar

SHREWSBURY (Eng.) Jan. 29. (AP) Literally pickled alive, a woman who for thirty years drank a pint and a half of vinegar a day, has died in Salop Infirmary weighing thirty-eight pounds.

Dr. D. A. Urquhart, who attended the woman recently, said that she never ate anything without washing it down with vinegar. At one time she weighed 112 pounds, but when the doctor was called she had taken no solid food for five weeks, drinking only vinegar, and weighed thirty-eight pounds.

The Coroner's verdict was death from chronic intoxication—the intoxicant being commercial vinegar.

Moscow Officials Assert Story of Shells Flying in Capital "Sheer Fiction"

MOSCOW, Jan. 29. (AP)—Reports in Riga that there had been a military uprising in Moscow were declared by officials to be "sheer fiction" and probably due to press dispatches telling of the shortage of staple supplies in the Russian capital.

Today, as every day since Leon Trotsky and his associates were exiled, the daily life of citizens went on in the usual channels, theaters and film houses were crowded and the Kremlin was not the target of any shells.

The only soldiers seen were in the parks surrounded the buildings and these were on Sunday leave, cracking sunflower seeds while flirting with gigging lassies out for a Sunday stroll.

Guard Against With Mustero

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. To prevent these ills use Mustero.

Mustero relieves the cold and stimulates circulation. It has the qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingling, healing ointment penetrating to the seat of the cold; then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Mustero handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Mustero is also made in milder form for use on small children. Ask for Children's Mustero.

CRASHES MAY PROVE FATAL

Girl, Woman and Man Seriously Hurt in Traffic Accidents as Police Arrest Several

While relentless enforcement of the traffic laws by police resulted in the arrest of two persons on charges of driving while intoxicated and one for failing to stop after an accident, figures on the debit side of the ledger were increased by the possibly fatal injuring of a small girl, an elderly man and woman, and minor hurts to several other persons yesterday. Total fatalities since the 1st inst. remained at 50.

Geraldine McGuire, 6 years of age, 2923 Altura street, was struck down at Daly street and Broadway by an automobile driven by W. G. Dinnis of 134 South Avenue 64, according to police. She was given emergency treatment at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for a basal skull fracture and later removed to the General Hospital. Her condition is said to be critical.

Struck down by an automobile at Seventh and Hope streets a woman, believed to be Mrs. Mattie Bickson, about 65, of Seal Beach, suffered concussion of the brain, severe bruises and shock. Because of her age her condition is considered critical. The car was driven by E. B. Johnstone of 3481 Cochran avenue, police reported.

OCTOGENARIAN STRUCK

J. Frank Haveiton, 83, 1632 South Flower street, sustained a fractured left leg and severe shock when he was struck by an automobile driven by R. R. Ray of 116 East Santa Barbara avenue, according to another police report. The accident occurred at Seventh street and Westlake avenue.

Jesus Mendosa, 6, sustained a broken left leg when he was hit by an automobile at Macy and Date streets. The car was driven by Mike Summonds of 1601 Donaldson street, police reported. The boy was given emergency treatment at the Receiving Hospital and then transferred to the General Hospital.

Following a collision between an automobile in which three sailors from the U.S.S. Mississippi were riding, and a Burr Creamery truck at Ninth street and Maple avenue, the sailors were arrested and placed in the City Jail. Clifford Hostetler, 21, driver of the car, was booked on suspicion of grand theft of the automobile and failing to stop after an accident. A. R. Mabe, 22, and Raphael Bardinelli, 22, his companions, were booked on suspicion of grand theft.

DAIRY MAN HURT

L. A. Hobby, 43, 5428 Fourth avenue, driver of the creamery truck, was taken to the Receiving Hospital for slight injuries. Witnesses told police the car the sailors were in struck the truck while traveling at a high rate of speed. The sailors were thrown out of the car but were not seriously hurt.

Kenneth Kershaw, 28, 1631 West Twelfth street, was arrested on suspicion of grand theft and driving while intoxicated. He was taken into custody at Sunset Boulevard and Cahuenga avenue by Officers Cork and Christopher, who report him driving in a reckless manner.

Robert Hodgson, 34, who gave his occupation as a jeweler, 2003 Beverly Boulevard, was booked at the City Jail on suspicion of driving while intoxicated and for possession and transportation of liquor in violation of the Wright Act. Officers Cobbler and Elliott made the arrest at Florence avenue and Figueroa street.

CANDIDACY ANNOUNCED BY LICKLEY

City Prosecutor Enters District Attorney Race and Gives Platform

Dr. E. J. Lickley, City Prosecutor, yesterday announced he will be a candidate for District Attorney of Los Angeles county at the primary election August 28, next, to succeed Asa Keyes, incumbent District Attorney.

Dr. Lickley, appointed City Prosecutor by Mayor Cryer about a year ago while he was a deputy in Dist.-Atty. Keyes's office, declared he will pledge himself "to a fair and impartial administration of justice" if elected.

The planks in his announced platform include speedy prosecution of crime; a campaign against "bootleg barons;" elimination of slot machines as gambling devices and eradication of commercialized vice throughout the county.

"If elected," Dr. Lickley said, "my entire thought and undivided effort shall be devoted to the full and fearless discharge of all the important duties of the office of District Attorney of this county."

Many Witnesses Yet to be Heard in Lewis Trial

About thirty-five more government witnesses are to be heard in the trial of E. G. Lewis, promoter of the Atascadero project and various oil-drilling enterprises, and two of his associates, all of whom now are being tried before a jury in United States District Judge McCormick's court. The trial will be resumed tomorrow. The other defendants on trial are Maj. H. G. Kramer, inventor of a medicinal tablet and once rated as wealthy, and William Ahrens.

Both Lewis, once a millionaire, and Kramer are conducting their own defense, saying they cannot afford an attorney. It is charged that Lewis and his associates used the mails to defraud by representing to investors that they would make from 100 to 800 per cent profit by investing in oil-drilling projects, and that they would receive big bonuses, as well as interests in the Atascadero project. These promises were not fulfilled, it is charged.

HIGH SCHOOL SEEKS RECORD

Oratory Contest Mark in Number of Entries for Elimination Meet Roosevelt Teacher's Aim

Roosevelt High School, it was learned yesterday from Miss Ella Ludwig, head of the civics department, expects this year to establish a record for the number of orations written by the students of a single institution for the National Oratorical Contest.

Miss Ludwig reported that during the semester just being brought to a close 166 orations were written by her civics classes and that she expects approximately 200 more to be written during the next semester. Thirty of the best orations already written will be entered in the high school elimination meet along with thirty of the best written during the coming semester, she said.

COACHING PLANNED

The students will be coached for the oral presentation of their orations by Miss Virginia Powell, head of the department of public speech. Miss Ludwig and Miss Powell are hopeful this year of placing a Roosevelt High School orator among the national winners.

Miss Ludwig is requiring the students in her civics classes each year to make an intensive study of the Constitution, believing that until they have a thorough knowledge of that document and the men and conditions that brought it into being they cannot appreciate the full significance of the fundamental law of the United States and the laws framed subsequent to the adoption of the Constitution.

AIMS EXPLAINED

She said yesterday that while she hopes this year to see one of the Roosevelt High School orators reach the national finals, she is primarily interested in getting the largest possible number of students to enter the contest.

The oration on the Constitution, she said, is made the principal paper of the year for the civics classes coming under her supervision.

JOURNALISTS DEPART FOR SAN DIEGO

Col. Copley and Two Aides Leave to Take Over New Newspaper Properties

Southern California newspaperdom yesterday officially welcomed into its midst three new important figures when Col. Ira C. Copley, prominent midwestern publisher and recent purchaser of three San Diego papers; John Callan O'Loughlin, widely known newspaper man, and William R. Wheeler, pioneer San Diegan, left Los Angeles to take over the southern city's newly acquired publications.

Mr. O'Loughlin, who, aside from his newspaper work has served as an assistant Secretary of State, and is widely known in governmental circles, will be connected with Col. Copley's San Diego enterprises as editor-in-chief and general manager. All seven of the Col. Copley papers, the majority of which are in the Middle West, will be under Mr. O'Loughlin's supervision.

In the same manner, Mr. Wheeler will be identified with Col. Copley's newspaper chain as general business manager. Mr. Wheeler has been prominent in San Diego business and civic circles for years.

Before their departure for San Diego, Col. Copley announced that yesterday morning's publication of the San Diego Independent was its last. It will be merged immediately with the San Diego Union, which with the Tribune comprise Col. Copley's Southern California interests.

It is understood that both Col. Copley and his executive staff will make their headquarters in San Diego.

State's Early History Theme of Lecturer

The high walls around the missions of California were built not so much to keep the Indians out as to keep them in after they had been converted, Edward D. Lyman declared in his lecture on "Early California History" at the Southwest Museum yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Lyman outlined the history of the State from Fray Junipero Serra, the first real colonizer, to the present day. He touched briefly on the days of '49, declaring the rush to the gold fields was so great that at one time there were 500 deserted ships in San Francisco Harbor and labor was so scarce that most Californians shipped their laundry to China, until Chinese came here to do the work.

Death Misses Twenty-two Tries

TWENTY-TWO times during his 57 years, Frank D. Gordon of 263 Bonnie Beach Place has heard some one say, "Now breathe deeply; slowly; relax; breathe deeply," and has sniffed the sickly sweet odor of the nitrous oxide that precedes administration of ether. Twenty-two times he has awakened with that coffee-ground taste in his mouth. This notable fact is that he awakened each time.

Mr. Gordon is the most accidented man on record so far. He has had twenty-two operations, which included the removal of an arm in 1893 owing to a misfortune while he was railroading; amputation of a thumb; suturing of two arteries in his hand through a cut by flying glass; repairs to his skull, broken by thugs wielding a coupling pin; seven fractures of the right leg and eight of the right shoulder when a Los Angeles ambulance hit him in September, 1924, and tossed him into a hotel door at Second and Spring streets, and four operations for serious glandular affection.

Mrs. Gordon, for thirty-nine years partner of his joys and sorrows, did not share in his physical bad luck until recently. Now she is at their home with a fractured right leg, broken rib and fractured skull as the result of an accident caused by a broken steering-knuckle on the Gordon car early this month.

In spite of this Mr. Gordon daily goes to work at the fruit and vegetable market at 4445 Whittier Boulevard, and fails to see that his lot is any worse than that of anyone else.

When asked how he explains his apparent immunity to permanent disability, he says: "I was a railroader for years, and then I was eighteen years working for a newspaper." He was born in Des Moines, Iowa, and expects to spend the rest of his life out here.

AIRWAY NORTH GETS BEACONS

Route to San Francisco Now Being Charted

Arrows and Blinkers Will Also Aid Flyers

Pilots of airships that pass in the night far above San Fernando Valley will be guided safely by the beams of powerful searchlights that pierce the upper darkness when the government finishes its system of air highways.

Francis J. O'Leary of the airways division of the Department of Commerce is making San Fernando his headquarters while he oversees the making of charted air boulevards which are to be as clearly marked as the boulevards of the earth.

Mr. O'Leary, a veteran mail-plane pilot, is familiar with the peculiarities of the air routes and under his supervision powerful beacon lights are being placed between Los Angeles and San Francisco at ten-mile intervals to guide planes that travel Airways Route L-27, the Los Angeles-San Francisco highway of the air. The aerial ways will be for the convenience of all who travel the air, assuring them of a direct, well-marked route.

BEACONS ON TOWERS

At ten-mile intervals, powerful electric beacons of 3,000,000 candlepower are being mounted on steel towers, fifty-one feet six inches high. Two 1000-watt light bulbs are placed in each light, one bulb in a vertical position and the second leaning slightly from the perpendicular with a reflector twenty-four inches in diameter.

From thirty minutes before dark until thirty minutes after dawn, these huge lights will revolve, making one full revolution about every twenty seconds. The mechanism is automatic, even the switching on of the current. Only one bulb in a reflector burns, and if this goes out the other bulb is lighted automatically within two minutes.

On each beacon tower, just beneath the searchlight, are two course lights, one throwing its beams ahead over the route, the other directed back over the course. Under the beacon tower and lighted with flood lights is a huge arrow fifty-six feet in length and twelve feet in width, the head of which indicates the course and the distance of the beacon from Los Angeles.

BLINKERS TELL DISTANCE

Between the regular beacons in mountainous districts are placed "blinkers," acetylene lights of 2,500,000 candlepower, which point the way over the mountains to the next beacon. The pilot is enabled to get his distance from Los Angeles by the blinking of the course light he approaches. This light automatically operates signals in Morse code, the figures "2," "4," or whatever the distance is. The figure 2 denotes the distance as between thirty and forty miles, the 4 between forty and fifty miles.

Between Los Angeles and San Francisco will be placed about thirty-seven beacon lights and a number of "blinker" lights. Contractors are completing the work between Los Angeles and Fresno at present, according to Mr. O'Leary. Fields between Los Angeles and Fresno are at Saugus, Bakersfield, Earlimart and the municipal field at Fresno which is to be used as a landing station. At each landing field there is a beacon light as well as boundary lights which mark the boundaries of the ten-acre tract. A caretaker will be stationed at each of the fields.

Although the highway may be used by any plane, landing of passengers or freight at the fields is prohibited.

Completion of the work sometime in the summer will mark a carefully charted and lighted air highway between the two metropolises of California. As soon as the work is finished the lighthouse service of the coast district will take over operation and supervision of the land lighthouses of the air.

PLANT FRUIT TREES

LONGVIEW (Tex.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—More than 750,000 fruit trees were set out in nearly 4000 home orchards in fifty-two counties as a result of the home orchard campaign sponsored by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce and the extension service of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanic College.

GIRL'S INHERITANCE WILL BUY EDUCATION

Evelyn Louise De Shields

Evelyn Louise De Shields is going to spend her inheritance for an education. It consists of half of a $15,000 estate left by her mother, Mrs. Freda De Shields, who died July 31, 1927. The remainder will go to her adult brother. By an order entered in Probate Court, her father, Robert James De Shields, has been appointed her guardian to administer the funds for her.

"I know my mother would rather have me use the money for a college course than anything else," Miss De Shields said, "so I am going to spend every penny of it, if necessary, for that purpose."

REFINERY FIRE JAMS HIGHWAY

Plant and Oil Destroyed by Spectacular Blaze at Newport Beach

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—In a spectacular blaze which blocked automobile traffic on the Coast highway between San Diego and Los Angeles for more than two hours, the Orange County Refinery Company's plant and several thousand barrels of oil were destroyed tonight. Damage is estimated at $150,000.

So intense was the heat that the Newport Beach fire company was forced to fight the flames from a considerable distance. The firefighters resorted to pumping the water from Newport Bay.

Exploding barrels of oil kept firemen and spectators at a distance from the flames, and blocked automobile traffic on the Coast highway, which borders the refinery.

The Orange County Refinery plant was destroyed a year ago by flames causing damage estimated at that time at $25,000.

Publicity for Power Bureau Actions Urged

Frank P. Doherty, local attorney, will demand that the Department of Water and Power inform the citizens of this city of its programs, problems and purposes just as other large corporations inform stockholders of what is going on in their business, in a talk at the City Club's open forum tonight. Dinner is to be served at 6 p.m. for those who come early, the meeting being scheduled for 7:45 p.m.

Dr. Frederick P. Woellner is to answer the question, "What is Civic Intelligence?" at Wednesday's luncheon hour gathering. He is a professor of the University of California at Los Angeles. Discussion of the improvement of surface transportation facilities will be continued at a noonday meeting Thursday, and on Friday the hour will be used largely for community singing directed by Mme. Anne Sprotte, assisted by the Angelus Trio.

CLASH AVERTED AT DYER CHURCH

Dramatic Scene Enacted as Service Closes

Objectors Demand Offering Be Surrendered

Group Advances to Rostrum; Violence Avoided

Perhaps one of the most dramatic scenes ever enacted in a modern temple of worship took place at the Wilshire-Boulevard Congregational Church at the close of the morning service yesterday when leaders of the faction seeking to oust the pastor, Dr. Frank Dyer, attempted to take possession of a free-will offering which had been collected by a woman volunteer. The pastor had just concluded a sermon in which he excoriated persons who use God's temple for money changing.

Restrained by a court order from inviting the customary contributions, Dr. Dyer made no overtures in that direction, but Dr. Frank Crane, who occupied a seat on the rostrum, gave a brief talk in which he said he knew of no law nor judge with power to restrain persons from giving to the Lord if they felt so inclined.

He suggested that ushers place collection plates at the door where those who wished to do so might deposit their donations as they left the church. This was not done, however, and many persons left their contributions on a table in the foyer after a fruitless search for the regular receptacle. Others returned to the rostrum where they offered their donations to Dr. Dyer in person, but he declined them. Indignation was expressed by many adherents of the pastor at what they termed outrageous procedure on the part of the pastor's enemies.

WOMAN PASSES HAT

In the midst of the confusion an unidentified young woman arose, borrowed a man's hat, and announced that she would accept the offering. She was immediately surrounded by members eager to contribute and within a few minutes the hat was filled to overflowing with bills and silver coins.

Meanwhile leaders of the anti-Dyer faction stood by bewildered, but they recovered themselves a few minutes later and decided to make a formal demand for the money. When all contributions had been deposited, the young woman advanced to the rostrum and extended the money-laden hat to Dr. Dyer, who again declined. Dr. Crane, however, who stood at the pastor's side, accepted the offering and a moment later he was confronted by Alva Johnson, former financial secretary of the church, reinforced by E. W. Dudley, former treasurer, and E. E. Warren, former usher, all members of the anti-Dyer forces, who made a formal demand for the money.

Dr. Crane, with eyes flashing, shifted the improvised collection plate to a more secure position in the crook of his left arm, and declined to hand it over. The demand was reiterated by Johnson and Dr. Crane replied, "Well, I cannot keep you from making a formal demand but—" The remainder of his reply was lost in the general confusion.

BECOME INSISTENT

At this Johnson and his followers became more insistent and advanced toward Dr. Crane and the pastor. Others stepped forward as if anticipating physical violence, but Dr. Dyer reminded his foes that they were in the house of God and would they kindly retire? Convinced that they were foiled and that Dr. Crane would not surrender the hatful of money, they reluctantly turned and left the church, muttering incoherently.

Although Dr. Dyer made no direct

HOME EXHIBIT SETS RECORD

Six Houses Shown Under "Times" Auspices Viewed by Quarter-Million Persons

BY VALERIE WATROUS

Approximately 250,000 persons visited the six houses in The Times' home-beautiful educational exhibit since the opening at 1 o'clock, Sunday, the 22nd inst., according to the estimates made by those in charge. This is the highest recorded number of visitors at any home-beautiful exhibit for this number of houses.

Thousands of persons, spurred by the thought of the closing hour, visited the houses for the last time yesterday. At each of the houses several hundred men and women stood waiting for the doors to open at 1 o'clock. Visitors came from as far north as Bakersfield and as far south as San Diego. The notebooks were supplemented yesterday by tape-measures, and these seekers for information on the best in house furnishings did not hesitate to ask for what they wanted.

It was reported late yesterday that more than 50,000 persons had inspected the furnishings at 4054 Cromwell avenue, Los Feliz district, during the eight days the house has been on view.

In Leimert Park the two houses on Sutro avenue are reported sold. More than 5000 persons had entered them between 1 and 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The $7900 house was sold Saturday night, to the great disappointment of a young housewife who came yesterday prepared to buy it.

"This is one of the kindest things a newspaper ever did," a young matron declared. "I never furnished a house. We always have lived in apartments and have been satisfied. Now, we're going to have a home and I've learned something about furnishing it. This exhibit has been an 'extension course in home furnishing' to me, and I'm grateful to The Times for giving me such a chance."

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

WILBUR GLENN VOLIVA, overseer of Zion City near Chicago, has made an important discovery; that the earth is flat instead of round.

He says it is round like a dinner plate; and we just walk around the rim.

Anyone can see that he must be right. It explains what is the matter with certain pork-packing centers of population: they are hanging over the edge.

THE YAWPING SENATOR

The dignity of the United States Senate is not improved by the clowning of Noisy Bill Heflin of Alabama, who has been screaming insults at the correspondents in the press gallery for two days.

The real truth about Heflin is this: he is a second-rate hick politician from the rural south. He has a pair of mighty lungs which never give out; a white vest and a rhinoceros hide.

His howls against the Catholic church, against Europe, against the newspapers are not directed at the Senate—or even at the Catholic church or at the newspapers. He is just trying to give the boys in the barber shop back home a thrill. . . . how Our Bill bawled out them slick city fellers.

"A BUSHING, MIGHTY WIND"

I once heard a Democratic National Convention at Denver standing on the hind legs—screaming and groaning and shrieking at Heflin to stop talking.

The chairman pounded the top off the table trying to head him off; the band tried to drown him out; but Heflin was wound up and nothing could stifle the flow of his oratory.

Well, comedy relief is always of value.

OUR FLYING MACHINES

That the Navy has decided to transfer both of our great plane carriers to this coast means much.

Everything indicates that Southern California will be the flying center of the world. This both in a commercial way as well as in war maneuvers.

In other ways, it will become the experimental laboratory of the Navy. Had that submarine accident happened in the Catalina Channel instead of the tormented waters of the Atlantic Coast, there is a very strong possibility that the crew could have been saved. In the rescue operations, it was necessary to grab sparse, scattered moments of comparative calm.

IMPETUOUS AMBULANCE

Everyone has expected this was going to happen, sooner or later.

A police ambulance roaring down through the streets of Long Beach to attend to some one hurt in a minor accident, goes catapulting into a street car and breaks up three men.

Although I dare say these young men on the police cars get a pleasurable thrill out of the noise and rush, they don't get there much quicker than by a reasonable speed that does not jeopardize the lives of hundreds of people on route.

HASTE . . . NOT SPEED

The Automobile Club has performed a series of remarkable experiments with speed cars. Time and again they have started two cars across the city; one howling through the traffic, forcing other cars to climb telegraph poles and to dive down sewer holes to get out of the way. The other car proceeded at a brisk, moderate rate

OFFICER FIRES ON DESPERADO

Wound May Prove Fatal to Confessed Robber

Shopkeeper Has Gun Battle With Would-be Thief

Police Hold Down Total of Week-end Crimes

The old law of "an eye for an eye, etc." was invoked by police late Saturday night when, following the death of Ou Chung, 62-year-old Chinese bandit victim, officers working under Chief of Detectives Cline, possibly fatally wounded one bandit in the act of holding up an oil station, and maintained such successful vigilance on the streets that but eight other robberies were reported during the week end period with the total plunder amounting to little more than $100. Redondo police reported a shopkeeper-bandit gun battle there.

The Los Angeles bandit shot gave the name of Harry Andrews, 24 years of age, son of John Andrews of 626 Lesler street, New York City. He is not expected to live.

The bandit was observed by Officers Colven and Coppage as he drove into a Richfield oil station at Sixth and Catalina streets and held up the attendant, W. S. Bunnell, according to the police report.

SHOT BY OFFICER

As Andrews, with a revolver leveled at the gas station man, was preparing to depart with $19 from the cash register the two officers drove up. Colven stepped out of the police machine and ordered Andrews to halt. When the latter, ignoring the command, attempted to start the automobile he was driving, Officer Colven fired one shot. The bullet was a dud. Andrews then leaned back out of his car, the officers reported, and pointed his weapon at Officer Colven. A second time the officer fired. The bullet struck Andrews in the chest just above the heart. Andrews slumped to the floor of the car, his pistol falling from his fingers.

When taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital Andrews admitted the robbery and his identity, and told the officers, according to their report, that he had stolen the automobile which he used in the hold-up.

DIES AFTER BEATING

Ou Chung, who lived at 891 East Forty-ninth street, died at the General Hospital as the result of a brutal beating given him by three bandits at Vernon and McKinley avenues last Friday night. The aged Chinese, after being robbed of his money and valuables, was left unconscious in the street. A passer-by found him and police conveyed him to the Receiving Hospital. He later was transferred to the General Hospital.

A masked bandit who fired one shot at an alert shopkeeper in Redondo Beach was shot at in return and fled without injury or money, according to police reports. The bandit attempted to enter the Stamas Candy Shop on the amusement street at the beach shortly after 6 a.m., but was forced to flee when the proprietor showed fight and bullets began flying.

OTHER ROBBERIES

The four robberies reported to police are: M. G. Davis of 2033 West Seventy-eighth Place, held up by two men at Wilton Place and Santa Monica Boulevard and robbed of $17; three school-boys, Joe P. den of 1107 West Seventy-fourth street, Matthew Wallace of 1688 West Sixty-seventh street, and Bud Richardson of 1216 West Sixty-seventh street, held up in front of Paden's home by two men and robbed of $1; George A. Simmons of 1940 Judson street, held up at Avenue 57 and Pasadena avenue and robbed of $60 and his automobile by one bandit, and C. C. Rosenberg of 804 East Forty-second street, held up near his home and robbed of 75 cents.

When Morris Arnest was held up by one man in his bakery at 1129 South Manhattan Place, he yelled for help, and a crowd, attracted by his cries, captured the man who gave the name of Bill Holt of 3065 Leeward avenue. Holt was arrested on suspicion of robbery.

Two bandits beat Frank Ayashi, grocer, at 655 Lamar street, and robbed him of $32. The thieves fired several shots at the grocer when he ran into the street after them. G. W. Rudder, 3904½ South Main street, and Louis Butner, 555 Golden avenue, Long Beach, were robbed of $38 by two bandits at Santa Barbara avenue and Main street. E. W. Wittenberg, 3961½ Kenwood avenue, was robbed by two bandits of $5 as he entered his garage.

GANG DEATH CLEWS SOUGHT

Underworld Feud Suspected in Rosen's Murder; Victim Was to Have Been Trial Witness

The underworld history of the latest victim of a gangster killing, a man known as George Rosen, was being sought yesterday by Capt. Bright, head of the homicide squad of the Sheriff's office, in an effort to unearth clews to the murderer of Rosen who, on Friday night, "took him for a ride" on Western avenue near San Pedro, slugged him, and then fired three bullets through his heart.

It developed yesterday that Rosen was being held in reserve as a witness in the diamond robbery to which Mrs. Ollie Lowe and Evan B. Sikes will plead this afternoon before Superior Judge Hardy.

Rosen, whose name is believed to have been William Henry Lafferty, lately was employed as doorman of a gambling house. His history here, which smacks of gambling and bootlegging throughout, led deputy sheriffs to the conclusion that rival gangsters killed him in an underworld feud.

"Farmer" Page, popularly recognized as king of the gamblers, was questioned by Capt. Bright for more than an hour Saturday. Capt. Bright indicated that nothing definite resulted from the conference. Page has been mentioned frequently in connection with other gangland scrapes, once having been released after the fatal shooting of Al Joseph, San Francisco gangster, on a plea of self-defense.

TWELVE TO FACE COURT IN RUM CASE

Men Involved in Cressey Seizure Scheduled for Arraignment

Twelve of the thirteen men arrested following recent seizure of the speed boat Cressey of San Diego, and later charged by the Federal grand jury with violation of the Volstead Act and the national Tariff Act, will be arraigned today or tomorrow before Commissioner Head.

All but one of the thirteen will have been admitted to bail before they appear for arraignment, according to word from bonding companies yesterday. Ralph R. Morley, formerly a dry agent attached to the San Diego enforcement office, and H. G. Ramage, a Federal field agent in the Los Angeles district, are among those to be arraigned.

Maj. McReynolds, dry administrator, said yesterday he has increased his patrol of the Southern California coast in an endeavor to prevent the landing of liquor from five rum ships known to be lying some 200 miles out at sea.

Backyard Song Ends and Wife Goes Into Court

The day after Thanksgiving there was a strange silence in the backyard of Mrs. Mary Stepanek, at 5133 Ninth avenue.

A certain song was ended, and not even the melody lingered on. Investigation disclosed that the singer was gone. It seemed very strange, and a little ominous, so Mrs. Stepanek investigated.

Now there is on file in the office of County Clerk Lampton her complaint for a divorce from George Stepanek, wherein is disclosed the reason for the ending of the song, and the disappearance of the singer.

According to this document, the singer was the main event at a Thanksgiving feast, at which the banqueters were Stepanek and a woman friend of his, to whom his wife takes decided exception. Stepanek did nothing less, his wife charges, than to slay "a large and valuable drake, the property of plaintiff," and cook and serve same for the Thanksgiving dinner of himself and the other woman.

And on Christmas he gave Mrs. Stepanek's rival a costly bathrobe, the wife complains.

The husband and wife are scheduled to meet in court for the first time in connection with the lawsuit, before Judge Beecher on February 3, when, pursuant to an order signed by Presiding Judge McLucas, Stepanek is required to show cause why he should not pay alimony pending trial.

reference to the situation in his sermon, he recalled that it was the first time in his thirty years as a pastor that he had been denied the right to conduct his service as he saw fit, but he emphasized that he had no wish to defy the court. He said he believes the church is being purged with fire and deplored the asserted fact that many persons are attempting to use God's house as a means of advancing their own financial interests.

In conclusion, he announced that on next Tuesday evening a friendship dinner will be given in Gunsalus Hall and invited all who have the best interests of the church at heart to attend.

"It might be well for the attendance of all churches," said Dr. Dyer at the evening services, "if the court judges of Los Angeles would issue injunctions more freely against clergymen."

As he spoke he looked out over the pews and found them very nearly filled to capacity with church members who had come to hear a very brief talk by Dr. Dyer followed by a lecture by Dr. Frederick Wade on "Shakespeare and the Scriptures."

A meeting of the church membership was called for February 14. It was explained by Dr. Dyer that this was merely a precautionary notice in the event court action required such a meeting.

Fleet Baseball Teams to Play in Benefit Game

For the benefit of the newly organized San Pedro-Long Beach chapter of the Navy Relief Society, baseball teams from the U.S.S. New Mexico and U.S.S. Mississippi will play at Troha Field, the fleet athletic field at San Pedro, on the afternoon of February 11.

The new Navy Relief chapter, headed by Mrs. Louis R. De Steiguer, wife of the commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, and Capt. E. W. Scott, fleet chaplain, is being organized for the purpose of aiding the dependents of navy personnel in emergency.

In the recent sinking of the submarine U.S.S. S-4, the disaster left twelve known relatives of crew members destitute, all of whom were cared for immediately by the Navy Relief. Similar expeditious action by the organization has followed all naval tragedies since the inception of the society.

UNIVERSITY TO DISPLAY ART WORKS

Students Will Send Their Drawings to Prague for International Congress

Advanced art students of University of California at Los Angeles have been invited to exhibit modern specimens of art at the International Art Congress at Prague next summer. The exhibit includes a large number of fantastic subjects.

The selection includes futuristic illustrations for magazine covers, stage sets, costume designs and creative subject matter of all kinds.

A number of striking figures in South Sea Island costumes with vivid backgrounds are shown. One of the largest pieces is an illustration of Omar Kahyam's "'Tis all a checkerboard of nights and days, and destiny, with men for pieces plays." A futuristic oriental woman, with scornful expression, plays at chess, using men for pieces.

Another section of the exhibit will be made up of industrial design. Classes in this subject have made drawings of bowls, vases and jardinieres, which they later will copy in pottery. Both drawings and the finished product will be exhibited. Miss Adelaide Morris, representing the art department, will take the exhibit to Prague.

Beverly Hills, yesterday far exceeded those who visited the house the first day of the exhibit. The house with its furnishings is valued at $31,000, and it is believed by the subdividers that an option now outstanding will be closed within the next forty-eight hours.

STREAM OF VISITORS

Hundreds have visited this house every day since the opening a week ago, and at an early hour yesterday afternoon parked vehicles were lined along both sides of the street for a block north and south.

At each of these houses caretakers report that at the closing time they were forced to lock the doors in the faces of belated visitors, even after having kept the house open to 11 and 11:30 p.m.

Mrs. Janice McNeely, hostess at 128 South Hayworth avenue, Beverly Green, reports that many groups of women had expressed their appreciation of such an opportunity to inspect furnishings of such widely varying types and prices. Comments, she declares, were made about the manner in which draperies were finished, how they were hung, the type of hangings used, the distance between the wrought iron rods and the top of the window frame, and other details.

CROWDS INCREASED

The crowds at this house, too, were greatly increased yesterday and it is asserted several of the houses in the neighborhood have been sold during the week, and an option given on this particular house.

Hollywoodland reported several hundred visitors every day since the opening of the exhibit house in the Home-Beautiful campaign. Thousands of cars yesterday passed the offices of the company on the way to 6217 Rock Lift Drive.

All of the six houses in the demonstration group were furnished under the direction of Mrs. R. H. Thomas of Richmond, Va., who is nationally known as an expert on home furnishings. Each house was equipped with carefully selected draperies, rugs and pieces of furniture well suited to the house in which they were to be shown.

The demonstration houses closed permanently last night and while several have been sold with their furnishings, others will be stripped by the merchants who drew from their stocks to make the exhibit possible.

MAN WHO FLED FROM SANATORIUM HUNTED

The Sheriff's office and relatives are broadcasting an appeal for information regarding Harland Hills Johnson, 30 years of age, who escaped from the Rosemead-avenue Sanatorium on the 24th inst. Johnson is described as slightly demented, weighing 135 pounds, 5 feet 6 inches in height, brown hair, blue eyes, left arm broken and held in bandage position, wearing dark gray serge pants, light blue shirt, brown, sleeveless sweater coat and gray cap. He may be wandering in the Pasadena foothills.

TICKETS TO HORSE SHOW IN DEMAND

Advance Sales Indicate Capacity Crowds at Event to Open Saturday

Demand for tickets to the seventh annual Los Angeles National Horse Show, to open at the Ambassador Auditorium next Saturday afternoon, indicate capacity crowds for the entire week of the classic, according to W. W. Mines, president of the association sponsoring the events.

Preceding the opening of the show completion of the program will be chartered at the Stock Exchange Building headquarters by Manager Blitz and Secretary Cohen.

Southern California society is planning many receptions and dinners for next week. The outstanding event, however, will be the Horse Show ball next Monday night at the Ambassador, arranged under the direction of William May Garland, chairman, and his committee.

More than 300 horses from stables in the United States and Canada have arrived here to compete for the $35,000 cash prizes and valuable trophies and cups.

President Mines is being assisted by committee chairmen and exhibitors including Irving H. Hellman, Gen. M. H. Sherman, George Musaphia, Ben R. Meyer, C. M. Crawford, Gen. Walter P. Story, Fred W. Flint, Jr., Mrs. J. H. Rambos and others.

Through the show this year officers of the association expect to stimulate greater interest in these events leading up to the international classic in this city during the 1932 Olympic games.

WAREHOUSE AFFAIR IN COURT AGAIN

Twelve Scheduled to Be Present and Have Liquor Raid Case Reset for Trial

Twelve defendants, who are accused of having planned a wholesale looting of the local government liquor warehouse on December 10, 1925, are scheduled to appear today in the court of United States District Judge Henning for the resetting of their cases for trial. Only one of the twelve, M. A. Morrison, a writer of Pomona, has not stood trial or entered plea. Seven have pleaded guilty and four others went to trial and the jury failed to agree. Morrison, who elected to stand trial, was ill at the time of the trial and the case was continued as to him.

After the trial, all twelve were reindicted and it is upon the new indictment that they are to appear today in court to have their cases set.

It is charged by the government that the twelve planned to hold-up the watchman of the warehouse, and rob the warehouse of several thousand cases of liquor, but only obtained about 800 cases.

The defendants who have decided to go to trial are Col. Bruce Butler, Maj. Donald McRae, formerly a dry enforcement agent; Maj. Harry Brown, Joseph Walsh and M. A. Morrison. The others are Orval Jones, Robert Davis, W. H. and Sydney Worrall, Elste Sorouil, Frank Buckingham and J. H. Lloyd.

SOUTHLAND FAR IN LEAD IN FILINGS

Instruments Recorded in Los Angeles County More Than Double North's Tally

More than twice as many instruments were filed with the Los Angeles County Recorder during 1927 than were filed in the five principal counties of the San Francisco Bay area, according to a survey just completed by the Security Title Insurance and Guarantee Company of Los Angeles.

Los Angeles county during the last year reached the huge total of 550,051 recordings, while the combined total of San Francisco, Alameda, San Mateo, Santa Clara and Contra Costa counties was 257,741, less than 50 per cent of the Los Angeles total.

These figures are considered significant by the local title company, in view of the fact tha the majority of such instruments as are filed with County Recorders throughout the State relate to realty transfers or to realty financing operations and the figures indicate, in the opinion of officials of the company, the preponderance of realty activity in the Los Angeles district.

The totals for the year for each of the five northern counties are as follows: San Francisco, 86,560; Alameda, 101,939; San Mateo, 24,572; Santa Clara, 28,187; Contra Costa, 16,483.

HEARING TO BE RESUMED TOMORROW

Pacific Electric Railway Fare Plea Proceedings Scheduled to Go On

Hearing on the application of the Pacific Electric Railway for an increase in passenger fares will be resumed here tomorrow before President Whitsell of the State Railroad Commission. It is expected that the city and State engineers will complete their reports and residents of Venice will offer testimony to back up their request for 6-cent fares to the municipal beach.

As a result of informal conferences last week between representatives of the city, Railroad Commission and traction company, some suggestions or stipulations with reference to the establishment of a universal transfer system in Los Angeles may be offered at the hearing for the commission's consideration. If there is sufficient time, the railroad engineers may give testimony in rebuttal to the evidence presented by city and State engineers at former hearings.

SAN FERNANDO MAP FINISHED

Field Books Completed by City Clerk Dominguez

Each Parcel of Land in 169 Square Miles Shown

First Record Made Since Valley Was Annexed

After four months' work, City Clerk Dominguez has completed the comprehensive set of maps and field books showing property ownership for each parcel of land in the San Fernando Valley section of the city, comprising 189 square miles, or 107,782 acres of land. There are 433 district maps and twenty-two large field books.

The city has had no record of this San Fernando Valley land ownership, and the last available records showed only the large tracts of farm acreage which existed prior to 1915 when the section was annexed to the city. The Owens River Aqueduct had been completed in 1913, and as the Owens River water had to be brought to Los Angeles through San Fernando Valley, the property of this section advanced tremendously.

VALLEY TAKES BOOM

Within the last few years San Fernando Valley has been the scene of great subdivision activity with the result that the ranches have begun to disappear and their places taken by residential lots. This change made necessary the preparation of new records.

Councilman Randall, who represents the San Fernando Valley district in the Council, indorsed the City Clerk's request for funds to be used in preparing the maps and field books. The Councilman and President Goldsworthy of the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce have inspected the new records and expressed themselves as greatly pleased with the results the City Clerk has obtained and the efficiency of the new records showing ownership of all real taxable property in the valley.

These records are open to public inspection in the City Clerk's map and lot department, Room 6, City Hall, and are part of the city's records of property ownership.

ADDRESSES SOUGHT

In connection with the completion of the task, the City Clerk again urged Los Angeles city property owners to call at Room 6 and list their names and addresses opposite the property they own. It is from these records that the city obtains names and addresses to mail notices of proposed public improvements and assessments to property owners. Although the City Clerk obtains data from the County Assessor and other available sources as to property ownership, the co-operation of property owners is asked.

City Efficiency Director Knox has reported to the City Council that the City Clerk's map and lot division "is regarded as having accurate, efficient and up-to-date records in the city."

annual meeting voted to give a cash prize of $100 to the student selected to represent Nevada in the National Oratorical Contest, Judge Sanders, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Nevada, informed Prof. Alan Nichols, director of the contest for the Pacific-Southwest, by letter yesterday.

"I believe other State bar associations should follow our lead," Chief Justice Sanders declared in his letter.

He also said that Walter W. Anderson, superintendent of public instruction in Nevada, is enthusiastically in favor of the contest and "will give it the publicity it deserves."

"I propose to address and to have others address civic and patriotic organizations throughout the State with the view of enlisting their support of the contest," the Chief Justice said at the close of his letter.

In any case, these crazy cars could not save above five minutes—at the risk of many lives.

HORSES VS. MEN

The Army officer now riding a saddle horse across the continent to Los Angeles will doubtless settle an old controversy.

Infantry officers have always contend that if you start a regiment of infantry and a regiment of cavalry marching from New York to Los Angeles, the infantry regiment would get here first.

A TOUGH EGG

There is no animal that walks or breathes that has the endurance of a man. Which is curious when you consider that, of all animals, man has the most unnatural and most exhausting method of walking. Standing and walking erect is an entirely cultivated taste. We were intended to shamble along on all fours like apes. The various wild children who have been found in the jungles of India have invariably had such a gait . . . on their hands and knees . . . or hands and toes.

SUPPLIES OWN DYE DEMANDS

The dye industry in the United States last year supplied 93 per cent of the domestic consumption, whereas in 1913 it supplied only 13 per cent.

Every thirteenth woman in Berlin must look elsewhere for a husband, as there are 300,000 superfluous females in the German capital.

Your Sheerest Underthings

Of course "Troy" does your undergarments by hand (unless you order otherwise.) Rain-soft water, mild soap and gentle handling are the three factors employed to send them back to you with all their original beauty, freshness and daintiness restored.

TROJAN CO-EDS DUE TO "EMOTE" TODAY

Billie Walker in Action

Whether coeds at the University of Southern California have the ability to become motion-picture actresses will be decided today when the aspiring screen stars take their final examinations in the film course conducted during the past semester.

Grinding of cameras, donning of make-up and mirror practice are being substituted for pens and books by the student actresses in order to get a grade from their former director professors. Instead of writing for two hours to find out the amount of "book learnin'" they have absorbed during the last four months, the coeds must face a camera and battery of sun reflectors.

Although their ability to register emotions often outside the sphere of the average coed's life will count materially on the final mark, set and costume designing will have to be up to a fixed standard. Stagecraft and even the mysteries of motion-picture electric lighting will have to be mastered by the coeds.

One of the screen-acting tests that the students must face is one depicting a change from amusement to chagrin. Billie Walker, one of the embryo actresses, made a good showing the other day when reading the "Razzberry," which is the campus paper that "bawls out" students for this and that. Billie read with high glee a story "razzin'" one of her friends; as she read on she came to her own name and her face had no trouble changing to a "what's-that?" expression. Then, when she read what was said about her, it was a real-for-sure "heaven's-sake" look that she wore.

MONNETTE TO SPEAK AT CIVIC GATHERING

FRUIT MEN DUE FOR GATHERING

Five-Day Session Will Open Wednesday

Three Special Trains Bring 500 Tomorrow

Thousand More Expected from Western States

Los Angeles will become the mecca this week of fruit and vegetable men from every corner of the United States, who are coming to attend the twenty-fourth annual convention of the Western Fruit Jobbers Association of America. Some 1500 producers, shippers, wholesalers, railroad men and others representing the various agencies allied with the horticultural and agricultural industries are expected for a five-day session at the Biltmore.

The convention officially opens Wednesday morning but registration of delegates and visitors will commence this morning.

Three special trains carrying the bulk of the eastern visitors to the convention will arrive here over the Southern Pacific tomorrow afternoon. More than 500 fruit and vegetable men and their families are coming by these trains and an additional 1000 visitors will arrive from the western and northwestern States and from California on regular trains.

The entertainment program will begin tomorrow morning with the arrival of the special trains at Riverside. The first event at which the fruit jobbers will be guests will be a breakfast at the Mission Inn. The breakfast will be followed by an inspection of the Riverside orange packing plants. The trains will leave Riverside at 11 a.m. and reach Los Angeles about 1:30 p.m. Tomorrow night the visitors will be entertained at a get-together party in the ballroom of the Biltmore.

H. S. Hazeltine, president of the American Fruit Growers, Inc., is general chairman of the Los Angeles committees in charge of the convention arrangements. Today the easterners aboard the Western Fruit Jobbers special trains are being entertained in the Imperial Valley.

CAHUENGA PASS PAVING COMPLETED

East Side "Bottle Neck" at Last Eliminated by Opening of New Road

The "neck-of-the-bottle" road on the east side of Cahuenga Pass between the summit and Lankershim Boulevard in which thousands of autoists have been stalled for hours on Sundays and holidays has been eliminated, according to an announcement by City Engineer Shaw and Public Works Inspector Rook.

The paving of the east side of the pass has been completed at a cost of $344.33, and the work has been accepted by the city. The pass now has a roadway width of eighty-two feet from Highland avenue to Lankershim Boulevard. The pavement is ten-inch cement concrete, the extra thickness being due to the heavy truck traffic through the pass.

The widening and paving of the east side of the pass was started last August by J. H. Cook, to whom the contract was awarded by the Board of Public Works. Inspector Rook, who had charge of the widening and paving of the west side of the pass, which was done by the city itself, personally directed the large force of inspectors which expedited the east-side paving and at the same time, with the co-operation of the contractor, kept one-half of the road open at all times for traffic.

The paving job included the laying of new pavement on Lankershim Boulevard to the Los Angeles River.

ERIE HEAD TO MEET JOBBERS

J. J. Bernet En Route for Fruit Men's Convention; Aide Here Making Plans

Dispatch of fruit expresses from California to the East Coast is one of the chief considerations of the Erie Railroad System, according to T. C. Probert, assistant to the president of that system, who is here in advance of his chief making preparations for the opening of the Western Fruit Jobbers' Association convention.

According to Probert, the Erie president, John J. Bernet, accompanied by his chief of traffic, Carl Howe, will arrive soon to attend the convention.

JOHN J. BERNET

The Erie system, he states, is now handling 75 per cent of the refrigerator traffic from California between Chicago and the East Coast, and has just purchased fifty of the largest and fastest locomotives in the world in order to increase the speed with which California's fruit trains can be sent east. These trains will run on express-passenger schedule, he stated.

In addition to this, a fruit terminal in New York, built at a cost of $1,500,000, will be ready in June to expedite further California and other fruit shipments. It is planned to unload 100 cars at a time and to have display space for the contents of 400 cars at one time.

The Erie has also established its huge terminal at the Jersey end of the Holland vehicular tunnel, thereby expediting truck transfer of wares from that side to New York.

After the convention here, Bernet will visit San Francisco and the Northwest. His system is the fourth running between Chicago and New York, the others being the Pennsylvania, New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio. The Erie is now a consolidation of the Nickel Plate, Chesapeake and Ohio, Pere Marquette, and Erie lines. It is owned by the Van Sweringen interests.

Safety Board Work Piles Up

The Building and Safety Commission reports a heavy increase in the volume of work for 1927 over previous years, according to figures compiled by its secretary, F. A. Munsie. The board is empowered under the city charter to allow slight modifications from the building ordinance when a special reason makes the strict letter of the law impractical.

During the year 1927, this commission considered 9416 requests of this nature—an increase of more than 100 per cent over the previous year.

In addition to the above, the commission approved various ordinances; among them, a revised plumbing ordinance, plastering ordinance, and several amendments to the building ordinance, all of which are of great benefit to the building public.

Ex-Dry Agent Appears Today to be Sentenced

Clarence C. McQuire, formerly Federal prohibition agent, convicted on Friday of impersonating a Federal officer, is to appear for sentence today before United States District Judge James. C. J. Garretson, who was jointly accused with McQuire and tried and convicted, now is serving a term in a Federal prison.

Government secret-service agents asserted that McQuire and Garretson represented to Italian and Japanese ranchers throughout the county that they were Federal prohibition officers, after McQuire had left the service, and extorted money from the ranchers on promises not to prosecute them for having small quantities of wine in their possession.

State Societies Will Banquet

Col. Frank H. True is to serve as toastmaster at a reception and dinner being arranged jointly by the Federation of State Societies and the Canadian Society, to take place in the Chamber of Commerce dining-room tomorrow evening. Other speakers will be President Buhlse, of the federation, Dr. Sanford McDonald, Frank P. Merriam, Mrs. H. G. Redwine, Judge M. C. Spicer, James A. Lang and Milton Bryan.

A program of entertainment will follow the speaking to be participated in by Miss Jessie York, reader, Thomas Ferguson, Scotch baritone, and others. The reception is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m., and dinner will be served an hour later.

Traster Burial Service Today

Funeral services for William Harrison Traster, a resident of Los Angeles for forty-one years, who died Thursday, will be conducted at his former residence, 1681 Virginia Road, at 2 p.m. today under auspices of South Gate Lodge No. 320, F. & A.M. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mr. Traster was born in Winchester, Iowa. He came to California when a boy and was educated in the public schools here. He became a power engineer and followed that vocation until ill health forced his retirement. Death was caused by heart disease. He leaves his widow, Catherine Coleman Traster.

The earnings of men and women workers in the manufacturing industries of the United States show a considerable disparity.

Cadets to Hold Rodeo Friday

The Midwinter Rodeo given by cadets of the Urban Military Academy will be held at the Urban Polo Field, Beverly Boulevard and Harper street, Friday afternoon from 1:30 to 6 o'clock. Prizes or ribbons will be awarded for individual horsemanship, Cossack riding, rescue race and other events.

MUST INCREASE WATER MAINS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Jan. 29.—The water mains of Huntington Beach are too small to cope with the present fire hazards here and a boosting of fire-insurance rates is expected after the annual inspection of fire-insurance underwriters, in the opinion of Dr. G. A. Shank, a member of the City Council, in addressing the Chamber of Commerce here. The Chamber of Commerce was asked to support a program to bring about a lessening of the fire hazards.

PLENTY OF ROPE

Manila is the greatest hemp market in the world. Not a bad place to take a change of venue.

NOT PROVEN

Lindbergh went fishing during his visit to South American waters, but since he used bait and sinker it is hardly proper to talk of him as a fly fisherman.

BLAME IT ON DARWIN

If you want to start a nice scrap just drive up to Santa Susana and tell the folks, "I came up to the Simi Valley to see how you Similans live."

WON'T HOLD WATER

An Oakland man the other day turned in a fire alarm when his wife was taken suddenly ill and he had no telephone handy. His only justification for the act was that his wife was an old flame of his.

THE FASHIONABLE FLAT

Voliva again contends that the world is flat and is going to walk all around the rim to demonstrate his theory. Of course there will be one advantage in discovering that the world is a flat dwelling place—it will be cheaper to move than to wait till rent day.

UNUSUAL RECORDS

A certain London medium, rejoicing in the name of Villantine, declares he has made a phonographic record of the voice of Confucius reciting from the Book of Odes. Now if he can get George Washington to eulogize Rupert Hughes on the reverse, even the incredulous may be persuaded into buying the disc.

NOT A FREE GARAGE

Chicago's no-parking law is said to have reduced congestion in that city and speeded up traffic about 30 per cent. It is reported to be a big aid in crowded areas, and both motorists and pedestrians are benefited by the new strict rule. Those people who have been making a free garage of the city's streets may object, but it must be a great boon to those who wish to "drive through."

FRENCH SOLDIER'S UPKEEP

French soldiers receive no more pay than before the war, but the food of each warrior now costs the government 20 cents a day. The most expensive part of the ration is meat, which costs 8 cents. Then there is 6 cents' worth of bread, 2 cents' worth of wine and coffee, and 4 cents are expended for vegetables and trimmings. It is to be taken for granted that the trimmings are not very elaborate.

TIDY BERLIN

After an extended tour of this country and Europe, Mayor Miguel Romualdez of Manila says that Berlin is the cleanest city he has seen, the only metropolis that anywhere approaches Berlin for cleanliness being Washington. This condition doubtless is due to the whole population of Berlin co-operating with the authorities in keeping the city free from dirt.

TALLEST TREE

After measuring various trees reputed to be the "tallest" in California, the State Department of Natural Resources announces that a giant sequoia near Grannell, Humboldt county, is the monarch of our forests. It is 306 feet high, thirty feet in diameter and contains 361,366 board feet of merchantable lumber, enough to build twenty-two houses of average size. Doubtless this is the tallest tree on the continent and perhaps, in the world. As for the quantity of lumber it is estimated to contain, it is to be hoped that it will continue to contain it.

THE WRANGLERS

Next to the question, "Why is a Democrat?" the most puzzling problem of the hour is "What is a Democrat?" If Tom Heflin is accepted as a standard in one section how would it be possible for Gov. Smith to qualify? The Democrats are ready to divide on every question from evolution down to immigration and to fight over them all. How can the dry leaders of the Klan in the South be herded with the wet liberals of New York? If they can get into one bed it will need a crazy quilt to cover them.

"MA," THE "ARDONER

What "Ma" Ferguson did to make criminals feel at home in Texas is stressed by W. W. Massie, president of the Texas Bankers' Association, in a statement concerning the 140 successful bank robberies in that State in the last eight years, with a total loot of $564,065. "Ma" issued wholesale pardons, and among them were those of a few the bankers had been lucky enough to land behind the bars. So the bankers offered a reward of $5000 for each person killed while robbing a member bank in Texas or while fleeing from it. This is said to have had a good effect, though the aftermath of "Ma's" meddling with the law has been bad for Texas in this and other respects.

THE JUNIOR OLYMPIC GAMES

The athletic competition for boys under 16 years of age, projected under the name of Junior Olympic Games of Southern California, and now being organized by a committee headed by William M. Garland, has many things to commend it and is worthy of the public interest and support already being accorded it. These contests will serve a very useful purpose in keeping before the people of Southern California and of the United States generally the fact that Los Angeles is to be the scene of the Olympiad in 1932 and will arouse interest generally in the Olympiad itself.

Of primary importance, of course, is the beneficial effect the junior games will have on the participants. It is generally agreed that a healthy interest in outdoor sports is of great value in the training of youth and that some form of competition is useful to stimulate this interest. The problem has been to find a form of competition not open to serious objections, which will favor all-around physical development rather than hurtful specialization, and which will not impose undue strain upon the participants.

It is the belief of the Junior Olympic Committee that these conditions are met by the plan it has in view. A committee of experts will select a series of athletic events in which the prizes will be awarded to those boys who come nearest to excellence in all—probably a pentathlon, or five-event contest.

Practically all boys who will not reach their sixteenth birthday before next September will be eligible, since they may enter as students of a public or private school, or members of any of the various and varied organizations which have supervised athletics. There will first be organization elimination contests, then district contests, then county contests and finally a Southern California contest, which will select entrants for the National Junior Olympics at Atlantic City. Winners in the national contest will be given a four weeks' tour of Europe as a grand prize, and one of the weeks is to be spent at Amsterdam, during the 1928 Olympiad.

As consolation for those who do not gain the grand prizes there will be cups, medals, ribbons and other awards. Besides Atlantic City, those who win places in the regional competition will have visits to Washington, New York and other places of interest in the East to reward them.

The plan has the hearty indorsement of the Board of Education, and two members of that board will serve on the general committee. Similar indorsement has been given by the executives of the Boy Scouts, Western Rangers, municipal playgrounds, Y. M. C. A. and half a dozen other organizations interested in the proper training of our future citizens.

The movement is peculiarly fortunate in the personnel of those who sponsor it on the Junior Olympic Advisory Board, which includes representatives of every sort of institution concerned with the physical development of boys, which, properly conducted, means as well their moral and mental development. "Mens sana in corpore sano" is as true today as in the days of the ancient Greeks, whose educational system produced simultaneously some of the gratest athletes and the ablest thinkers of all history.

Pessimists are fond of predicting the demnition bowwows as the ultimate and inevitable destination of a majority of what they are pleased to term our modern jazz generation of juveniles. They point to the undeniable fact that the great bulk of violent crime is committed by young men and draw gloomy pictures with the Hickman case as a background.

There is some truth in it but it is far from being all true. The business of good citizens is to root out the seeds of corruption and, so far as may be, to turn the steps of youth in more wholesome directions. Outdoor sports have a universal appeal to boys and, where the stimulus of competition for worth-while prizes is added to that appeal, they furnish a direct and attractive means toward the development of those qualities which make for good citizenship.

ANOTHER STEP NEARER

Every hour clipped from the daily travel between California and the Eastern States brings the center of population considerably nearer to the Pacific Coast. In November, 1926, the transcontinental railroads reduced the running time between Los Angeles and Chicago by five hours. They have now announced a further cut for their crack trains of one and three-quarter hours and have so again emphasized their desire to help in every way possible the development of the West and Southwest of America.

Swift and convenient transportation for both passengers and freight is indispensable to the building of communities and empires. Without it the richest resources and most dramatic opportunities are but so much buried treasure. Our American railroads have, therefore, played a master role in fitting the natural wealth of America with the facilities of movement and the combination has given to this republic to a large degree its present commanding world position.

Even so potentially blessed a section as the Southwest could not have fulfilled its mission to mankind without the co-operation of the transcontinental railroads. The co-operation, of course, has been mutual, for the benefit ready access to other communities has conferred on California has in its turn brought additional prosperity to the carriers. So the efforts of the railroads to still further speed up travel with Los Angeles is also a tribute to the increased importance, Los Angeles has attained in the business calculations of the country at large.

While Los Angeles highly appreciates this last move to bring Chicago into still closer touch—to connect more directly the metropolis of the Middle West with the metropolis of the Pacific—we may still express a wish that this faster communication did not stop short in the State of Illinois. May we not hope some day to witness a de luxe train that will similarly without change transport passengers between Los Angeles and New York and so complete the rapid transit from the Pacific to the Atlantic?

NEEDS A MANAGER

Senator Heflin needs a business manager. The wild baby of Alabama should have a representative to see that he gets his dividends. If Tom would challenge Senator Robinson to a duel with bull whips his percentages might be raised. Tom is making a mistake in not having an up-to-date manager.

The LEE SIDE O'LA

By Lee Shippey

YOU don't need to go to Paris or Nice or Mexico City to see one of the most colorful flower markets in the world.

You need only go down on Wall street, between Seventh and Eighth, in Los Angeles, any week day except Tuesday and Thursday, but best of all on Monday.

But you must go early. The big excitement there starts at 4 a.m. and is all over by 8 a.m.

River of Flowers

If you go early on a busy morning you will be rewarded by a sight you will remember all your days. The whole street is filled with flowers as if a river of beauty had flooded it. The sunrise in the East may be obscured by gloomy buildings, but there's a street full of sunrise, three blocks long. Something like 400 motor trucks, loaded high with flowers—for flowers are not heavy, and as many can be carried on a truck as can be placed there without crushing them—flow into the street. The market controls two big motor parks, one a block long, and both are filled with the trucks of the flower growers. But they do not give room enough, and for three blocks, at the busiest hour, the street is jammed. Two policemen have a frantic time maintaining a passage through which traffic can even trickle. The flower market soon will have to move, it is predicted, because it is growing so that more room will be essential.

Flower Farmers

Flowers are becoming a common ranch crop in Southern California, and more than 400 "farmers" in this territory count on them as their principal source of income. About 300 of these are Japanese, and the Japanese association controls the biggest flower market here. The "American" exchange—which includes Greeks, Italians, French, Germans and representatives of nearly all Caucasian nations—is just across the street from the Japanese market. Paul Ecke is president of the latter exchange, and 100 or more flower growers are in the association. Y. Yamomoto is president of the Southern California Flower Market, or Japanese exchange.

The ranchers motor in with their lovely cargoes from as far north as Ventura, as far east as San Bernardino and as far south as Carlsbad and Encinitas, in San Diego county. And on almost any Monday morning their hundreds of trucks carry more flowers than one could see at a tournament of roses.

Supply Great Market

This flower market is wholesale only. Florists from Los Angeles and many near-by towns buy flowers direct from the growers there, and great quantities are shipped as far away as Chicago every week. Texas florists are supplied regularly, and in summer New Orleans gets most of its commercial flowers from here. In cold weather most of the territory served by San Francisco has to look to Los Angeles for flowers, and a good many are shipped to San Francisco itself. Recently heather has been shipped all over the United States, even to the Atlantic Coast.

We're With You Strong

Leeside: Please don't throw any more cold water on the barehead fad. I got four boys between ages of 12 and 20, and it's saving me so much I'm hoping soon to get a new hat myself—to replace my 1919 Stetson.—Dad Gummett.

Suggestion

Lee: The very name of twin beds has scared a lot of young couples. Why don't the furniture dealers advertise 'em as companionable marriage beds. Anything to stimulate trade.—R. A. Booster.

On the Payer

Friend of ours out on Los Feliz, who has a lot of street widening to pay for, says it this way: The way of the assessor is hard.

Hearing's Believing

Sir: There's nothing like travel to increase one's knowledge and wipe out one's incorrect conclusions. Before I came here as a tourist I had the idea that people no longer took a great deal of interest in religion. But one visit to "Perching" Square convinced me that there it's still the subject of the day—all day—and every day.—Walker Rounds.

PATHS OF PROGRESS

The World War is often cited as a devastating conflict over nothing—a view not popularly accepted by the veterans who did the fighting and the leaders who found no other way to solve the vexatious problems of 1917. Even the group that insists the war was all over nothing, however, should find some solace in the probability that the war of wars actually was a serious set-back to the war business. The farther civilized nations get from that bloody page in history, the more they desire to guard against another edition of it. The waste was frightful in itself, but it was even worse as a block in the path of progress.

In recent months the civilized world has been presented with many examples of the exact opposite of the World War—the blocking of war by progress. An idle fellow gets into trouble and blunders into fights, and so does an idle nation. A nation that is sincerely intent upon real progress will not fight another unless the provocation is very great and provocation great enough would never be created by any other nation as eagerly intent upon the welfare of its own people. The lean and hungry look that Cassius bore can be worn by nations in such a way as to arouse suspicion and awaken hatred, but the broad successes of any people rather give them the smile of good fellowship, inspiring trust, brotherhood, and wise co-operation.

One of Napoleon's domestic tenets was summed up in the phrase, "A clear path for merit." No nation could have a better slogan, and the civilized nations of the world could not adopt a better motto both within and between themselves. Open the paths of progress both at home and abroad for human merit. Let those who can lead step out and carry their legions forward to new victories against ignorance, disease, poverty, disorganization and all the other enemies of human happiness. Clear the way for every man, no matter what his race or his nationality, who can move the feet of civilization one step farther in transportation, irrigation, agriculture, industry or any other lane leading to better things.

BY THE PEOPLE

Business men, Lewis E. Pierson says, should make a determined stand against the creation of government boards, commissions, and bureaus, against moves by foreign nations to launch tariff wars, and for legislative acts aimed to serve the public welfare such as postal rate revision, flood control, and tax reduction. He points out, however, that this interest should not be misapplied in such a way as to lead to the acceptance of more support than the government properly should afford and advises that business men "should stifle any desire for extension of government props with as much vigor as we fight encroachment."

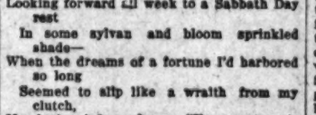
This is hitting hard at an old target from a new angle and it is to be hoped that the charge will register. Big business was once accused of running the government and now it is charged with ignoring it. There is a commendable happy medium to fit the requirements of big taxpayers in the world's richest nation and all classes will profit when business men take an active part in political selection and legislative action, thus breaking up bureaucratic tendencies and insuring government by the people.

SAFE JOURNALISM

From the day of its birth the Associated Press has been committed to honest journalism. It has been safe and sane when most journalistic impulses were toward sensationalism. In keeping with this policy the organization once more advises its members and correspondents that the Associated Press does not and will not glorify crime or make heroes of criminals. Such news as may be imperative in the annals of crime will be given as simply and concisely as possible. There will be no attempt at expansion—no padding or word-painting. It would be much better for the American home if all news gathering were on a like wholesome basis—also if some headline writers could be shaved down about 90 per cent on their production.

ANTI-STALLING DEVICE

The new Handley-Page "automatic" slot, it is declared, prevents the stalling of airplanes when the power fails. Now if such a device could be installed under the seat of some of our Congressmen!



IF IT WASN'T FOR FOOD

By James J. Montague

When I noticed one day that I took little zest
In the various tasks I essayed,
Looking forward all week to a Sabbath Day rest
In some sylvan and bloom sprinkled shade—
When the dreams of a fortune I'd harbored so long
Seemed to slip like a wraith from my clutch,
My doctor informed me: "Your system is wrong.
I'm convinced you are eating too much."

So I cut out my luncheon and stuck to my pen
While my desk mates went out for their chow,
And at once, though I noticed that now and again
My stomach kicked up quite a row,
My interest in work grew a little more keen,
My industry chirked quite a bit,
And I felt more content with my lot, and serene
When at five, or five thirty I quit.

But I still seemed to lack the old pep I had once,
I found I was just a bit slow
I was somewhat appalled with the thought of the stunts
That I did twenty-five years ago.
My doctor, whose help I applied for again
Observed with a pitying smile:
"It would benefit all of you over-worked men
If you cut out your breakfasts a while."

So now I'm omitting my coffee and toast
And I find in my work the same joy
And eager desire to achieve things—almost
As I did when a lusty young boy.
My muscles are hard, my digestion is fine—
Though I'm getting a little bit thinner,
And I'm firmly convinced that that fortune is mine
If I also can do without dinner.

IS RELIGION PASSING?

BY JAMES ALLEN GEISSINGER

Some one has said that religion is the reed on the bank to which man clings when the dark waters of the river threaten to engulf him. A New Testament seer calls the roll of distinguished human achievement, and in every case the Great Doer has wrought by faith. "Moses wrought as seeing him who is invisible," but Moses no more certainly was inspired by faith in God than Lincoln. President Millikan says that every first-rate scientist known to him believes in God.

Yet many today tell us that the age of faith is back of us, that religion is passing away like the morning mist before the sun. Science is to supersede religion—indeed, it is rapidly replacing it already, that is what the wise men of today tell us. The holy place is no longer the cloister but the laboratory. Even our preachers tell us that now they are sitting at the feet of modern scientists and are no longer interested in burning bushes.

It is true that man has used an instrument to climb by and then discarded it; that it has been a help to him thus far in his journey is no sign that it will be necessary to the end. Conceivably this might be true of religion. To show that religion has helped man forward does not prove that it will be permanently useful to him, that it will not pass into the discard. The question we raise is one of fact: Is religion passing? Is religion to be superseded by science?

A little straight thinking ought to make the situation clear to us. Science gives us facts, but facts call for interpretation. The interpretation is philosophy, and if man is to use the facts he must know them first—and this is the gift of the laboratory, of experiment; and then he must know what to think of them—and this is the function of the philosopher. Religion is the love, joy, hope, courage and enthusiasm that come to the heart once it understands.

Browning makes one of his characters bring out the point that not until we find God as our helper and friend do we really live. Out of the Cosmos must come to us the mystic words of Eternal Grace:

"O heart I made, a heart beats here!"

Bernard Shaw says somewhere that he is not interested in proving the existence of the First Cause, which may be named God, but he is eager to know whether there is a Holy Ghost; that is, a friendly God who can help man.

A Harvard graduate, a physician, has written a book on the cure of fear and he shows that faith in a good God as the Trouble Man and Burden Bearer, as he is shown to be in the Twenty-third Psalm and the Lord's Prayer, is the supreme medicine for the healing of the spirit of man.

Modern man is conquering ignorance, disease and poverty. He is learning to live with his fellows. He believes more and more in fair play, justice, brotherhood, truth and beauty. He believes that every wrong can be righted, every condition can be improved, and that the spirit of man is perfectable. He is getting rid of old superstitions, he is casting into the discard clumsy theological formulas that have hindered religion in the past.

But the intelligent modern knows that the big modern world, opened up by the Copernican astronomy, calls for God as much as the ancient world, and the man of today needs God as certainly as did Job or David or Moses. All his enterprises and all his hopes are contingent upon a rational, that is, a friendly universe.

IMAGINATION

BY ADRIAN SASHA

Vague thoughts never produce right actions. Only when the thoughts reach the degree of definite pictures in the mind, the actions begin to be regulated accordingly. There is a certain mystery in this fact. Mind-pictures have a captivating power over the inward energies so that a person will find himself following them more readily than his thoughts.

When you kindle a person's mind with new ideas you are as yet not sure that he will follow them. But kindle a person's imagination and it is sure that you have affected his actions.

Whenever the imagination—which means pictures evolved by the mind—conflicts with thoughts, the chances to win are greater with the imagination than with the thoughts. The inward primitive force, which the psychologists call the subconscious mind that produces action, follows the language which is nearest to its nature. Such language consists in the power of pictures, as the picture-language is the most primitive one according to the evidence we have in the ancient hieroglyphics and the letters of the Chinese language. In ancient times people's alphabet consisted of picture-signs.

Similarly also the power of visualizing inevitable, but still invisible consequences is vested in the imagination. All inventions, scientific advancement and business enterprises depend on this power. "Genius can be measured by one's power of imagination," said a great scientist.

Thus, since our acts and our visualizing are regulated by the imagination, it is apparent how important it is not to allow our imagination to be colored by mere illusions or prejudices. When humanity will learn how to guide the imagination, many of its present griefs and tragical errors will have been relegated to the past.

THE WORLD'S WATER POWERS

The capacity of constructed water power plants in the United States nearly equals the capacity of those in all Europe. The developed water power in the United States as of 1926 was 11,721,000 horsepower, with a potential development of 33,000,000. The figures for Europe are 13,100,000 developed and 88,000,000 potential. The developed water power of the world is estimated at 23,000,000 horsepower in 1920; 29,000,000 horsepower at the end of 1923, and 33,000,000 horsepower at the end of 1926, representing an increase of 43 per cent in six years.

WINGS OF THE WORLD

BY ELEANORE J. PARKER

The greatest task set by man for man is now the conquest of the air. The titanic struggle with the elements is not over. In spite of the fact of the successful flights over land and sea, aviation is yet in its experimental field.

The daring young pilots who defy death are pioneers. But death has no place in commercial aviation. Life is too big a price for commerce to pay and it is to the credit of governments and pilots alike, that there is a demand for experimental flight and experience in this great field of a new and wonderful mode of travel.

To bring the people of the earth into closer communion has been the dream of the peace lover; equally insistent is the call of commerce. Camels, laden with rare and coveted silks, were piloted across the desert sands. Ships braved the storms of the mighty seas to fill this desire of man for material things. And so it is with aviation, the mail and the commercial planes will fly to meet this need, then will come the keen joy to the traveler who longs for the wings of a bird.

Air flight lures him to far places, and opens his eyes to the beauty of other lands, other ways, other people. It exalts him to feel beneath him the raging sea and the mighty forest.

It brings him a new sensation to be borne through miles of invisible air roads, charted by skilled pilots who pioneered the air that he might follow.

Byrd, Nungesser and Lindbergh stand like heroic figures holding aloft a lighted flame calling to the youth of the world, "Upward and onward." And youth, inspired by this great feat, is stirred and aroused all over the world.

Great planes will draw men into closer knowledge of each other. The new roads of commerce will and added joys of world delights blaze a way for pleasure planes

Cities, now sensing this young giant, will do well to give him room to grow. Airports must come to meet this new industry, and space must be set aside for the accommodation of new ships of the air. False economy must be defeated, for land, now easily acquired, will soon be at a price prohibitive to the available funds.

Taxation of the people will be a feature of this new industry if the civil minds are too cramped to see into the near future; therefore, it is the duty of every man, woman and child to give to this fascinating subject a great deal of thought, and the imaginative, constructive thought of youth should be encouraged; for youth, with its dynamic force, will find a better outlet for surplus energy in aviation than in the pursuit of pleasure upon the jazzy highway.

Master minds of men will overcome the air as they have conquered the sea and the land with ship and engine.

The white clouds rise to hide the pilots of the air, but in their hearts there is no fear. The exhilaration of flight is theirs, theirs the delight of riding the gallant planes that bear them upon the new highways now opening to youth.

A LA MOCHIS

BY WYNONAH JOHNSON

"You must cut it just this thick, because I want to cook it Mochis-fashion," said the tall, angular lady, leaning on the shining counter of the meat stall, and eyeing the round of steak the aproned man held up for her inspection. I edged closer. The big Central market, with its hurrying throngs, jostling housewives with capacious shopping bags, the bright-hued vegetable stalls, with their busy little Japanese clerks, the mingled odors of delicatessen, the whirr of peanut-butter grinder, and coffee machine, is just about the most interesting place in town.

Today, as I edged shamelessly closer to the angular lady who hinted of Mochis-fashion mysteries with steak, I saw the buxom wife of the meat man wipe her hands, and take out a little stub of pencil from the pocket of her white overall. Then she said ingratiatingly to the customer, "So you are from Mochis? How do you cook round steak there, may I ask?"

"I have a daughter on a tomato plantation in Los Mochis," said the angular woman briefly, "and when she comes up, she always brings along a lot o' new ways to fix things like her Mexican cook does. Some of 'em are real outlandish, but this round-steak one, well it makes a plain ordinary, steak taste real different—and tasty. You take it——"

Shall I divulge the Mochis fashion? It may be typically Baja California for all I know—

I bought me a round steak—just so-thick—and tried it, and the family rejoiced, and I added it to my over-heard book. My daughter's Mexican cook—had a wooden steak beater, I gather, and she whittled garlic into shreds, and sprinkled it over the round of steak, and pounded the garlic into the steak. Took lots of time, and much pounding. Then she sprinkled flour over that, and pounded that for a long time. Next she sprinkled salt and pepper and shavings of onions, and pounded that, and then another layer of flour. Seems they have lots of time, these Mexican cooks, and more patience. Then came the touch that makes the difference. She sprinkled dry yellow mustard over the floured, pounded steak, and pounded that in. By then the steak is pretty near pounded to pieces, though still intact. Then she—and I, when I tried it—cut the steak into small triangles—triangles, mind you, and fried 'em. And the family did the rest.

The while I chant soft melodies
And smooth the wrinkles of my soul.

ARMAMENT

There was a time when fighting towns re-echoed to the sound of gats; bad men, in buckskin hand-me-downs, found glee in shooting people's hats. The sheriff, prompt to hold his quiet, when he ceaseless round was seen; for were the men who did feud. Dodge City, Deadwood, Abilene. When every delegate was armed, of course, his impulse was to shoot; and he was always ready and charmed to pull his gun on some galoot. It wasn't safe in this bailiwick at bad men in the days gone day; they might look you such a glance as a request to die and slay. And up the trail to Boot Hill gaie; the cry went out drew 50 cents, for keeping the records straight. And there was then old-maidish ones who held was a beastly crime for citizens to carry guns, and shoot the town up all the time. They called on people to disarm, which gunmen refused to do; they viewed with sorrow and alarm the yappings of the peaceful crew. If they should put their guns away the fists would fronting them was plain; they ought to be prepared to play, that they might keep from bitter sinks. And yet in time the gunless learned the weapons they had worn so long; in peace Dodge City's brokers walked where once the powder smoke was strong. In Abilene the merchant princes beheld the wheels of commerce hum, and it has been a long time since he had to dodge a deadly bomb. The world like nations talk away as gunmen talked in frontier times; they work to be prepared to slay to Brooklyn other nations' crimes.

MARY PICKFORD FETES BABY STARS

Actress Explains Aims of Motion-Picture Relief Fund

Wampas Protegees at Tea-Luncheon

THE aims and purposes of the Motion-Picture Relief Fund were outlined to the Wampas Baby Stars of 1928 by Mary Pickford, vice-president of the relief organization, at a tea-luncheon yesterday at the Beverly Hills home of the film star.

The object of Miss Pickford's talk was to give the girls a comprehensive understanding of the relief fund in order that they might be better equipped in their campaign for the sale of tickets and boxes to this year's Wampas frolic, to take place at the Ambassador Auditorium, February 25, next.

"The Motion-Picture Relief Fund," said the cinema actress, "is the only organization that picture people can turn to in time of stress or misfortune. There is a crying need for a home and hospital available especially to the cinema folk, and it is a very fine move on the part of the Wampas to contribute so generous a portion of their profits this year toward the motion-picture relief building fund."

Will H. Hays, head of the Association of Motion-Picture Producers, met the Baby Stars as the special guests of Miss Pickford.

Tea was served on the lawn, after which the girls were entertained in the house by a special musical concert. Among the Baby Stars were Lina Basquette, Alice Day, Lupe Velez, Flora Bramley, Sue Carol, June Collyer, Dorothy Gulliver, Molly O'Day, Ann Christy, Gwen Lee and Sally Eilers.

FEARS FELT FOR STORE'S AUTO DRIVER

Abandoned Truck Found; Police Think Bandits Beat and Robbed Him

Fearing that her husband, Robert F. Barry, 38 years of age, may have been the victim of bandits, because of peculiar circumstances surrounding his disappearance, Mrs. Barry, of 3800½ South Grand avenue, appealed to police yesterday to search for him.

Barry, according to the wife's report to the police, is employed by a local department store as a delivery truck driver. When he failed to return home Saturday night Mrs. Barry sought the aid of friends. Police located Barry's truck at Sixth street and Occidental Boulevard, which is said to be off his regular route. In the truck were found his uniform blouse, puttees and slips showing he had collected $189.43 in cash and $172.57 in checks.

Charles Wineman, a fellow-worker, told police he last saw Barry about 1 p.m. Saturday, when he started out on his delivery route.

A tentative theory of police is that Barry was kidnaped by bandits because of the money he carried and that he may have been taken to some isolated spot and left unconscious after being beaten and robbed.

Good-Will Reduces Costs

GOOD-WILL is the most prized of business possessions. It increases business volume and allows greater opportunities for economy and efficiency.

The sterling Good-Will of the people of Los Angeles created the Los Angeles Municipal Bureau of Power and Light by an overwhelming majority. They wanted a source of power and light to serve them with singleness of heart in building up a mightier Los Angeles than private power companies could ever conceive.

By decreasingly lower rates and increasingly better service, the Bureau has justified that Good-Will, and it is the joint obligation of the Bureau of Power and Light and every loyal citizen to see that this Good-Will not only keeps on growing in the hearts of those citizens who have helped develop it, but is firmly implanted in the minds of every new citizen as part of his loyalty to Los Angeles.

To keep this Good-Will growing, the Bureau maintains a staff of experts to assist the citizens of Los Angeles in all their electrical problems, both large and small. This service is free to every citizen of Los Angeles by right of ownership.

The first duty of these experts is to help citizens get better service at lower cost, and as this unselfish service is transformed into Good-Will, it will develop still wider uses of electricity. This increase in volume will still further reduce costs, and still further increase the capacity of the Bureau to give even better service at even lower rates.

EVERY GOOD word sent back East about your Department of Water and Power helps Los Angeles. Every good word spoken in Los Angeles develops more co-operation, adds to quality of service and lower costs. With your Power Bureau, lower costs means—always—lower rates.

Another Week to Get All Back Pictures Free!

New Players May Enter "Times" $5000 Picturegame This Week On Equal Basis With All Other Players

Men, women and young folks from all over the Southland joined the ranks of enthusiastic Picturegame players following last week's announcement of all back pictures free with the purchase of an Official Catalogue. To make this fascinating pastime available to others who may have delayed entering, The Times has decided to extend this free offer one more week. Every new player who purchases an Official Catalogue at 10 cents (either from The Times or at any bookstore listed below) will receive with it a copy of all the pictures that have appeared to date in The Times—from No. 1 up to the one printed today. With these back pictures and the Catalogue, anyone is enabled to play the game right on to the finish with an equal opportunity of winning one of the 730 cash awards. It takes only a few minutes to catch up. Get your catalogue and back pictures today—it may mean $1000 to you!

Important Announcement To Picturegame Players in Next Sunday Times

All players are urged to read without fail the announcement of an Answer Book in next Sunday's Times that will be an invaluable aid in winning a prize.

Numerous queries have been received from players who want to know how they may give more than one title to each picture. Thus far it has been necessary to obtain extra copies of the Picture Coupons for each additional title. The Answer Book to be announced next Sunday will eliminate the necessity of extra coupons, enabling players to give as many as three titles to each of the 77 pictures in handy book form.

Players who already have their catalogue may obtain back pictures thus far published by enclosing 4 cents in stamps. With the Answer Book, however, extra sets of pictures will not be needed—only the daily picture printed in The Times. Don't miss next Sunday's Picturegame announcement.

QUESTION BOX

NOTICE—Several letters have been received requesting a copy of the catalogue, with required remittance enclosed, but without address or name and address. All that can be done in such cases is to file the letters until the omitted information is supplied. Those who have sent in remittances for catalogue, but have not received their copy after a sufficient lapse of time, are requested to write again.

H. H. M., San Pedro—Will the greatest number of correct titles, regardless of the total number used, win first prize, or, will the greatest number correct, with smallest total number used, be the winner? ANSWER—The answer list having the greatest number of correct titles irrespective of total number used, will be adjudged first prize winner. However, in the event of a tie in the number of correct titles, the person having the least number of incorrect titles would rank highest. See Rule No. 7 explaining this.

A CONTESTANT—Upon reading your rules, I understand that correct titles will be chosen after the Picturegame has ended. To me this doesn't seem quite fair, as these judges will have their friends, and naturally will show a certain amount of partiality. Titles of the books should be selected and sealed before the Picturegame is ended. ANSWER—You are correct in assuming that "best" titles will be chosen after the Picturegame has ended. Under these circumstances, no person can possibly know the right answers beforehand. Moreover the correct titles will be chosen by the judges from all the titles submitted by the players themselves. Thus, in effect the players as a whole determine the correct list. As for the judges, they will be well-known persons of highest standing, whose sincerity will be beyond question.

W. W. M., Hollywood—If someone submits correct answers to all the pictures, using one coupon only for each picture, and someone else submits all correct answers also, but for some pictures takes several coupons, does the latter win the capital prize, just the same as the person using only one coupon per picture? At the close of the Picturegame, will there be a catch, such as each player having to obtain several new subscribers for The Times, or some other catch? ANSWER—(1) The person using only one coupon per picture would rank higher, if each title were correct, than would the person using several extra coupons, as the latter would necessarily have several incorrect titles. (2) There is no catch of any kind in The Times Picturegame. Subscriptions are not a condition of entry or of prize-winning, either now or later.

ARRAY OF RADIO TALENT GIVEN

Broadway Doings Scheduled for Broadcast

Sundodgers Will Make Their Debut Tonight

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

The opening of the broadcast week in the KHJ studio will bring twelve full hours of entertainment and instruction from the Don Lee station, which is now on its new frequency of 399.8 meters, or 750 kilocycles.

One of the outstanding features in this array of radio talent will be the 2 o'clock hour this afternoon, known as Elvia Allman's surprise package.

The theme of the hour, given each Monday at the same time, is usually street impressions, on and off stage, and comparisons.

Miss Allman on this hour introduces, from time to time, E. K. Barnes, daytime director of the station; Charlie Wellman, popular prince of jazz; Jeane Cowan, talented blues singer, and other established radio favorites.

For the 7 p.m. broadcast the title is "Broadway Doings," which will feature the studio mixed vocal quartet and the Caledonian concert orchestra.

The music of the hour will be in popular vein, with "Pale Moon," "The Indian Love Call," "The Italian Street Song," from "Naughty Marietta," "Sympathy," from "The Firefly," "Indian Dawn" and others.

This will be followed by the 8 o'clock sponsored program with the compliments of the General Petroleum Corporation of California giving the first of a series of broadcasts each Monday at 8 o'clock.

The program will witness the radio debut of the company's orchestra, assisted by vocal soloists with a repertoire of light opera selections.

Then at 10 o'clock a new Blue Monday hour, to be known as the Sundodgers, will be featured with Charlie Wellman announcing.

Just what the hour will include is more or less problematical. It will be largely in the nature of a surprise broadcast program.

WCOA STATION HAS BIRTHDAY

PENSACOLA (Fla.) Jan. 29. (AP)—In celebration of its second anniversary, station WCOA is planning an elaborate program for the night of February 8. The evening will open with a choral ensemble at 8 o'clock, the program to close at 1:15 a.m. with a dance frolic. Among the features arranged is an address by Maj. J. H. Bayliss.

CANADIAN COLLEGE RADIO BROADCAST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29. (AP)—The Navy station, NAA, will broadcast a concert given by the Hart House String Quartet of the University of Toronto at the Library of Congress at 8:15 p.m., February 2. The services of the orchestra were obtained through the courtesy of Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister to the United States, and Mrs. Massey.

PRESIDENT'S TALK FOR NATIONAL CHAIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 29. (AP)—Thirty-three stations will broadcast the address of President Coolidge before the semiannual meeting of the business organization of the government on the evening of the 30th inst.

Key transmitters will be WRC, WJZ and WEAF. Both the red and blue network stations will participate in the broadcast to open at 6:45 eastern time.

Besides President Coolidge, Gen. H. M. Lord, director of the budget, will speak.

COMMISSION TO DIGEST DATA

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Jan. 29. (Exclusive)—At least sixty days will elapse before the Radio Commission has digested the testimony of the short wave hearings. All experimental licenses have been renewed ninety days, in the meantime, and all license applications have been held up.

BAG NOW OFF THE AIR

TENERIFFE (West Canary Islands) Jan 29. (Exclusive)—The West Canary Islands are now without broadcast as a result of the discontinuance of RAC, situated at La Laguna. The islands are in a region infested with static and short wave receivers are much in demand.

EXCHANGE BROADCAST NETS BIG FAN MAIL

AVALON (Catalina Island) Jan. 29. As the result of an exchange broadcast held with a Buffalo (N. Y.) station a week ago, Maj. Lawrence Mott, owner of KFWO, has received nearly 2700 fan letters. His station broadcast an hour, followed with an hour program by the eastern station, each of which was rebroadcast by the other. KFWO used its fifty-three-meter wave length at 100 watts power.

CHILDREN TO BE AMUSED BY SHRINERS

Thousands of Youngsters in Hospitals Will See Light Opera Wednesday

An invitation has been extended to thousands of children in local hospitals to be the guests of the Los Angeles Optimist Club and Al Malaikah Temple for the "Prince of Pilsen" matinee at Shrine Civic Auditorium Wednesday afternoon. George J. Ramsey, Shrine recorder, and President Theodore Peirce of the Optimist Club are formulating plans whereby thousands of children in Los Angeles hospitals will be provided transportation to Al Malaikah Temple Wednesday for several hours of enjoyment.

"The Prince of Pilsen" comes to Shrine Auditorium as the sixth light opera of the Al Malaikah Temple ten weeks series.

Several sight-seeing busses will convey the children to the auditorium and following the performance they will be treated to ice cream and candy by their hosts, President Peirce of the Optimists together with several other officers of that organization recently paid a visit to the Los Angeles Orthonedic Hospital to extend personally an invitation to many of the children confined there.

AVOCADOS! FOOD EDITOR IMPRESSED

"Ladies' Home Journal's" Cook Expert Enthusiastic About California

California's winter sunshine and the once lowly alligator pear—now elevated to a place of linguistic dignity as an avocado—came in for a full quota of praise yesterday in the authoritative hands of Mrs. Carolyn King, nationally famous as food editor of the Ladies' Home Journal and the Country Gentleman.

MRS. CAROLYN KING

"They're both wonderful," Mrs. King exclaimed before her departure for Dallas, Tex., " and I don't know over which I am more enthusiastic."

Mrs. King, who is better known to the capable chefs on farms throughout the nation than to the modern city housewife of the delicatessen complex, was a visitor in Los Angeles for ten days. The object of her visit, she said, was to become acquainted with Southern California cooking for inclusion in a book she is writing covering the cooking of the nation.

Mrs. King praised the diversity of California's products and especially lauded the citrus fruits to be found here. All in all, she said, and speaking from a standpoint of appetizing possibilities recognized on her first visit to California—"California is indeed the golden State."

PLANES DROP JUNIOR PORT INVITATIONS

Hawley Field Dedication and Aerial Circus Will Occur Next Saturday

Six airplanes from the Griffith Park port of the California National Guard Aviation Corps, headed by Lieut. W. P. Williams, yesterday flew over practically every section of the city, dropping invitations at thirty-one municipal playgrounds to the dedication at Hawley Field, next Saturday, of the first junior airport in the United States.

Reinforced by flyers of the Army and Navy and aviators from Clover Field, the same six National Guard pilots will hold an aerial circus during the dedicatory ceremonies of of the Hawley junior port. The formal program has been arranged by the Los Angeles Playground and Recreation Department for 3 p.m., the morning and mid-day hours being devoted to a miniature airplane tournament in which 200 boys will contest in six events under three classifications.

The first trophy to be offered for this and subsequent sanctioned competitions has been given by Mrs. John T. Prebch, city mother. It is a large perpetual cup to be awarded at each meet to the club or organization having the largest number of participants in the flights.

All future miniature airplane contests to be held in Southern California that will receive official recognition in the way of honors or awards or registered records from the Airplane Model League of America must be sanctioned by the City Playground Department. This department has been made the sole representative of the league for the southern part of this State.

THREE SENT TO PRISON IN MURDERS

Another Given Term for Manslaughter, According to Statistics for Week

Three men were sentenced to State prisons for first-degree murder and one for manslaughter by Superior Court judges last week, according to statistics released yesterday by Superior Judge Hardy, presiding judge of the criminal division.

Four men were sentenced for burglary, two for grand theft, two for driving automobiles without consent of the owners and one for robbery.

The list of prisoners, the offenses for which they were convicted and the sentences follow:

Oscar Tolles, San Quentin, first-degree robbery; five years to life.

Jack Rogers, Folsom, grand theft, two counts; one to ten years each; second-degree burglary, one to fifteen years.

Jim Rogers, Folsom, two counts grand theft; one to ten years each; one count second-degree burglary, one to fifteen years.

Dale Mailing, Folsom, second-degree burglary; life.

Harvey Lesher, San Quentin, first-degree murder, life; one count first-degree burglary, five years to life.

Phil Bughan, San Quentin, first-degree murder, life; one count first-degree burglary, five years to life.

Presbyterians Induct Pastor of New Church

Rev. Thomas Holden, former pastor of the Tropico Presbyterian Church of Glendale, was installed as pastor yesterday by the recently organized Wilshire Crest Presbyterian Church, located at Country Club Drive and Mansfield avenue.

A large number of Presbyterian Church officials took part in the installation ceremonies, among them being Rev. Newell Elliott, moderator of the Los Angeles presbytery; Dr. Herbert Smith, Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, Dr. W. E. Roberts, Dr. John Fry, Rev. Theodore F. Smith and Dr. John N. McInness. Several numbers were given by Mrs. Mary Booth, contralto soloist, and Miss Katherine Jackson, harpist.

COSMETICS DECLARED MASK TO SOUL'S EXPRESSION

Minister Says Unloveliness of Mind Cannot Remain Concealed Behind Made-up Face

Declaring that "the soul eventually must express itself in the countenance," Dr. John Snape, preaching at the Temple Baptist Church yesterday, told his audience that "no cosmetic can ever make a spiritually handsome face." "The face is the dial of character. No unbeautiful soul long can conceal itself behind a beautiful face.. Sooner or later the man within will be revealed in the man's face," Dr. Snape said.

"The face of Christ must have been a striking face. It was the sort of a face which, once beheld, one could never forget. At Bethlehem the light upon the face of Christ was the light of innocence and beauty; at the Jordan, the light of consecration and courage; on Mt. Hattin, the light of knowledge and discrimination; on Mt. Hermon, the light of transfiguration and triumph; in the temple when His drove away the traders, the light of indignation and majesty; on the way to Jerusalem when He preached to little children, the light of love and tenderness; in Gethsemane, the light of suffering and sorrow; on the cross, the light of unspeakable loneliness and agony; on Olivet, the light of joy and victory. Now upon His face there is the light of grace and glory, and when He comes again, His face will bear upon it the light of judgment and justice."

MORAL LAW SEEN IN WORLD OF NATURE

"True religion is in complete harmony with scientific knowledge and modern thought," declared Reynold E. Blight, speaking at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, San Diego, yesterday morning.

"Science, revealing a universe of law and order, of growth and intelligent purpose, has given a new basis for religion," said Mr. Blight. "Knowledge is the handmaiden of faith, and man may worship God with the intellect as well as the emotions. God's law, purpose and will are one and the same whether disclosed by the Book or the rocks. A new sanction for morality is given. The moral law is written in the very nature of things."

LIFE'S BEST WAY ALWAYS CHEAPEST

Dr. Bruce Brown of the South Park Christian Church preached yesterday on "Paying the Price." He said in part:

"We wonder at the tenacity of Lincoln getting an education by the light of a pine knot, forgetting that ignorance and failure cost just as much as success. Benedict Arnold suffered more for betraying the flag than did John Paul Jones for defending it. One must pay the price for having friends, but it ought not to be forgotten that it costs much more to have enemies. The best is always the cheapest in the end. Truth is never found on the bargain counter and no trading stamps go with it. Falsehood can be dolled up until it looks mighty cheap and attractive but before the end of the journey the upkeep has brought bankruptcy."

WHAT IT MEANS TO CONQUER WORLD TOLD

Rev. J. Whitcomb Brougher, Jr., of the First Baptist Church at Glendale preached yesterday on "Overcoming the World." He said in part:

"Within forty-eight hours of His crucifixion, discouraged, deserted by the populace, with one of His disciples about to betray him, Jesus says, 'Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world.' In the mind of Christ the world consists of those things which are diametrically opposed to Him and His program. It was not until Christ had overcome the world that His disciples could go out to bring the good news to those who were lost. When we can lay our hands upon the world and force it to serve us in such a way that we become more Christ-like, that we live closer to God, when we can force the world to be the means by which our characters and personalities are made more perfect, then and then only have we put the world in subjection to us."

TRUE CONCEPTION OF GOD AIDS CHARACTER

Adrian Sasha, founder of "The Laws of Life," spoke yesterday at the Universal Karma studio on "Character-Education." He said in part:

"We instinctively try to develop within us the qualities which we see in those we love. We eventually become like the things we worship. It is in our nature. God placed within us that tendency as a power for character development. Therefore, whoever believes that God is a tyrannic, cruel, severe, implacable oppressor, who demands blind obedience, becomes himself that way in his character. He instinctively tries to imitate his God, tries to consign people to eternal brimstone. But whoever believes that God is eternal love and endless forgiveness, always blessing all who come to Him like children to a father, becomes likewise in his character."

REVIVAL OF REAL RELIGION PREDICTED

"Can Christianity Win?" is the question discussed yesterday by Dr. H. C. Culbertson at Plymouth Congregational Church. Dr. Culbertson said in part:

"Ours is an era of spiritual depression. We have no statesman of commanding power crusading for better things. Our two-party system of government is going to pieces, leaving no adequate opposition to imperialistic policies, and no open division of parties on such issues as prohibition. Independent newspapers representing various points of view are passing, so that in many cities one morning paper takes the place formerly filled by half a dozen. There are hopeful signs, however. Broader acquaintance with the religions of other races is breaking down the idea of one only fixed revelation through Judaism and the Bible. We are coming to see God's prophets of all races in more natural perspective. Scientific discoveries of the processes of creation are being read as pages from the diary of God. God is not dead nor sleeping. The awakening will come. Perhaps it will be through an actual appearing of Jesus via psychic phenomena, speaking messages that will strike heart and life as equal to those of the Sermon on the Mount. Perhaps it will be the rise of new giant prophets. Perhaps it will be the thrill of achieving world-brotherhood in international peace, and through the combining of the best in all religions of the world into a vast fellowship of seekers after God. Perhaps the quickening will spring from some new mechanical inventions that will produce a kindlier and more Christ-like social order. Perhaps the church will lose its life to save it, and the truth of the Christ-way of life come to dominate the world less as an ecclesiastical system than as an idea and a living devotion."

McKINLEY'S DEVOTION IS THEME OF SERMON

A sermon in observance of McKinley's birthday was preached by Rev. Alden L. Hill yesterday at the Highland Park Christian Church. Mr. Hill said in part:

"It is reported that when our beloved President, William McKinley, was dying from the assassin's bullet, he fervently prayed the prayer which our Master voiced in the Garden of Gethsemane, 'Not my will, but Thine be done.' The complete submerging of the human will in the Divine, is one of the highest achievements open to the Christian. It calls for unconditional surrendered the part of man to his God. It results in the closest fellowship and the most complete union between us and our Maker."

LIGHT SEEN BREAKING OVER HILLS OF TIME

"A Better World" is the theme of a sermon preached yesterday by Dr. E. F. Magnin at Temple B'nai B'rith. Dr. Magnin said in part:

"There is a darkness worse than that which is physical. It is darker than the blackest night. There is a blindness that has nothing to do with the physical eyes. It is the darkness of ignorance. It is this darkness in which the first human beings in the world found themselves. Little by little this darkness has become attenuated. One candle after the other has been lighted. Gradually the world is becoming brighter. The scale is being lifted from our eyes. It is better to live today than to have lived in the days when people were slaves and bloody persecutions were carried on, when, due so unsanitary conditions, life was ever jeopardised. And we hope that the world will continue to progress so that our descendants may inherit a world that is vastly richer in all things than the one that we know today."

SACRAMENT'S MYSTERY GIVEN INTERPRETATION

Rev. W. C. Isiett of Amanda Chapel preached yesterday on "Food." He said in part:

"The mystery of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is not so great as it appears to be, even though it is now splitting the great Church of England and causing heated debate in the houses of Parliament, as it did in the third and fifth centuries of the Christian Era. Physically, the body is little more than the chemical elements of the food consumed. Literally, 'we are what we eat,' physically. The pagan practices of eating the hearts of lions and drinking the blood of ferocious beasts, even feasting on the flesh of vanquished heroes, has a basis of scientific fact. It did engender ferocity in their lives, and there was a spiritual effect as well as a physical one. In fact, the spiritual effect was due to the physical. Always simple and primitive in his teachings, Jesus told his disciples if they wished to have His life in them they must partake of His body and blood. The Paschal lamb was more than a feast. None of us believes Jesus offered His physical body for food in the upper room, but, taking the medical fact, combined with the unlearned knowledge of savage tribes, with their faint apprehension of the entrance of the hero spirit, together with the hero flesh. He raised it to the infinite limit when he said, 'This is My body.'"

SELF-MADE OBSTACLE HINDERS ACHIEVEMENT

Rabbi E. R. Trattner preached at City Temple yesterday on "Limitations." He said in part:

"Many persons lead inferior existences and achieve little in life, not because they are necessarily inherently incapable, but rather because they set up in their own minds obstacles and limitations which automatically prevent them from accomplishing anything. A close study of the lives of great men and women reveals the fact that in the majority of cases these people refused to recognize limitations or obstacles in the paths of their great purposes in life. Most people of ordinary good common sense can so reconstruct their mental processes as to achieve this constructive state of mind which is an important prerequisite to real worthwhile accomplishments."

CLASSES IN COOKING TO MEET TODAY

Mrs. Cummings Will Give New Array of Tempting Food Preparations

Mrs. Mae Cummings, who conducts classes in cooking every Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the food demonstration hall of the Manufacturers' Exhibit, 130 South Broadway, Southwest Building, will hold her usual session at 2 o'clock this afternoon, demonstrating on the Dangler range with Loraine oven control. Among the things on her schedule for today are upside-down pineapple cake, fried parsnips and Indian corn pudding. Samples of her products are offered her class for tasting after preparation.

Mrs. Wyman will hold her regular cooking class tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the same place. Elevators run direct to the third floor, the entrance to the demonstration rooms.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

PASADENA AFTER BIG CONVENTION

Crown City Assured Support of Sister Cities

Will Invite Business Group for 1929 Meet

Portland Only Other Candidate to Appear

PASADENA, Jan. 29.—Thirty Pacific Coast cities have promised to support Pasadena's invitation to the Western Division of the United States Chambers of Commerce to hold its 1929 meeting in this city, the local Chamber of Commerce announced today.

The site for next year's convention will be chosen at Honolulu February 9. Delegates to this year's gathering left Los Angeles yesterday, sailing on the City of Los Angeles for Honolulu, where the meeting will be held February 8 and 9.

Portland, Or., is said to be the only other city seeking the convention next year and, according to local officials, Pasadena's chances are the best because of the fact that this city was runner-up to Honolulu last year. Pasadena's invitation will be presented at the opening meeting of the conclave.

Five hundred delegates, representing cities in the twelve States included in the Western Division of the United States Chambers of Commerce, are making the present trip. The Pasadena delegation consists of Franklin Thomas, president of the Chamber of Commerce here; Mrs. Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gulck, Mrs. B. M. McGee, Mrs. E. C. Bull, Mrs. J. M. Geer, Mrs. J. C. Milford and Mrs. E. P. Bates.

Prominent Men on Program of Annual Banquet

SAWTELLE, Jan. 29. — Leaders in the present great university and other developments surrounding Sawtelle, will speak at the first annual banquet of the University Branch of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, to be held February 7, according to Secretary Lamson. Westwood, Brentwood Heights, Pacific Palisades, Bel Air, Santa Monica Canyon and Sawtelle, united in the University Branch, have invited men and women prominent in Southern California affairs to attend. Arrangements have been made for 300 reservations.

A tentative list of speakers, available at the branch chamber offices in Sawtelle today, include D. P. McGarry, former president, and George L. Eastman, new president of the Los Angeles Chamber; Arthur S. Bent, past president, and now heading the university branch advisory board, and many other notables.

Bent was re-elected at this week's meeting of the university branch board. Other officers chosen were B. M. Power, first vice-president; R. J. Hardacker, second vice-president; Larry P. Arnold, Brentwood Heights representative; Dr. Charles F. Scott, Brentwood Park representative; Mark Daniels, chairman of the agricultural and horticultural committee; George Hagen, manufacturing and industries committee; J. Zehnder, membership, and A. W. Nelson, domestic trade committee.

Tree Attempts to End Life

AZUSA, Jan. 29.—Self-inflicted wounds with suicidal intent, was found the reason for the slow and gradual death of a large avocado tree, in the back yard of J. R. Pinkstaff, when, during the process of digging it up for removal, Mr. Pinkstaff found that one of the principal roots after coming in contact with a huge boulder, had doubled back and entwined about itself to the tap root, thus forming a suicidal knot that would soon have proven fatal to the tree.

It is said by horticulturists that there is such a malady as "tree suicide," and many instances have been cited where trees have been uprooted for the infection. Mr. Pinkstaff has the knotted root on exhibition.

FARM SPECIAL WILL VISIT TULARE TOWNS

VISALIA, Jan. 29.—Tulare county is preparing to entertain the "California agricultural special" train which will make a two-weeks' tour of the San Joaquin and Sacramento Valley towns on March 21, next. Announcement of their coming is made by the agricultural extension service of the University of California and the Southern Pacific.

The train will stop in Porterville in the morning and in Visalia in the afternoon. Local economic problems will be presented and discussed at each stopping point. From Visalia the train will go to Hanford and thence to Kingsburg and Fresno en route north. The special will consist of a fourteen-car train carrying live stock and agricultural exhibits. It will stop at twenty-four cities between Red Bluff and Bakersfield.

BOY SCOUT LEADER KILLED IN FALL

GLENDORA, Jan. 29.—While leading a group of Boy Scouts on an outing to the Y.M.C.A. camp in San Gabriel Canyon near here yesterday John Cullen, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cullen of Dana and Virginia streets, fell down a twenty-foot embankment. He was taken to the offices of Drs. Wood and Chamberlain, where it was discovered that his spine had been injured. He died at the Good Samaritan Hospital at 4:30 this morning.

Young Cullen, and three other boys, had recently been chosen, in competition, to form an orchestra for a special round-the-world trip with the Dollar Steamship Company. The Cullen family is one of the pioneer families of this section.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at the Glendora Christian Church, arrangements being made by the White Funeral Home.

PUBLIC OFFICIAL SHOCKED

Communication Containing Compliment From Taxpayer Concerning Public Work Almost More Than Santa Ana Man Could Stand

SANTA ANA, Jan. 29. — Nat H. Neff, county superintendent of highways, was today breathing faintly with the aid of smelling salts.

The shock that caused Neff's weakened condition came when he opened his mail and found a message from a taxpayer who had a compliment to pay.

Since this is probably the first time in history that a taxpayer ever expressed himself in writing in complimentary terms, Neff found the surprise too great to endure.

J. B. Chaffey, prominent La Habra resident, holds the distinction of being the taxpayer willing to say a good word for official action when the occasion warrants it. Chaffey complimented the highway department upon the excellent work of repairing Walnut avenue at La Habra. His letter to Neff follows:

"Now that the work of the north end of Walnut avenue, La Habra, has been completed, and realizing that taxpayers are so apt to criticise and tell all the bad things they know, I want to compliment you on the splendid way this street was repaired, and to say that it is in better condition now than it has ever been in my fourteen years' residence in this neighborhood.

"The prompt and efficient way in which you operated is appreciated, and in direct contrast to the happy-go-lucky methods employed so often in the past."

Protect Game County's Aim

AZUSA, Jan. 29. — Determined action by the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors, in conjunction with State officials, seeking to bring about the actual return of wild animal life in the southern Sierra Madre Mountains, is near at hand, according to C. H. Howard, member of the council board of Azusa and enthusiast in mountain development work.

Mr. Howard is leading a movement to propagate fish and restock Southern California streams, also to protect deer and other wild game in the mountains.

Supported by the Isaac Walton League of Southern California, Mr. Howard has met in conference with both county and Federal officials, pointing out that more than $200,000 was paid out to the State last year by sportsmen in the south, and that virtually all of the money was expended in the streams and in the mountains of Northern California.

That Northern California is a greater and a more satisfactory sportsman's realm, Mr. Howard denies, and he further states that a co-ordinated movement in the southern part of the State will bring about remarkable changes.

Makes Loan of Arresting Cop to Pay His Fine

VAN NUYS, Jan. 29.—Here's a new way to pay a traffic-violation fine, if one is lucky enough to get away with it. George Hahn, a truck driver, was haled into the local court and was fined $3 by Judge H. A. Decker. He was arrested by Officer Walter Ainsworth for failing to make a boulevard stop. When told he must pay the fine or go to jail for a day, Hahn dug down and dug up $2. That was all he had. "It's me for jail, I guess," he said.

Then he spied Ainsworth in court—the only man he knew. He went over to his side and whispered a short plea. The latter, grinned, and then dug down and dug up a $1 bill and lent it to the culprit. The loan was repaid before nightfall.

ACCIDENT RESULTS IN DAMAGE SUIT

VENTURA, Jan. 29.—Suits for damages totaling $26,500 have been filed in the Superior Court against the Belyea Truck Company and Robert and Brennin Belyea, the owners, as a result of an accident on the night of November 5, 1927, when a car driven by Ray Thurman, and containing Julia Richardson, crashed into the rear of a Belyea Company truck parked on the side of the highway near Santa Susana.

According to the complaints the owners of the truck had left it without lights.

The largest suit is that of Miss Richardson, who alleges that in the accident she suffered shock to her nervous system, bruises on her body, a fractured skull and two other broken bones. She asks $25,000 damages, $500 for treatment given her by physicians and $500 for treatment by physicians she alleges will be necessary before she has fully recovered.

KERN COUNTY HOME OF PERMANENT CROPS

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 29.—Kern county has 61,230 acres in permanent crops, exclusive of the year-to-year crops such as cotton and vegetables, according to figures compiled by the staff of Horticultural Commissioner Whit C. Barber in the biennial survey being conducted throughout California. Horticultural offices of every county make this crop survey each two years and the grand total for the State is assembled and used in pest control and quarantine work as well as in making future crop estimates, according to Commissioner Barber.

SAUGUS-TO-SEA ROAD SOON TO BE REALITY

GIRARD, Jan. 27.—Councilman Randall here today announced that Circle Drive, in the west end of San Fernando Valley, skirting Chatsworth Lake, Lakeside Park and the Oakwood Cemetery properties will probably be completed and ready for traffic by midsummer. This is the wide highway to run north and south, serve as a traffic feeder for the Ridge Route in the Saugus section to the sea, by route over the Santa Monica Mountains. The larger part of the petitions to cover the Roscoe-street link are in the hands of the City Council. This section runs from Roscoe street to Chatsworth. The final ordinances for the section of Roscoe street between Topanga Canyon avenue and Santa Ana avenue already have been adopted. All field work is reported as more than half finished and all necessary rights of way have been obtained.

Thoroughfare is Now Open to Motorists

AZUSA, Jan. 29.—With the completion and opening last week of the new road extending from Azusa to the San Gabriel dam, another delightful short trip is available to motorists. The new ribbon-like roadway extends slightly more than eleven miles into the canyon and is improved to within less than a mile of the actual dam site. Through the center runs a rail line over which construction materials will be hauled during the erection of the giant dam, though at present the tracts are not in use and there is no resultant impediment to automobile traffic.

The new route is one of the finest mountain canyon roads in the country. Costing $700,000, it varies in width from sixteen to thirty feet and is paved with disintegrated granite. The sharper turns are protected by a heavy wire mesh attached to steel standards imbedded in concrete.

The drive is one of ever-changing vistas with inspiring views of the canyon and San Gabriel River, contrasting delightfully with stretches of roadway meandering beneath groves of oak, sycamore and birch.

From the end of the pavement to the dam site is an easy walk, though a car may negotiate the stretch with no undue difficulty. The location of the proposed dam is marked on the cliff side with flags.

Burns Fatal to Fontana Poultryman

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 29.—Ed Hauser, nationally known poultry expert, who was frightfully burned in a gas explosion in his hatchery at Fontana early last night, died this morning at the Ramon Hospital. The explosion occurred when Hauser entered his hatchery to light a radiator.

A few minutes before his little son Bobby had been playing in the hatchery and it is believed turned on a gas jet. As Hauser struck a match, the explosion literally blew him out of the building, burning him about the head and hands and setting his clothing afire.

Hauser crawled into an orange grove and rolled in the dirt to extinguish his blazing clothes but not before he was fatally burned all over his body.

MEAT INSPECTION LAW IN TULARE

VISALIA, Jan. 29.—The Tulare county meat inspection ordinance will become effective February 1, according to word received from the County Board of Supervisors. All persons operating slaughter houses must make application for inspection to the bureau of meat inspection at Sacramento before the date mentioned, in accordance with provisions of the ordinance.

Under provisions of the ordinance it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation in the county to sell or offer for sale any meat food for human consumption unless it shall have been inspected by an authorized agent of the State Department. Heavy penalties are provided for violations.

BURGLAR MAKES OFF WITH OLD PICTURES

UNIVERSAL CITY, Jan. 29.—Valley police are looking for a burglar who robbed the cafe of Mrs. R. L. White on Ventura Boulevard near here. The thief is said to have entered the place when it was closed and took from the walls two valuable oil paintings of old Spanish-day scenes, painted by Owen Holmwood, Laguna Beach artist. It is probable that the pictures have been resold to innocent purchasers in the Beverly Hills district.

PUPILS INOCULATED AGAINST DIPHTHERIA

PACOIMA, Jan. 29.—Because of several cases of diphtheria that have occurred recently in this section, more than 300 children attending schools here have been inoculated. It is stated by San Fernando Valley health authorities. Dr. Frank Desson, in charge of the work, also announces that while there is little prospect of an "epidemic" a program has been started in the matter of preventive measures in most of the schools in the valley. Most of the diphtheria cases that have been reported are of mild form.

FIRE DESTROYS BARN AND COUNTY PROPERTY

COVINA, Jan. 29.—Fire, on Saturday night, destroyed the barn on Front street used as a storehouse by the county. It was owned by Robert Ested, local road overseer. The loss included the building, eight horses, a county truck, fifteen tons of hay, and several hundred dollars' worth of harness and other equipment.

About three weeks ago the barn was discovered on fire, but it was extinguished before serious damage was done. Officials here believe that Saturday's blaze was of incendiary origin.

WINS RECOGNITION AS LITERARY MAN

Arthur Orison Dillon

ONTARIO, Jan. 29.—Arthur Orison Dillon, prominent Ontario attorney and member of the City Council, was informed today by State Librarian Ferguson at Sacramento that he has been classed with the authors of the State of California.

Mr. Dillon gained this distinction when his first book came off the press.

His book is entitled "Ancestry of Arthur Orison Dillon, and His Poems."

In order to give assistance to students of genealogy and history, a total of 229 copies of Mr. Dillon's book has been placed in libraries in every State of the Union.

State Librarian Ferguson was so impressed with the volume that he has requested Mr. Dillon's photograph, personal history and copy of his book to be officially placed in the records of the State Library.

Letters of congratulation and commendation have been received by Mr. Dillon from persons in several States of the Union on the excellence of his first published effort.

Believed Slain as Victim of Bootlegger War

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 29.—Believed to be the victim of a bootleg war, the body of an unidentified man lay in an undertaking parlor here today while Sheriff James Ross investigated the shooting of the man near Los Olivos some time yesterday.

The body of the man was found near the State highway at Los Olivos yesterday afternoon by two boys. He had been shot under the arm pits, apparently while he stood with his arms in the air.

Although the pockets of the man had been emptied and an empty money bag of the Oakland bank lay near by, Undersheriff Jack Ross expressed the opinion that robbery was not the motive and that the man had been made the object of revenge, probably in a bootleg war.

Finger prints were dispatched to Sacramento this morning by Sheriff Ross, and efforts were being made through Oakland police to ascertain the identity of the slain man.

FINE YEAR FOR BUGS SAYS ENTOMOLOGIST

COALINGA, Jan. 29. — This will be a great year for bugs and other insects injurious to crops in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys unless there is a heavy rainfall in the next six to eight weeks, is the assertion of E. A. Schwing, entomologist of the Spreckels Sugar Company, who has been making a survey of the foothill districts of the valleys. This is especially true, he states, of the beet bug, and the entomologist says he has discovered a vast amount of grasshopper eggs which will hatch out unless destroyed by abundant rains within the next few weeks. The heavy rains of last year reduced some of the pests to a great extent but, because of the heavy resultant growth of vegetation, some forms of aphis life are far above normal.

COMPANY INSTALLS MORE EQUIPMENT

INGLEWOOD, Jan. 29.—Work has begun here on the installation of $80,000 worth of additional equipment for the Inglewood substation of the Southern California Edison Company, according to Carl N. Elgan, manager of the Inglewood district of the company.

The installation will double the power capacity of the station, as it includes three 1000-kilowat transformers, or a complete bank, in addition to the present installation of the same number.

BABY'S DEATH IS CAUSE OF SUICIDE

TORRANCE, Jan. 29.—Despondency over the death of her baby is believed to have been the cause of the suicide of Mrs. L. W. Atwood, whose lifeless body was found hanging from the rafters of the garage at the Atwood home at 802 Cota street. The body was discovered by her husband after he had been absent all day. Death occurred several hours prior to the discovery, the autopsy physicians report showed.

According to the husband and neighbors Mrs. Atwood had never recovered from the shock of the death of an only baby, who died early in December.

SUGGEST MEMORIAL BUILDING

HUNTINGTON PARK, Jan. 29.—This city may have a proposition to vote upon at the coming city election in April, in the way of a $75,000 bond issue for the erection of a memorial building, to be used as a meeting place for the veterans' organizations of the community. The proposition was placed before the meeting of the Major Civic Improvement Committee, and the committee voted favorably of the erection of a hall of this nature.

PRELIMINARY SURVEY

Engineers to Make Plans for Proposed Improvement of Foothill Boulevard From Pasadena to San Gabriel

MONROVIA, Jan. 29.—Preliminary surveys for improvement and widening of Foothill Boulevard from Pasadena to the San Gabriel bridge through Monrovia and the Bradbury estate, will start within the next week, according to Hal Slemmons, member of the United Foothill Boulevard Association technical committee.

Mr. Slemmons states that the information comes direct from J. E. Rockhold, County Surveyor, and was revealed at a recent conference of the technical committee.

"Mr. Rockhold and his assistant, Alfred Jones, state that a county surveying party will start work along the route within the next week," Mr. Slemmons said. This group will be followed by a second crew, who will complete the data and turn them over to the county road department.

Following the conference with the County Surveyor, the committee interviewed George Jones, county road commissioner, who substantiated Mr. Rockhold's statements.

Work on construction of a 100-foot bridge over the Santa Anita Wash to replace the present narrow structure in conformity with plans for a 100-foot boulevard, will start within the next six weeks, according to S. V. Cortelyou, division engineer of the State Highway Commission.

Mr. Cortelyou states that the contract for the project will be awarded within 50 or 60 days. The State highway engineer also verified press reports that the State has allocated $200,000 for improvement of that portion of the highway from Pasadena to Monrovia, to be available at any time.

Hal Slemmons is the new president of the association and members of the technical committee are: W. T. Hoffedits, Arcadia, chairman; T. D. Allin, Pasadena; J. K. Hearle, Lamanda Park; Hal Slemmons, Arcadia, and W. H. McCune, Jr., Monrovia.

Famous Case Once Again Before Court

VISALIA, Jan. 29.—Before the end of this year, California's famous ten-year-old water suit, that of the Tulare Irrigation District against the Lindsay Strathmore Irrigation District, now before the State Supreme Court on appeal by the defendants, who have lost the case twice, will be submitted, in opinion of local attorneys.

An appeal brief of more than 9000 pages was filed a few days ago in San Francisco after ten months of preparation.

This means the plaintiffs in the action, and winners in two Superior Court trials, will be able to proceed with preparation of their reply brief.

The case involves the fight of the Kaweah River water interests to keep for their own lands all waters of the Kaweah delta, some of which the Lindsay-Strathmore district seeks to pump out.

The big brief in the appeal from the decision of Superior Judge Albert Lee Stephens of Los Angeles county, trial judge, who decided in favor of the plaintiffs, the Kaweah delta water interests, and against the Lindsay-Strathmore district, comprises 3110 pages in six volumes exclusive of the clerk's transcript of the case also filed.

CHALLENGE PUBLISHER TO DEBATE

Woman's Club Demands That Haldeman-Julius "Come Into the Open"

NEWPORT BEACH, Jan. 29.—A challenge to E. Haldeman Julius, Kansas, iconoclast and publisher, to meet C. Leon De Aryan, Laguna Beach man, in a debate on the question, "is there a God?" has been made by the Woman's Civic League of this city. Members of the league dispatched a telegram to Haldeman Julius challenging him to meet De Aryan.

The club sent the following telegram to the Kansas publisher:

"We the Woman's Civic League of Newport Beach, Cal., having read in the press that you have openly offered to demonstrate the nonexistence of the Supreme Creator, wish to inform you that we consider your stand to be inimical to the well being of organized society as a whole. Since Mr. C. Leon De Aryan has offered to accept your challenge and to demonstrate in debate that reason by no means denies the presence of God, but affirms it, we hope that you will employ no further subterfuge to avoid the debate but come out in the open and defend the position you have assumed." The telegram was signed by the president and secretary of the club.

Mexican City to Establish Aviation Field

MEXICALI, Jan. 29.—As the preliminary move toward the establishing of a military and commercial air base here, workmen are now engaged under the direction of Gov. Abelardo Rodriguez in leveling a large field just east of this city to be used as an airport.

On his return from Mexico City last week, Rodrigues announced that he had arranged for the delivery of two Douglass planes, purchased several months ago in the United States, at the local field as soon as it is completed. The planes are now in Sonora, where they were recently taken under permit from the Federal government.

It is Rodrigues's plan to operate these and additional planes between Mexicali, the capital city of the territory, and Ensenada, Tia Juana and other points on the peninsula.

Lack of transportation routes in the past has forced the Governor to travel through the United States to reach Pacific Coast points in his territory.

The Governor was in Mexico City during the visit of Col. Lindbergh, and reported on his return that aviation had been given marked stimulus throughout the republic as a result of the American flyer's southern tour.

STREET PAVING BEGINS SOON

MONROVIA, Jan. 29.—The choice of light standards is the only unfinished step in the repaving and relighting of Myrtle avenue, and if the committees of Myrtle avenue property holders chosen to marshall all facts connected with the proposed improvement into concrete and workable form can get guaranteed bids from manufacturers of electroliers in time to include the contract for the new lights with the paving proceeding, actual work should be started on both projects by May 15, it is the belief of Henry Gierlich, City Engineer.

As soon as definite working figures on the lighting system can be obtained and the proper type of light selected, the city can start the legal and technical preliminaries which must go before the work, Mr. Gierlich stated.

PLAN SECOND ANNUAL AERIAL TOURNAMENT

VISALIA, Jan. 29.—Plans are already in the making for the second annual aerial tournament at Putnam Field, Visalia's airport, this spring, according to decision of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, which organization is sponsoring the event. Date for the meet will depend upon dates yet to be set for the second State-wide aerial good-will and educational tour of the California Development Association. This is expected to be early in June.

A dozen ships were attracted to the opening of the Visalia airport with a tournament last June. At least twice this number seem assured for this year's event.

BOY SCOUT EXPOSITION

PORTERVILLE, Jan. 29.—Porterville Boy Scouts are preparing to participate in the second annual Boy Scout exposition to be held in Fresno during the celebration of their anniversary week, February 6-12, according to W. W. McCullough of this city. Mr. McCullough is field executive of Tulare county, serving Porterville, Lindsay, Exeter and Dinuba. He is assisting in the plans. This exposition will draw Scouts from Tulare, Kings, Fresno and Madera counties. One contest will be for mule packing for mountain trails. Three troops will be entered in this contest the first registration already having been made by Coalinga Scouts.

NEW MAIL ORDER STORE

FRESNO, Jan. 29.—Marking the second national mail order firm to enter the local field, Sears, Roebuck & Co., announced today that a lease had been secured on a store room at 2019 Kern street and that a local branch would be opened on February 4. Recently Montgomery, Ward & Co., announced plans to open a retail store in this city. A general line of merchandise handled by the Sears concern will be stocked here.

JAPANESE GIRL WINS HIGH HONOR

Miss Tudo Shetara

INGLEWOOD, Jan. 29.—The highest athletic honors ever awarded a girl athlete in Inglewood Union High School went to Tudo Shetara, pretty little Japanese maiden who was graduated with the winter class here last week. She is wearing a star guard attached to her winged "I" letter, which was presented to her before her classmates with the largest ovation given any member of the graduating class. The required number of points for a letter is 500 points, and 3000 points for a star guard, but this dainty miss from the land of cherry blossoms had a grand total of 2464 points which she has made during her four years' activities in girls' athletics. In the history of the school there has been only two star-guard awards made.

Tudo holds records for endurance tests and is a valuable catch for any coach who is interested in championships. Her sport record includes honors in hockey, baseball and basketball. She played tennis and was also in swimming meets for her school.

Rosy blushes and innate modesty were poorly concealed under the gray cap and gown at commencement when Principal George M. Green gave her special mention in presenting the second midyear class to Frank D. Parent, clerk of the high-school board, for presentation of graduation diplomas.

Famous Case Once Again Before Court

VISALIA, Jan. 29.—Before the end of this year, California's famous ten-year-old water suit, that of the Tulare Irrigation District against the Lindsay Strathmore Irrigation District, now before the State Supreme Court on appeal by the defendants, who have lost the case twice, will be submitted, in opinion of local attorneys.

ESTABLISH HOME FOR STRAY CATS AND DOGS

ARCADIA, Jan. 29.—Homeless dogs and cats and other forlorn animals who seek the hospitality of the city of Arcadia are soon to have new quarters where they may forget the buffets of an unkind world. The recently organized Humane Society of Arcadia, working with City Marshal A. N. Coberly, is engaged in constructing a new group of kennels and runways on property owned by the city.

As a result of a request from the society asking financial support from the City Council, that body moved to turn all income from dog licenses over to the humane organization.

This sum with the dues of the group should provide sufficient funds for the work the society will be called upon to do.

FILIPINO SOCIETY INSTALLS BRANCH

GLENDORA, Jan. 29.—The establishment of permanent headquarters for the Glendora branch of the Filipino Federation of America, just organized, in Room 15 of the postoffice building on North Michigan street in this city, is announced by Francisco A. Gultiano, branch manager. The local branch is under the jurisdiction of the national headquarters in Los Angeles, of which Hilario C. Moncado is president.

Gultiano has been an active member of the federation for some time, and in his capacity of treasurer, was formerly located with the Los Angeles office.

EXHIBIT AT ORANGE SHOW

SANTA ANA, Jan. 27.—About sixty boxes of oranges will be used in decorating the Orange county feature exhibit in the San Bernardino National Orange Show, which is to open at San Bernardino February 16, F. W. Slabaugh, Orange-county purchasing agent, in charge of all county exhibits, announced today. The exhibit is to be in the form of a monument with a caption "Orange County—A Monument to Opportunity." The floor plan is to take the shape of a huge five-pointed star, covering a space about twenty-one feet in diameter. The monument will be twenty feet high. Dr. Slabaugh expressed the belief that the exhibit will take one of the main prizes offered by the orange show management.

DECIDE TO STAY HERE

HUNTINGTON PARK, Jan. 29.—J. L. Magee, manager of the local branch office of the Southern California Automobile Club, states that within the past few days there has been a great increase in the number of applications made for 1928 license plates by owners of automobiles from out of the State. Mr. Magee states that, for a few weeks the out-of-State motorists were undecided whether they would remain in California, but this action on their part shows that they have decided to make California their home.

NEW OFFICERS ON JOB FOR AZUSA CHAMBER

AZUSA, Jan. 29.—With a new roster of officials, the Azusa Chamber of Commerce has started activities for the new year. Officers at the helm are: C. E. Williams, president; P. J. Tscharner, vice-president, and Cornelius Smith, treasurer. New directors elected to serve three-year terms include E. A. Lamm, C. C. Carpenter, George Fuhr, Charles E. Mace, R. P. Spriggs, R. B. Luckey and Dr. W. C. Wheatley. The only office not filled in the cabinet, is that of secretary, Mr. Huffman serving in that capacity for the past four years. Mr. Huffman tendered his resignation to the board, to become effective on February 1. After a mutual decision, the board appointed a committee of three to appoint the new secretary. On the committee are C. C. Carpenter, chairman; Cornelius Smith and Harry D. Jumper.

THIRTY-NINE IN VAN NUYS CLASS

VAN NUYS, Jan. 29. — Vesper services conducted at the Van Nuys High School at 4 p.m. today started the midwinter graduation exercises of the local high school. The commencement program will be given Tuesday evening, next, when thirty-nine students will receive their diplomas. The class is the largest to be graduated during midwinter from the institution. The class speaker is Miss Helen Malcolm, who will talk on "Education for Happiness." Arthur Gould, assistant superintendent of the Los Angeles city school system, is scheduled for the principal address.

SPORTSMEN SPONSOR NEW FISH HATCHERY

LEMOORE, Jan. 29.—A proposal to establish a fish hatchery the coming season in the Kings River district will be made to the State Fish and Game Commission by a committee representing nearly all the sportsmen's clubs of the San Joaquin valley at the commission's meeting next Friday in San Francisco.

The clubs have decided that a hatchery in this section would provide a better distribution of fish at less expense to the State. The committee which will present the matter to the commission will consist of M. E. Lewis, Jr., of this city; L. W. Cooper, Ralph G. Allison, E. G. Grimes and Joseph Bancroft.

ADVERTISING PAYS

VENICE, Jan. 29.—A picture of some dachshund puppies in a recent edition of The Times has drawn a letter from Max Muller, director-general of Banco de Sonora, at Hermosillo, Mex. Writing to the owner of the pups, Mrs. R. G. Smith, 830 Rialto avenue, Venice, the Mexican banker and capitalist inquired about the puppies, and expressed his preference for chocolate-colored dachshunds. The owner, however, does not desire to sell any of the long-bodied little pets that were shown in The Times photograph.

TO LET ROAD CONTRACT

AZUSA, Jan. 29.—The contract for another leg of the high line road in San Gabriel Canyon, will be awarded by the County Board of Supervisors, within the next few days. The contract calls for 1.6 miles, and with the estimated movement of 200,000 cubic yards of earth, is required. Beyond the end of the extension the road is open for several miles, but will require grading.

FINAL TESTS OF GIANT AIRPLANE

Santa Ana Ship After World Record

Makes Tests From Naval Island Airport

Craft to Make Trip to San Diego Today

SANTA ANA, Jan. 29.—[Special to The Times.]—Final tests during the period of the full moon in the early part of February, it was announced today, will be made by the giant silver Albatross, built in the Douglas hangars of the Zenith Aircraft Corporation at Midway City, will take off at San Diego in the attempt to break all existing records for commercial flight, it was definitely announced today by Frank Hoche-ville, Douglas company aviator, who will be one of the two pilots on the flight.

Possibly on February 5, the big silver bird will launch into the air for the battle against time. The attempt, it is said, being finally checked over by Hoche-ville flight to North Island, San Diego, should the weather conditions continue satisfactory, the ship will be taken to San Diego Monday.

No flights are to be made in the meantime, because of the danger of "that something might happen," Hoche-ville said.

Preliminary tests have been completed and the unnecessary risks are to be taken prior to the crucial test flight at the navy field just before the endurance hop. The flyers are waiting to rest a couple of days after the load tests to be ready for the grueling flight.

The flyers are confident that the ship will be able to break the present record of the German aviators, Hunefeld and Ristic, now held at 420 miles hours and thirty minutes. The record must be broken by at least one hour to be official.

By computation and tests, it has been estimated that of the two engines each consumes six gallons of gasoline an hour. At that rate the 1300 gallons of gasoline in the tanks will sustain the ship for over forty-two hours, or even longer, it is said, to San Diego the fuel consumption is again to be tested according to the latest plans, the plane is to be loaded for tests Tuesday, the day following the arrival at San Diego, and final checking will be done Wednesday.

Den of Lions for Redlands

REDLANDS, Jan. 29.—Thirty-four names of Redlands men have been signed to application blanks for charter membership in Redlands Lions' Den, No. 124, which is being organized here by officials of the Riverside Lions' Club. A charter will be received for the Redlands Lions during the latter part of February, according to Hugh McCumber, who is acting as temporary president of the Redlands den. Ray Ellis is the temporary vice-president and Russell Bragg is the temporary secretary and treasurer.

Visiting Lions who attended an organization meeting at the American Legion clubhouse last night included C. Roy Fleming, G. W. Bowstrom, T. D. Rogers, Joe Rieger, H. Roberts, F. H. Followell, E. Cox, Thomas, W. D. Hathaway, Jr., M. R. Shacker, Vern Tow, J. L. Williams, Ben F. Watters, L. A. Wadsworth, Phil Eriksen, Raymond Sod, G. W. Benshop, O. E. Waite, Glenn Jacobson, C. Kemp, C. J. SOUND AUCTION BRIDGE

by Wilbur C. Whitehead
The World's Greatest Authority

Each day is published a complete hand presented by Mr. Whitehead. These hands may be played with cards by one, two, three or four players. Fill out a chart of your own and compare it tomorrow with Mr. Whitehead's play. Do this each day and carefully read Mr. Whitehead's explanation, and you will find that your knowledge of the game will progress rapidly. Compare your bidding and play with that of your friends—the comparison may be illuminating.

HAND NO 61

South is the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

Record the bids that each player should make, assuming that he does not see any of the other hands.

These hands must not be bid or played "Double Dummy," i.e., as though all four hands were exposed.

NOTE—In recording the Auction, or the play, use "S" for Spades, "H" for Hearts, "D" for Diamonds, and "C" for Clubs. Use "N.T." for No Trumps, "DBL" for double, "REDBL" for redouble.

Mr. Whitehead will answer questions concerning your Bridge problems. Write to him care of this paper, inclosing self-addressed stamped envelope.

THE BIDDING

South Bids	West Bids	North Bids	East Bids
Pass	1H	Pass	Pass
1S	Pass	Pass	2H
Pass	Pass	Pass

Final Bid 2 H., Played by West.

Salient Points of the Bidding

Lacking the requisite two quick tricks for an original bid, South passes, to avoid deception of partner, and bids his Spades on the second round.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 2. West reads North's six of Spades as a singleton, since South would hardly venture a secondary bid of spades with but four to the King-Jack. With a singleton Spade, North would be most unlikely to be entirely void of Hearts. To guard against the contingency of North's holding all three of the outstanding Hearts (which include the Queen) West leads a low Heart from the King in Dummy to his Ace. Winning this with the Ace, West secures a tenace position in Dummy with reference to the Queen, now known to be in North's hand.

Trick 6. West declines to finesse the Queen of Diamonds, for, even though it should win, he can not gain a trick, and should the finesse fail, game must be lost, since with the Diamond trick he must also lose two Spades and has already lost one Club. By declining the finesse, he is in position to so play the hand as to lose only one Spade and one Diamond in addition to the Club.

Trick 10. Any lead North makes must now give the Declarer a ruff and discard, assuring the loss of but one more trick. Had South instead of North held the King of Diamonds and won Trick 6, South would have been equally helpless, as the only trick he could have made would have been with the King of Spades.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

The Nervous Patient

Turn a tumbler over the watch that is ticking in the room of the sick person. Then it can be seen but not heard.

Too Hard

If the toothbrush you have purchased is too hard for your gums and causes them to bleed, soak it in hot vinegar for a half hour. Then wash in clear, cold water and a great deal of the stiffness will have disappeared.

Winter Time Signals

In one home, when mother wants the kiddies and it has grown dark outside, instead of calling and whistling and catching cold during the process, she turns on the porch light. That is the signal for "everyone home" and it is a good one for both mother and children.

For the Clipped Recipes

An envelope pasted on the inside of your favorite cook book to hold recipes that have been clipped from newspapers or magazines will enable you to find them when you wish to try them. Then, if found desirable, they may be copied onto a card and put in the kitchen card index and the clipping passed on to some inquiring friend who enjoys the dish.

Oil Stains on Carpet

These are always such discouraging stains, but they can be removed if carefully attended to. With a clean rag dipped in gasoline, begin rubbing around the edge of the oil stain. Work toward the center, changing to a clean portion of the rag as soon as one part is soiled.

Washboard Aches

A laundress tells of a very helpful washing wrinkle. She has two angle-irons screwed on the back of her washboard, which act as braces to hold the board on the top of the tub and prevent its slipping down into the suds, frequently causing scraped knuckles as well as the splash.

Held in Position

When mending broken china or glass it is usually very difficult to keep the pieces together in position until the cement is set. Try holding it together with adhesive tape. When the article is thoroughly dried out and secure, carefully pull off the tape.

A Good Investment

When the children are studying the piano, a 10-cent rubber stair tread is a good investment. It can be placed under the pedals of the piano and save wear and tear on the rug and marks on the hardwood floor.

Milky Bottles

When washing bottles that have contained sour milk, use some baking soda in the bottle. Pour over the soda hot water and shake well. Then rinse in cold water and see how the bottle shines.

MOCK SAUSAGES WITH APPLE RINGS

Pick over one-half a cupful of lima beans, and soak over night in cold water to cover. Drain, and cover with boiling water, slightly salted until soft. Then force through a puree strainer, there should be three-fourths of a cupful of pulp, add one-third of a cupful of rolled, dry bread crumbs, three tablespoonfuls of heavy cream or butter, a few grains of pepper, one-half a teaspoonful of sage one egg slightly beaten; shape in the form of sausage, dip in crumbs, beaten egg, diluted with a little water, then in crumbs and fry in hot shortening. Drain, arrange on a serving dish, and garnish with friend apple rings

BRUSSELS SPROUTS WITH CHESTNUTS

Pick over one pound of brussels sprouts, remove the wilted leaves, and soak in cold water to cover to which has been added one-eighth of a teaspoonful of soda; drain and cook in boiling water until tender; drain and saute in three tablespoonfuls of butter; remove the shells from chestnuts, and cook in boiling salted water to cover until soft. There should be one cupful. Place one-fourth of a cupful of butter and two teaspoonfuls of sugar in a saucepan until well browned, stirring constantly. Add the chestnuts and cook until brown then add the sprouts, one-third of a cupful of brown stock, half a teaspoonful of beef extract, one-half teaspoonful of salt, a few grains of cayenne, and two tablespoonfuls of sherry flavoring.

ARTICHOKES, VINAIGRETTE SAUCE

Trim off the outer leaves, cut off the tops, about a half an inch, cook in boiling water to cover until tender. Remove from the water, drain, and separate the scales of each, so as to represent a flower. For the sauce mix one teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth teaspoonful of paprika, a few grains of pepper, one tablespoonful of tarragon vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of cider vinegar, six tablespoonfuls of oil, one tablespoonful each, chopped green pepper, and chopped cucumbers pickle, and one teaspoonful of chopped parsley.

BANANA PUDDING

One cupful of stale cake crumbs, two cupfuls of milk, one-half cupful of banana pulp, one-fourth cupful of sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of orange juice, three eggs. Scald the milk, pour over the cake crumbs, cover, let stand one-half hour and rub through a sieve. Add the banana which has been rubbed through a sieve, sugar, salt, orange juice and eggs, slightly beaten. Turn into a buttered individual mold, set in the pan of hot water and bake until firm. Remove from the oven, let stand five minutes, turn out and serve with a cream Sabayon Sauce.

Musical Shoes

Stand the squeaky shoes in enough linseed oil to cover the soles and let stand all night. It is not guaranteed, but it very frequently does the trick.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

PUT IN BOTTLE

Mrs. M. Y. S. writes:

"I just feel as if I must write and tell you how much your department in the paper means to me. I know you have countless letter but perhaps you can spare the time to answer this one. Our little daughter is 6 months old today, weighed seven pounds at birth and now weighs seventeen pounds. I think she is overweight but not enough to be concerned about. Daily she has twenty-four ounces of milk, five of water and seven tablespoons of cream of wheat, rice, rye or barley and the juice of an orange. Isn't she old enough for vegetable soup and how should it be prepared? She will not take cereal from a spoon so I put it in her bottles. What is your opinion of this? She has been raised on the bottle.

"She sleeps out at least two hours every day and in all kinds of weather and has had only one slight cold. I was an only child and never had taken care of a baby until my own arrived. Don't you think she is a fine, healthy girl? I shall be most appreciative of an answer."

ANSWER

Both you and the baby are splendid. Sometimes I think it less of a handicap never to have taken care of a baby than to have one's ideas solidified by the wrong kind of habits of rearing, which may have been existent with our mothers but are not today. Your experience and mine are parallel in that respect—and I believe my success with my first baby was due entirely to the fact that I had no preconceived notions about children but followed a good authority to the letter. The grand part of it is that it works.

The baby is getting quite an extraordinary amount of cereal, and you are using no sugar. I believe less cereal (and less orange juice, too,) would be accepted from the spoon though there is no harm whatever in putting the cereal in the bottle at first. The chief objection to that policy is that children should learn to accept food from a spoon so that later there will be no difficulty when the diet becomes more varied. Babies fed too long from only breast or bottle offer real difficulties when they are expected to accept new foods and then won't.

The diet leaflet is exactly what you want now and you may have it by sending the usual self-addressed and stamped envelope.

The LAST WORD

By ALMA WHITAKER

HOW HARRY DID IT

I saw the happy bride squeeze Harry's hand and whisper blushingly, "You certainly did it, Harry, I owe it all to you." "Just a little matter of mob psychology," grinned Harry, as he passed on with the rest of the congratulations.

"What did you do and how did you do it?" I asked Harry when I got him in a corner, "I am curious."

So Harry grinned and told me all about it. He and Marie went to high school together and later to college. In those days Marie was a quiet little thing, rather shy, and by no stretch of imagination could she be called popular. Even Harry paid her no particular attention. But Harry was a queer boy with ideas beyond his years, and one day he observed large tears in Marie's eyes. He happened to be in an amiable mood and won her confidence.

Marie, struggling to stem those tears, told Harry how she was always being left out of things, how no one seemed to like her and oh, dear, it must be wonderful to be popular.

Whereupon Harry had an idea. "I believe I could make any girl popular," grinned Harry. "The kids are like sheep, one can make 'em think pretty well what one likes. I bet you I can make you the most popular girl in this school inside of a couple of months."

Marie didn't believe him, but she felt comforted. Harry himself never became the least bit romantic about her, but from that day he started "talking her up." Everywhere he went he would lead the conversation round artfully and manage to remark upon what an unusually attractive girl Marie was. He would drag her in casually, at first naming her among half a dozen of the most popular girls. Gradually he decreased the number of names he would mention. He never overdid it, but contented himself with some sly little reference to her nice disposition, or her good sportsmanship, or the pretty shape of her head.

Once in a way he would quote something bright she had said (which Harry himself had probably prompted her to say;) in a score of subtle ways Harry established Marie, first as a personage, soon as a personality, and finally as a most remarkably charming young girl.

It took less than two months for Harry's theory to work. At the end of that time Marie had more attention than any other girl in the school. She naturally radiated and bloomed under this condition and so really became attractive. By the time she went to college her reputation had gone before her and Marie's popularity there was established without a struggle.

And now, six years later, Marie was marrying the most eligible young man in their circle, and two or three others were broken hearted at losing out with her. But Marie has a good memory and also a sense of humor—and that is why she squeezed Harry's hand on her wedding day and told him she owed it all to him.

"And the system still works," grinned Harry as he concluded this story, "I believe, if I set my mind to it, I could make the homeliest, most unattractive girl popular, with a little judicious publicity. Oh, not the obvious kind, but just talking her up to her crowd. As a matter of fact, Marie used to be a most ordinary little girl—no personality at all. Now she really is a charming, attractive girl on her own account. She blossomed under a little attention. I used to invent her charms for her, but now she really has them. Or else I press-agented myself into thinking so."

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

by Dr Frank McCoy
author of "The Next Step to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

IRON STARVATION

The normal body in health contains only about one-eighth of an ounce of organic iron. Yet no animal body could exist if there were not at least some of this vital element present. In anemic persons this amount is often very low, being sometimes only 10 per cent of the normal quantity.

At first thought it would seem that this deficiency could be easily made up by simply using more food rich in iron. This is, of course, a valuable help, but the enforced feeding with iron-bearing foods is not alone sufficient to cure an advanced case of pernicious anemia.

When a liberal mixed diet is used there is usually enough iron taken into the system to supply all the bodily needs. The great fault is that the body cannot convert this iron into blood and tissue. This is due to various toxic states of the system which interfere with proper metabolism. Simply stated, the trouble is this:

The body encumbered with excess poisons is unable to change the iron of the food into the needed iron of the blood. If this condition of toxemia is allowed to continue, no amount of stuffing with iron-carrying foods will be of any help.

First of all, it is necessary to cleanse the body from these toxins, and then the correct foods can, with benefit, be used, and the iron elements transformed into living cells.

If your doctor says you are anemic, start immediately a bodily housecleaning. A short fasting diet of fresh fruit is always helpful in eliminating effete matter from the system. Daily enemas and sponge baths should be used to assist elimination. Large quantities of water taken as fluid for flushing the kidneys and circulatory systems.

A few days of this regime will do more at first to bring about a rapid change than all the food you can stuff into your stomach.

When regular meals are resumed, continue to take daily enemas and use every method you know of to assist in elimination of poisons. The diet should then consist of plenty of green leaf vegetables and a reasonable amount of lean meats. These foods contain the largest amount of available iron.

Do not be misled into submitting to intravenous injections of inorganic iron, as this mineral has no more value in the blood stream than small particles of iron filings. The vegetables transmute mineral iron into the organic form, and only in this form can the body make use of iron. The fresh amount needed daily is very small—about the quantity you can balance on the point of a pen knife. A salad of greens each day will furnish you with all your system can assimilate.

The most important point to remember is to care for your body in such a way that the digestive and assimilative functions can easily transpose the needed vegetable iron into blood and vital tissue.

Good health is not dependent only upon the use of the right foods. Elimination of bodily toxins, breathing fresh air and plenty of vigorous exercise will help immeasurably in building the clean blood stream upon which your life depends.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: Mary R. writes: I have a swollen gland in my neck and am writing to you to ask what is good for it. I have had it lanced a couple of times, but after awhile it seems to come back. It doesn't hurt me. I am a strong, healthy girl of 16 years of age, and some people say I will outgrow it, but I don't think so.

Answer: Your only hope to cure the swollen gland is to take a careful diet which will not overload your lymphatic circulation. It is best, for a short time, to eliminate all of the heavy foods and live on fruits and green vegetables for a month or two and give your glands a chance to empty themselves of any accumulated wastes. Lancing only injures the glands still further, and extends the trouble to other glands near by. Hot applications or electrical treatments are sometimes helpful in emptying out the swollen glands.

Q.: A. B. S. asks: Will you please explain how to cook coddled eggs?

A.: Place the unbroken eggs in a deep pan which is not standing on the fire, and pour over them boiling water. At least one quart of water should be used to each two eggs. Allow to stand for from five to ten minutes. When broken open, the egg should have a jelly-like consistency, but should at the same time be as well cooked that there is no transparent albumen which has not been coagulated. If the pan is covered, less time will be required to get the same effect, but it is possibly more desirable to have the eggs cook very slowly for perhaps eight to ten minutes, as in this way they are cooked more thoroughly.

NANCY PAGE

Joan Blossoms Out in Two New Frocks

By Florence La Ganke

Joan's mother was coming home within a few weeks, and the whole Page household was agog. Aunt Nancy set herself to the task of making some new clothes for her niece. Uncle Peter was inconsolable "Why Jay-Jay, I won't know what to do when you are gone." "Maybe Muvver will stay here with me," suggested Joan who adored her Uncle Peter, and who was ready to shed tears at the mere thought of leaving him. "Maybe so," he said.

In the meantime Aunt Nancy's fingers flew. She used tan crepe de chine for one little dress, smocking it in brown, and rolling the edges of the ruffle at neck and at sleeves with the same shade.

A little play dress was simple and smart. She used oyster white linen, cutting the dress with straight lines for the skirt part. The shoulders were long. Tight-fitting sleeves were set in. These sleeves were ornamented near the bottom with a calico applique cut according to the pattern shown beside the dress. The flower was made of white and pink calico and the leaves were solid green. The dress buttoned at the neck. The turn down collar and pockets were left unornamented.

There would be entertaining for Joan's mother, too. Write to Nancy Page, care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope, asking for her leaflet on "Sandwiches."

BATTLE FLEET'S PLANS REVISED

Return From Honolulu to Be on June 23

Craft Will Come to Local Port Direct

Itinerary of New Carriers Also Changed

The battle fleet will return direct to Los Angeles Harbor from Honolulu upon completion of the Hawaiian exercises, arriving here about June 23, under a revised schedule of operations announced yesterday by Admiral Louis R. de Steiguer, commander-in-chief of the fleet.

The fleet will thus return to the home base a week in advance of the original date, the change being made so that all fuel requirements might be met before the close of the Navy's fiscal year, June 30. Yesterday's announcement also removes possibility of the fleet returning to San Francisco rather than this port.

Revised itinerary of the new aircraft carriers Saratoga and Lexington, 33,000-ton sisters to come here as part of the new fleet air squadrons, also was released yesterday.

The Saratoga, now en route, will arrive at San Pedro February 26 and as soon as practicable thereafter she will begin her acceptance and standardization trials in the Santa Barbara Channel. She is scheduled to complete them about May 3 and after taking aboard her new complement of Boeing fighting planes she will sail for Hawaii to join the fleet, returning here with the force on June 23.

LEXINGTON'S SCHEDULE

The Lexington, now at the Boston Navy Yard to complete fitting out, will sail from that port for San Pedro on February 18, via Newport for Torpedoes, Hampton Roads, for personnel and ammunition and Pensacola for planes and aviation personnel, arriving here April 13.

She will not begin her trials until May 15, due to delay necessary in transferring from the Saratoga the necessary instruments. She will complete her trials about June 15, go to San Francisco for dry docking at Hunter's Point and then return here about July 1 to rejoin the Saratoga for the aircraft concentration exercises.

Destroyer Division Thirty-eight, now en route here from European waters to become plane guard for the aircraft squadrons, will arrive at this base in late March and will accompany the fleet to Hawaii. The new destroyer division will come here with Light Cruiser Division Two, comprised of the cruisers Trenton, Milwaukee, Memphis and Raleigh, also to participate in the Hawaiian cruise.

CHANGES IN STAFF

Changes in the staff of Admiral De Steiguer, who will retire as commander-in-chief upon return of the battle fleet from Hawaii, were announced yesterday by the Navy Department. Notable among the transfers, effective after the Hawaiian cruise, are: Commander H. K. Hewitt, fleet gunnery officer, to the Naval War College, at Newport, R. I., for instruction; Lieutenant-Commander Robert H. Carney, flag secretary, to the United States Naval Academy for duty as instructor in navigation; Lieut. R. C. Alexander, fleet communications officer, to the Naval Academy for duty as instructor in navigation; Lieutenant-Commander K. R. Shears, flag lieutenant, to the Naval Academy for instruction duty; Lieutenant-Commander W. G. Barnes, now in instruction duty at Harvard University, has been ordered to the U.S.S. California, relieving Lieutenant-Commander M. C. Bowman as navigator.

The battleship divisions will put to sea at daylight this morning for firing of annual long-range battle practice. The fleet flagship California and her sister units of Battleship Division Four are scheduled to fire tomorrow, enabling Admiral De Steiguer to be free for inspection of the naval establishment at San Diego. Battleship Divisions Three and Five will fire Wednesday and Thursday, so that these ships will remain at sea until late Thursday. The squadron will anchor nightly at a rendezvous off the Coronado Islands.

Three Chinese Ransomed Boys Now Angelenos

The three sons of Fong Tun, local Chinese merchant, for whom their father paid $10,000 to Chinese bandits for their ransom, arrived at Los Angeles Harbor yesterday with their father aboard the Dollar liner President McKinley from Hongkong.

Last summer while Fong was toiling in his Plaza curio shop to support his family in China bandits swooped down on the home and carried away the three boys, Ming Ha, 9 years of age; Ming Ho, 12, and Ming, 14. The mother wired Fong that the bandits demanded $10,000 in American gold.

Fong rushed across the Pacific, met an envoy of the bandits and carried the money to a rendezvous where, upon payment, his sons were turned over to him. Again safe, it was decided to bring the entire family to the Fong home at 3373 Wilshire Boulevard.

Peeper Molests Sorority Girls

Police were called to the Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority house at 870 North Kenmore avenue at 10 o'clock last night in an unsuccessful effort to capture a Peeping Tom.

A good description was obtained of the prowler, whom the police believe to be the same man who entered the sorority house Friday afternoon by cutting a screen and stole a purse belonging to Cecilia Shields.

The purse contained a small amount of cash, her sorority pin, her registration card in the University of California in Los Angeles and other papers.

Police Official's Mother Passes

Mrs. Sarah Jane Spellman, mother of Assistant Chief of Police Spellman, died last night at her home at 1323 West Forty-first street. She was 75 years of age. Funeral services have not been arranged. The body is at Pierce Brothers' funeral parlors.

The deceased leaves another son, J. H. Spellman of San Pedro, and her widower, Thomas L. Spellman.

TWO BOYS LOSE LIVES CLIMBING

Los Angeles Youth Killed on Catalina Peak and Other Falls Near Azusa

Two Southern California youths are dead as the result of attempts to scale dangerous mountains.

In an effort to climb a high peak on Catalina Island yesterday, Hugh Flater, 14 years of age, 2227 West Twenty-first street, lost his footing and was injured fatally, according to reports given the Sheriff's office. He died at the Avalon Hospital shortly after he was removed there by his father.

Jack Cullen, 17, of Glendora, died yesterday at the General Hospital as the result of injuries received when he fell down a cliff in the mountains near Azusa the 1st inst., the Coroner's office reported.

Cullen was hurt while on a hiking expedition with several other boys, it was reported. His neck was broken by the fall.

CRYER AT WORK ON MESSAGE

Need of Constructing New Building in Civic Center Expected to be Stressed

Mayor Cryer is at work on his annual message to the City Council and is expected to stress in that message the need of starting work and completing this year the $1,500,000 building in the Civic Center for the City Jail, police headquarters and health department. Until the new building is built, the health department will continue to occupy the International Building, which blocks the north entrance to the new City Hall.

The Mayor is expected to urge the Council to take steps at once to sell the present City Hall, City Jail on First street, and two lots the city owns on Broadway near Tenth street, as from these four parcels the money is to be obtained for the new buildings.

The suggestion has been made that if a good price cannot be obtained now for the present City Hall, the health department will be moved into it, temporarily and the International Building can be sold and either torn down or moved from its present site.

Other subjects which the Mayor may possibly discuss in his message are the budgetin' of public improvement to put an end to overlapping assessments, consolidation of districts with many improvements at the same time, consolidation of the city and county governments, which the Mayor favors, unified management of the Los Angeles port district, which includes Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors, and the necessity of taking steps to end the pollution of ocean waters and beach frontage by oil wells.

NOTICE SENT OF AVENUE ORDINANCE

Proceedings to Open and Widen Santa Barbara Now Under Way in Council

Following a delay of more than eighteen months, for the purpose of revising lines in accordance with the desires of the majority of property owners involved, the proceedings for the opening and widening of Santa Barbara avenue, from Alameda street to Third avenue, now are under way.

City Clerk Dominguez has mailed post-card notices to property owners, notifying them of the passage of the ordinance of intention on December 13, and advising them of their rights in the proceedings.

The City Council on June 3, 1926, ordered the engineer to prepare plans for the project after allocating $635,680 from the major traffic bond fund as the city's share of the cost.

After the plans were drawn, property owners in the district objected to the lines and requested that changes be made, most important of which was the condemnation of the Los Angeles Railway's right of way west of Figueroa street.

Many public hearings were held, with the result that the compromise plan was adopted. These new lines giving a street width varying from 90 to 100 feet were announced by spokesmen for the larger groups of property owners as satisfactory.

Plans then were revised, in accordance with the property owners' wishes, and the ordinance of intention drawn. They call for the opening and widening of Santa Barbara avenue, Thirty-eighth street and portions of other streets, in order that a continuous wide thoroughfare may be obtained from the east city limits at Alameda street to Third avenue.

In addition to providing a badly needed traffic artery across the city, the Santa Barbara project is expected greatly to increase property values throughout the district served.

Veterans Seek State Hospital

A resolution seeking government appropriations for establishment of a general hospital in California for disabled veterans of the World War was passed last night at the midyear meeting of the California Disabled American Veterans of the World War, held in Patriotic Hall.

Forty delegates from various posts of the organization throughout the State were in attendance. The meeting was presided over by State Commander Queen. The national organization was represented by its judge advocate, Volney P. Mooney, Jr.

JULIAN AUDIT FACES ATTACK

Conclusions in Book Study Held to be Wrong

'Forgeries' Likewise Charged by Defense Group

New Evidence Promised by State for Today

An attack on auditor's conclusions based on an examination of the 208 stock-certificate books introduced into the evidence of the Julian Petroleum case trial last week will be made by the eleven defense attorneys when the trial is resumed this morning.

A three-day vacation was granted by Superior Court Judge Doran last week to allow the defense time to examine the evidence.

ELEANOR GANTT

James K. Gregory, manager of the auditing firm of Haskins & Sells, who spent more than five months auditing the Julian company's records for the District Attorney's office, is expected to return to the stand this morning to testify as to his findings.

It is Gregory's testimony which is to receive the brunt of the defense attack, it was admitted yesterday, but the books themselves also will be fought vigorously as true records of the corporation's conditions at the time of its collapse last spring.

According to several defense attorneys, alterations and "forgeries" are replete throughout the stock books, and it is the contention of the defense that these alterations and "forgeries" were unknown to the officers of the corporation, or any of the other defendants in the case.

Several certificates were found during the defense examination of the records, it is declared, which have gone through the Los Angeles Stock Exchange without bearing the signatures of T. P. Conroy, the Julian company secretary.

OBJECTION DUE

While defense attorneys at this time are centering their interest on the stock-certificate books, Chief Deputy District-Attorney Davis announced that important new testimony which heretofore has not been revealed, will be given from the stand this week.

Whether this testimony will be given by Miss Eleanor Gantt, the so-called "mystery witnesses" and former secretary to William C. Kottemann, one of the defendants, was not revealed by the prosecution. Miss Gantt was returned here Thursday on a prosecution subpoena from Pittsburgh, where she has been living for the past five months.

Display of a chart purporting to show each step in the nearly 5,000,000-share overissue from the time it began in January of 1926, will be attacked by the defense.

The judge ruled last week that the chart will not be admitted into the evidence, but allowed its display until such time as the defense makes serious objection to it. This objection will be forthcoming today, defense attorneys said.

HEARING ON WIDENING TO GO ON TODAY

Resumption of Wilshire Proceedings by Council Set for 11 a.m.

The City Council is scheduled to resume at 11 o'clock this morning the hearings on the proposed widening of Wilshire Boulevard to ninety feet, from Alvarado street to Figueroa street. The hearings are being held in court fashion, with expert stenographers recording the testimony and all witnesses being placed under oath. The proponents of the widening are represented by Attorney Kemper B. Campbell and the opponents by Attorney E. R. Young

The question before the Council is whether to override the protests and order the project to be consummated or to sustain the protests and to abandon the project and proceedings.

The votes of twelve Councilmen will be required to override the protests if they represent a majority of the property in the district to be assessed for the widening. Eight votes are sufficient to override the protests if they represent a minority of the property.

At the hearings last week the proponents of the widening attacked the validity of the protest filed asserting that it is not a 51.7 per cent and majority protest, as reported by the City Engineer. The proponents asserted that a strictly legal check of the protest would show that it represents but 43.6 per cent or less, and therefore is a minority protest.

The protestants will put on their case this week in support of their contention that the protest is a majority one and shows therefore that owners of most of the property in the assessment district do not desire the widening.

Legion Will Honor Dodson

Arrangements have been completed for the class initiation and reception in honor of Phil Dodson, commander of the department of California, American Legion, to be held under the auspices of Greater Highland Park Post No. 206, on Wednesday evening, February 1, according to announcement by Commander Terhune.

The affair will be given in the auditorium of the Luther Burbank Junior High School, Annandale Boulevard and Meridian street.

Delegations of legionnaires from all parts of Los Angeles county and many prominent Legion officials are to be present.

Charles E. McDowell, first commander of the Highland Park Post, will act as master of ceremonies, while J. S. Worsley, Highland Park Commercial Club president, will welcome the visiting dignitaries.

The principal address will be delivered by State Commander Dodson. William G. Bonelli, president of the City Council, and many other prominent Highland Park men are to be guests of the Legion on that night.
